Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Montgomery referred to vexatious law suits which this bill would tend to remedy. At least in my experience, and the reports that I have read of cases of vexatious litigation of this kind, they may have occurred in isolated instances, we certainly do not care to legislate for isolated instances. On the other hand the majority, the greatest majority of cases where stockholders brought suit have been bona fide and successful, but by this type of legislation you would close the doors to these suits by stockholders to attempt to inquire into the machinations and illegal operation by directors who take it upon themselves to carry on the business of the corporation in a manner which is not fitting.

So why should we pass this type of legislation? The gentleman from Montgomery says that this is not taking away any privilege guaranteed to the citizens of Pennsylvania of due process of law. Well, Members of the House, the court has said repeatedly that you do not necessarily have to say in express language that your right to due process is hereby taken away from you. The court has said that where the legislation imposes unsurmountable obstacles it is tantamount to depriving the individual of due process, and I contend and submit to the Members of this House that the provisions of this bill are tantamount to depriving the minority stockholders of due process of law.

I desire to point out to you in section two on page two of this bill where a privilege is given to the corporation counsel from time to time to petition the court for additional counsel fees and expenses. Now, the average minority stockholder certainly does not have the financial resources equal to cope with the financial resources of the corporation sought to be looked into. Can you then not see what effect this type of legislation would have on such suits by minority stockholders? If the minority stockholders would be unable to meet the order of the court for the increased counsel fees and expenses, no matter what rights he may have, no matter how right he may be in his investigation of that corporation or the activities of those directors, his suit would then be discontinued because of his failure to comply with the order of the court. I submit to you that this legislation is bad because it deprives the minority stockholder of his due process, and I urge you to be opposed to this bill.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Wood.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Montgomery permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. I should like to ask the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Speaker, I know he is a lawyer familiar with Article III of the Pennsylvania Constitution which says that the General Assembly shall not pass any local or special law authorizing the creation, extension or impairing of liens, and then goes on with twenty other subjects.

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, I couldn't recite them, but I am more or less familiar with the provisions of that Article and section.

Mr. BROWN. Would not the gentleman feel that this is a special privilege to corporations?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. I would not, Mr. Speaker, for this simple reason, to start off with here, we are dealing with a secondary right. It is the right of a shareholder to use the name of the corporation in an equity proceeding. It is not a question of the stockholder exercising the primary right that he might have against the corporation, but he here wishes to use the corporation's name.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman feel that simply because a suit is entered by a minority stockholder that he is using the corporation's name?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, I feel that is one reason why it does not violate that provision of the Constitution of the State. I also wish to point out that this bill is designed to protect the rights of the majority and not the minority of the shareholders.

Mr. BROWN. Can the gentleman tell me of any other kind of law suit except in the case of replevin and ejectment whereby the defendant can demand that a bond be posted to cover attorney fees prior to the determination of the suit?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. I cannot say off-hand. It is impossible for me to recall any classification, but I don't think that it necessarily follows that such classifications are not fair and reasonable.

Mr. BROWN. It is not a question of being fair and reasonable, Mr. Speaker. Can the gentleman tell me of any other type of litigation where the plaintiff must post a bond prior to the determination of his suit for the costs of the proceedings and the costs of the attorney fees for the defendant?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. I reiterate, Mr. Speaker, that I cannot recall any other type of litigation that has those provisions, but it certainly is conclusive of the fact that this is not a new adventure in that field.

Mr. BROWN. Would the gentleman feel that Article III, which provides as follows:

> The General Assembly shall not pass any local or special law granting to any corporation, association or individual, any special or exclusive privilege or immunity, or to any corporation, association or individual the right to lay down a railroad track comes within the purview of this bill?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Will the gentleman please repeat that question? I did not hear the first part.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I shall only repeat that part which I think is pertinent to this bill.

Article III, Section 7 prohibits the General Assembly from passing any local or special law granting to any corporation, association or individual any special or exclusive privilege, and so forth.

Does not the gentleman feel that this is an immunity in that it is a special privilege that the defendant corporation has?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. I do not, Mr. Speaker.

The gentleman asked me a question a few minutes ago about the various types of litigation in which costs and so forth had to be posted in advance. I will ask the gentleman if he knows, or if he as a member of the bar is familiar with a petition to the court to grant alimony pendente lite? That has never been construed, at least to the moment as being in violation of the provision of the Constitution which the gentleman now is citing.

Mr. BROWN. Does the gentleman know that existed prior to the adoption of the Constitution of 1874?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. I did not get that, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. The gentleman knows full well that that existed prior to the adoption of the Constitution of 1874, and there are many cases that we have to post bond in cases that existed prior to 1874, when our Constitution was formed.

I asked the gentleman did he know of any legislation enacted since our Constitution of 1874.

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, I am under the impression that we codifieted divorce law in 1929, I think it was.

Mr. BROWN. Would the gentleman care if this bill should go over in its order?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Well, my reply to that, Mr. Speaker, is that we have given every opportunity to assemble all the information possible, especially to those who are opposed to it. It has been rolled over from one day to another, and I think it has now arrived at a point where we should vote either for or against it.

Mr. BROWN. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

CONSTITUTIONAL POINT OF ORDER

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a constitutional point of order:

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. BROWN. The point of order it, Mr. Speaker, that Senate Bill 195, Printer's No. 72 is unconstituitonal in that it violates Article III, Section 7 of the Pennsylvania Constitution.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny raises the Constitutional point of order that Senate Bill 195, Printer's No. 72 is unconstitutional in that it violates Article III, Section 7 of the Pennsylvania Constitution.

Mr. BROWN. And the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Under Rule 4 the Speaker is required to submit all questions involving the determination of the constitutionality of a bill to the House for decision, which the Chair now does.

On the question,

Will the House sustain the Constitutional point of order?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I think the constitutional point of order has been well covered. It was not because of any involved reasoning that when we adopted our present constitution the framers of that document especially prohibited the General Assembly from passing special legislation, and in Article III of our Pennsylvania Constitution the framers of that document especially inumerated some twenty fields in which the Legislature could not enact laws. One field as stated in Article III of our Constitution prohibits this Legislature from passing any special or local legislation according to any corporation any special privileges or immunities.

The plain language there seems to me to point in the direction that to require a stockholder, whether he represents five percent or whether he represents two percent, to bar his right to come into our courts which are open under other provisions of the constitution would be a special privilege and immunity granted to the corporation, and on that premise, Mr. Speaker, it seems to me that this bill is clearly unconstitutional. Then further there is such a thing, as we all know, as due process of law. Due process of law is nothing new to any of us; it has to do with the right of the people to have there property rights and there persons protected.

Now, to compel a man to go into court with a bond sufficient to cover the cost of proceedings seems to me to offend both provisions. Therefore, I say this act offends both the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of Pennsylvania and should be voted down on the Constitutional question.

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, I wish to say to the Members of this House that in my opinion this is not special legislation. This is certainly a proper classification. We are dealing here with a procedural matter, and I wish to repeat again that the stockholder is not deprived of any right of action. It does not bar his right to bring the action or bar any right that he had as a stockholder; it does not provide that he must first come into court with a bond or surety. That is something subsequent in the form of an affirmative action such as a debtor who chooses to take advantage, for example, of the statute of limitation, and the court may, if it considers it proper under the circumstances, grant the prayer of the plaintiff's petition that ample security for the cost of litigation and the cost of attorney's fees be paid, provided there is not a minimum of five percent of the share holders of the corporation that have joined in the suit. Therefore, I ask the Members of the House to vote against the point of order.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I wish I could read this act as the gentleman from Montgomery has read it, but on page two, Section two of this act it says:

> In any such suit instituted or maintained by holder or holders of less than five per centum of the outstanding shares of any class of such corporation's stock or voting trust certificates the corporation in whose right such action is brought shall be entitled at any stage of the proceedings——

Now, Mr. Speaker, "at any stage of the proceedings" would mean that upon the filing of the suit, before anything else is heard, the plaintiff can be thrown out of court even before he has a preliminary hearing, unless he can post this bond.

Of course, the gentleman from Montgomery knows that no act can be introduced here saying that a man cannot come into court, that is not even put in the act. But it all amounts to the same thing, a man is thrown out of court before he has had his day in court and he is thrown out simply because he cannot post sufficient security to cover the costs of the attorneys of the corporation. That certainly would deny the man due process of law. I cannot see anything else to it. It seems to me that unless some safeguards are placed in this bill we certainly should vote in favor of the constitutional point of order. That does not destroy the bill. If the bill can be amended so that it will protect the man's day in court then I will vote for the bill, but not as the bill now stands.

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, let me say that I have no desire to protract this discussion eternally, but when the gentleman says that the stockholders will be thrown out of court before he gets into court, perhaps he possesses some information that has not come to me in my ten years of practice before the bar as to what the judge is going to do before the facts of a particular piece of litigation have been committed to him. I say and I wish to reiterate what I said a moment ago, this gives the right to the officers of a corporation to file a petition with the court. It is not mandatory; it is up to the court to grant it if it so chooses. I cannot place any other interpretation on that language.

On the quetsion recurring,

Will the House sustain the Constitutional point of order?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Chudoff and Mr. Levy and were as follows:

L. 103) entitled "An act concerning townships of the second class and amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating thereto" relating to opening making amending and repairing highways and bridges by contracts with taxpayers

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, at the request of the sponsor I move that this bill be placed on the postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

Senate Bill No. 63, Printer's No. 134,

was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 329, as follows:

An Act to further amend section three hundred one and section three hundred three and to amend section three hundred four of the act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (P. L. 789) entitled as amended "An act relating to insurance establishing an insurance department and amending revising and consolidating the law relating to the licensing qualification regulation examination suspension and dissolution of insurance companies Lloyds associations reciprocal and inter-insurance exchanges and certain societies and orders the examination and regulation of fire insurance rating bureaus and the licensing and regulation of insurance agents and brokers the service of legal process upon foreign insurance companies associations or exchanges providing penalties and repealing existing laws" by further regulating the computation of the reserve liability of life insurance companies deficiency reserve requirements and the acceptance of valuations made by other states

Section 1 Section three hundred one of the act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (P. L. 789) entitled as amended "An act relating to insurance establishing an insurance department and amending revising and consolidating the law relating to the licensing qualification regulation examination suspension and dissolution of insurance companies Lloyds associations reciprocal and inter-insurance exchanges and certain societies and orders the examination and regulation of fire insurance rating bureaus and the licensing and regulation of insurance agents and brokers the service of legal process upon foreign insurance companies associations or exchanges providing penalties and repealing existing laws" as last amended by the act approved the seventh day of April one thousand nine hundred and forty-three (P. L. 33) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 301 Computation of Reserve Liability (a) The Insurance Commissioner shall each year [compute] value or cause to be valued the reserve [liability] liabilities (hereinafter called reserves or net value) as of the thirty-first day of December of the preceding year for all outstanding life insurance policies and annuity and pure endowment contracts of every life insurance ocmpany [authorized to make insurance on lives] doing business in this Commonwealth in accordance with the terms of the policy contract and rules following and may certify the amount of any such reserves specifying the mortality table or tables rate or rates of interest and methods (net level premium method or other) used in the calculation of such reserves In calculating such reserves he may use group methods and approximate averages for fractions of a year or otherwise

(b) This subsection shall apply only to policies and contracts issued prior to the operative date of section four hundred and ten A (the Standard Non-forfeiture Law) of an act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (P. L. 682) as amended

[(a)] (1) The net value of all outstanding policies of life insurance issued by the company prior to the first day of January one thousand eight hundred and ninety shall be computed upon the basis of the American experience table of mortality with interest at not less than four and one-half and not more than six per centum per annum

[(b)] (2) The net value of all outstanding policies issued between the first day of January one thousand eight hundred and ninety and the first day of January one thousand nine hundred and three on the combined experience or actuaries' table of mortality with interest at four per centum per annum

[(c)] (3) The net value of all outstanding policies of life insurance issued on and after the first day of January nineteen hundred and three on the American experience table of mortality with interest at three and one-half per centum per annum Provided however That any company may value its group term insurance policies under which premium rates are not guaranteed for a period in excess of five years according to the American men ultimate table of mortality with interest at three and one-half per centum per annum

[(d)] (4) The net value of all policies of life insurance issued on and after January first one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one where the premiums are payable monthly or oftener shall be valued according to the American experience table of mortality with interest at three and one-half per centum per annum But any company may voluntarily value its industrial policies according to the standard industrial mortality table with interest at three and one-half per centum per annum

(5) The net value of a policy at any time shall be taken to be the single net premium which will at that time effect the insurance less the value at that time of the future net premiums called for by the table of mortality and rate of interest designated

(6) The legal minimum standard for valuation of annuities issued after January one one thousand nine hundred and twelve shall be McClintock's table of mortality among annuitants with interest at three and one-half per centum per annum but annuities deferred ten or more years and written in connection with life or term insurance shall be valued upon the same mortality table from which the consideration or premiums were computed with interest not higher than three and one-half per centum per annum

(7) Any such company may however at any time elect under any of its policies of life insurance to reserve on the American experience table of mortality with a lower rate of interest but at a rate not less than two per centum or on the American men ultimate table of mortality (with such modification and extension below age twenty as may be approved by the Insurance Commissioner) with interest at a rate not more than three ane one-half per centum and not less than two per centum and its obligations under such policies shall [thereafter] be valued accordingly

(8) On or after the operative date of section four hundred and ten A (the Standard Non-forfeiture Law) of an act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (P. L. 682) as amended reserves for any policies or contracts may be calculated at the option of the company according to any standard which produces greater aggregate reserves for all such policies or contracts than the standard in use by such company immediately prior to the exercise of the option and with the approval of the Insuarnce Commissioner any company which at any time shall have adopted any standard of valuation producing greater aggregate reserves than the minimum reserves above provided may adopt any lower standard of valuation for any policies or contracts but not lower than the minimum reserves above provided nor lower than the standard specified in such policies or contracts or the standard used by such company for the determination of the nonforfeiture values thereof

(c) This subsection shall apply only to policies and contracts issued on or after the operative date of section four hundred and ten A (the Standard Non-Forfeiture Law) of an act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (P. L. 682) as amended

(1) The minimum standard for the valuation of all such policies and contracts shall be the Commissioners reserve valuation method defined in paragraph (2) of this subsection (c) three and one-half per cent (3½%) interest and the following tables

(i) For all Ordinary policies of life insurance issued on the standard basis excluding any disability and accidental death benefits in such policies the Commissioners 1941 Standard Ordinary Mortality Table

(ii) For all Industrial life insurance policies issue on the standard basis excluding any disability and accidental death benefits in such policies the 1941 Standard Industrial Mortality Table

(iii) For Annuity and Pure Endowment contracts excluding any disability and accidental death benefits in such contracts the 1937 Standard Annuity Mortality Table

(iv) For Total and Permanent Disability benefits in or supplementary to Ordinary policies or contracts Class (3) Disability Table (1926) which for active lives shall be combined with a mortality table permitted for calculating the reserves for life insurance policies

(v) For Accidental Death benefits in or supplementary to policies the Inter-Company Double Indemnity Mortality Table combined with a mortality table permmitted for calculating the reserves for life insurance policies

(vi) For Group Life insurance life insurance issued on the substandard basis and other special benefits such tables as may be approved by the Insurance Commission sioner

(2) Reserves according to the Commissioners reserve valuation method for the life insurance and endowment benefits of policies providing for a uniform amount of insurance and requiring the payment of uniform premiums shall be the excess if any of the present value at the date of valuation of such future guaranteed benefits provided for by such policies over the then present value of any future modified net premiums therefor The modified net premiums for any such policy shall be such uniform percentage of the respective contract premiums for such benefits that the present value at the date of issue of the policy of all such modified net premiums shall be equal to the sum of the then present value of such benefits provided for by the policy and the excess of (A) over (B) as follows

(A) A net level annual premium equal to the present value at the date of issue of such benefits provided for after the first policy year divided by the present value at the date of issue of an annuity of one per annum payable on the first and each subsequent anniversary of such policy on which a premium falls due provided however that such net level annual premium shall not exceed the net level annual premium on the nineteen year premium whole life plan for insurance of the same amount at an age one year higher than the age at issue of such policy

(B) A net one year term premium for such benefits provided for in the first policy year

Reserves according to the Commissioners reserve valuation method for (i) life insurance policies providing for a varying amount of insurance or requiring the payment of varying premiums (ii) annuity and pure endowment contracts (iii) disability and accidental death benefits in all policies and contracts and (iv) all other benefits except life insurance and endowment benefits in life insurance policies shall be calculated by a method consistent with the principles of this paragraph (2) of this subsection (c)

(3) In no event shall a company's agreegate reserves for all life insurance policies excluding disability and accidental death benefits be less than the aggregate reserves calculated in accordance with the method set forth in paragraph (2) of this subsection (c) and the mortality table or tables and rate or rates of interest used in calculating non-forfeiture benefits for such policies

(4) Reserves for any category of policies contracts or such category than those calculated according to the minibe calculated at the option of the company according to any standards which produce greater aggregate reserves for mum standard herein provided but the rate or rates of interest used shall not be higher than the corresponding rate or rates of interest used in calculating any nonforfeiture benefits provided for therein Provided however that reserves for participating life insurance policies may with the consent of the Insurance Commissioner be calculated according to a rate of interest lower than the rate of interest used in calculating the non-forfeiture benefits in such policies with the further proviso that if such lower rate differs from the rate used in the calculation of the non-forfeiture benefits by more than one-half per cent (½%) the company issuing such policies shall file with the Insurance Commissioner a plan providing for such equitable increases if any in the cash surrender values and nonforfeiture benefits in such policies as the Insurance Commissioner shall approve

(5) Any such company which at any time shall have adopted any standard of valuation producing greater aggregate reserves than those calculated according to the minimum standard herein provided may with the approval of the Insurance Commissioner adopt any lower standard of valuation but not lower than the minimum herein provided

(d) The aggregate reserves or net value so ascertained of the policies and contracts of any such life insurance company shall be deemed its reserve liability to provide for which it shall hold funds in secure investments of an amount equal to such net value above all its other liabilities The Insurance Commissioner shall after having determined as above the net value of all the policies and contracts in force see that the company has that amount in safe legal securities after all its other debts and claims against it have been provided for

(e) The provisions of this section for the valuation of policies and for premium rates shall not apply to companies or associations transacting business on the mutual assessment plan

Section 2 Section three hundred three of such act as last amended by the act approved the seventh day of April one thousand nine hundred and forty-three (P. L. 33) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 303 [Separate Liability] Deficiency Reserve Requirements of Companies Charging Less Than Net Premiums Computed on Mortality Tables [Unlawful to Issue Policies Below Rate Fixed in Mortality Tables When the actual premium charged by any life insurance company doing business in the Commonwealth is less than the tabular net premium for such insurance computed as provided in this section such company shall be charged as a separate liability with the value of an annuity the amount of which shall equal the difference between such premiums and the term of which in years shall equal the number of future annual payments due on such insurance at the date of the valuation] If the gross premium charged by any life insurance company on any policy or contract is less than the net premium for the policy or contract according to the mortality table rate of interest and method used in calculating the reserve thereon there shall be maintained on such policy or contract a deficiency reserve in addition to all other reserves required by law For each such policy or contract the deficiency reserve shall be the present value according to such standard of an annuity of the difference between such net premium and the premium charged for such policy or contract running for the remainder of the premium-paying period [The tabular] At the option of the company the net premium for the purpose of this section for all policies and contracts issued prior to the operative date of section four hundred and ten A (The Standard Nonforfeiture Law) of an act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (P. L. 682) as amended shall be computed according to the table of mortality and rate of interest prescribed for such insurance in clauses [(a) (b) (c) or (d)] (1) (2) (3) or (4) of subsection (b) of section three hundred and one of this act except that it shall be computed according to the table of mortality and rate of interest specified in the policy as the basis of the reserve for such insurance if the table so specified is the American men utimate table of mortality

Section 3 Section three hundred four of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 304 Valuations by other States [The Insurance Commissioner shall accept the valuations made by the] [proper officer of the State under whose authority a life insurance company was organized when such valuations are made on a basis that will give values at least equal to the valuation above defined and when the State under which the company was organized accepts the valuation made by the Insurance Commissioner for the companies organized under the laws of this Commonwealth] in lieu of the valuation of the reserves required in section 301 of this act of any foreign or alien company the Insurance Commissioner may accept any valuation made or caused to be made by the insurance supervisory official of any state or other jurisdiction when such valuation complies with the minimum standard provided in section 301 of this act and if the official of such state or jurisdiction accepts as sufficient and valid for all legal purposes the certificate of valuation of the Insurance Commissioner when such certificate states the valuation to have been made in a specified manner according to which the aggregate reserves would be at least as large as if they had been computed in the manner prescribed by the law of that state or jurisdiction Each [life insurance] such company shall furnish to the Insurance Commissioner on or before the first day of March in each year a certificate from the proper officer of such State or jurisdiction setting forth the value of all the policies and contracts of the company in force on the previous thirty-first day of December Any such company failing to furnish such certificate shall be required to make a full detailed list of policies to the Insurance Commissioner and shall be liable for all charges and expenses resulting from the failure to furnish said certificate

Section 4 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

Section 5 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Kline

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Schuylkill permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KLINE. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, before I interrogate the gentleman I would like to have unanimous consent of the House to interrogate Mr. Cohen on House Bills 329 and 330 at the same time. I believe these bills are co-related.

The SPEAKER. If the Chair hears no objection, the gentleman may proceed. The Chair hears none.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen, whether or not House Bills 329 and 330 will revolutionize life insurance in Pennsylvania?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I do not think they will revolutionize life insurance, but I think they will modernize life insurance in Pennsylvania.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I should like to know further from the gentleman from Philadelphia whether or not the changes in life insurance contracts in Pennsylvania set forth by these bills will materially increase or reduce the premiums to be paid by policy holders.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, under the terms of these two bills, when the bills take effect in January, 1948, we would probably find, and "probably" is used only because we are talking about some scientific actuarial formulae, which are practically incomprehensible to the average man, including the average legal mind, and I would say, Mr. Speaker, that the tendency will be in the lower ages of policies to be issued that the premium will be lowered; that in the policies issued in the older ages the premium may tend to be higher. I am thinking about the question of age, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know from the gentleman from Philadelphia whether he was present at the public hearing on this bill before the Joint Insurance Committees of the Senate and the House

Mr. COHEN. I was, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHUDOFF. I should like further to inquire of the gentleman as to whether or not he heard the actuaries of the various insurance companies doing business in Pennsylvania tell the Committee that this bill would not affect the premiums one way or the other?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman hold on for a minute? I distinctly recall Mr. Marshall saying that as an actuary he felt the bills would not increase the cost to the public, and he further said that it will not affect the annual cost over the years.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Does that mean, Mr. Speaker, that it will not increase or decrease the premiums to the policy holders?

Mr. COHEN. It does not mean that, Mr. Speaker. As I said before, there will be a tendency to reduce the premiums at the lower issuing age, and a tendency to increase the premiums, although not necessarily so, at the higher premium age. As I said before, these bills will not increase the cost to the public nor will they affect the actual cost over the years.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I should like to inquire of the gentleman from Philadelphia whether or not these bills will reduce the guarantee of return on insurance policies in the contracts issued by companies doing business in Pennsylvania?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I presume that the gentleman is referring to policies issued after January, 1948. If the gentleman is asking whether it would increase the cost to the policy holders I am going to pin him down to the actuarial method of computing for blocks of policy holders, not individuals but for blocks of policy holders, the cost will not be increased.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I do not believe the gentleman understood my question. I believe under the present law there is guarantee of return to the policy holders in every life insurance contract written in Pennsylvania of three and one-half per cent, and I would like to know from the gentleman if these bills should become law this three and one-half per cent guaranteed return will be reduced.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, the present guaranteed return, as I recollect in a policy which I just bought about two months ago, was three per cent, and I was told at that time that it was a pretty good policy because they were going to reduce it to two and one-half per cent. Whether under these bills the guarantee return as computed under these bills will be two and one-half per cent, I do not know, and incidentally it will not affect any policies heretofore issued.

There was in Pennsylvania before the turn of the century a six per cent return and by legislation over the year it was finally knocked down to three and one-half per cent and then three per cent, and as I have been told by a high pressure salesman it will be cut down to two and one-half per cent.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, it will reduce the guaranteed return to two and a half per cent?

Mr. COHEN. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I should like to know from the gentleman whether this bill will reduce the reserve required under the present law?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, as I understand the bills, there is no reduction in the reserve for all policies issued, and may I explain briefly if the gentleman will permit, a life insurance premium which is paid by the policy holder is made up of several parts, one of which is the first part, the actual life insurance amount. Then there is an amount taken out of the policy which is set aside for reserve, so that the anticipated life of a man is determined by the mortality table which we seek to put into effect, so that in the beginning years there is a reserve set up out of the premium collected to insure that the company is assured that at the end of the road, taking all the policies and all groups into consideration, there will be sufficient reserve to take care of all deaths in a class. At the beginning there is a greater reserve amount out of a policy there is a greater so-called profit out of the premium which goes into the reserve. There is a lot of money, there is a lot of so-called profit,—I am trying to reduce it to every-day language,—which permits a greater reserve to be set aside. As a policy gets older the amount of premium paid by the same policy holder is not profitable, that is, it requires a greater amount of money to be paid against the requirement and a comparatively lesser amount for reserve, so that at the beginning it shows greater so-called profit which permits a greater reserve to take care of the obligation at a later date. Eventually they all work out to a mathematical one hundred per cent where all the money paid goes to the same purpose of setting up a reserve that all persons in the group will pay one hundred per cent and under the bill have a guaranteed return of two and one-half per cent.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I should like to inquire of the gentleman from Philadelphia what effect if any these bills will have on the huge salaries that life insurance executives, life insurance actuaries, life insurance counsel and life insurance boards of directors get at the present time.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I have no way of knowing that. I believe in mutual companies with which many of you are acquainted, including myself, the gentleman from Philadelphia has a right to vote on the salaries, approve or disapprove such salaries, and I presume the stockholders have the same privilege. It may very well be, Mr. Speaker, that the stockholders may be in a very small minority, but it is presumed that there should not be and there might not be, at the same time there might be a big ante.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I should like to know from the gentleman from Philadelphia whether he knows that a life insurance bill comparable to House Bills 329 and 330 were passed by the New York legislature in 1943.

Mr. COHEN. I am informed that that is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I should like to know whether or not on April 20, 1943 Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York vetoed these bills.

Mr. COHEN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHUDOFF. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker. House Bills 329 and 330 which go into effect, if passed, in 1948, will affect millions of life insurance policies in the state of Pennsylvania.

Now, these bills are very complicated, very difficult to understand, and I do not condemn the Chairman of the Insurance Committee nor his co-sponsor, the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. O'Neill, for yielding to Mr. Cohen, as far as these bills are concerned, because I think that they after studying them did not know what they were all about. That is the only way to describe it.

These are very complicated bills, you must be an expert in life insurance to understand them. I have read them many, many times. I sat down and tried to figure out what they were driving at, and I might say I really don't know a fraction of what they are trying to provide. I don't believe that many Members of the House are interested in these bills either, because as I look around in front of me and I see about sixteen empty seats on the Democratic side of the House and there are a few vacant seats on the Republican side of the House. However, these are very, very important bills.

I might say, Mr. Speaker, that every Member of this House has many, many policy holders among his or her constituents, and these bills are very important to every policy holder in Pennsylvania.

I have tried to find out why the insurance companies are so anxious to get these bills passed. There was a public hearing before the Joint Insurance Committees of the House and Senate about a month ago. At that time there were approximately twenty life insurance companies in Pennsylvania who presented high paid actuaries and a man by the name of Decker, an attorney who was one of the highest paid insurance lawyers in Pennsylvania, who appeared before that committee. I listened very carefully to everything that was said and not one of the speakers spoke about the bill. Each speaker praised life insurance companies in Pennsylvania, and that is all.

It seems to me that if these bills will not cause premiums to go down, if these bills will not increase the benefits, if these bills will cause a return less than the policy holders get today, I cannot see any reason for them. In my mind I have tried to figure out why these bills should become law. I believe, Mr. Speaker, in my opinion perhaps the life insurance companies are having a great deal of difficulty in meeting the one hundred thousand dollar salaries that some presidents of life insurance companies get. They are unable to meet the return on the investment and they are unable to meet the three and one-half per cent that is needed to pay these huge salaries, and in looking for additional sources, and there is only one source they could find, they say "Let us tap the policy holder."

Mr. Speaker, this bill was introduced in the New York Legislature, it was passed and Governor Dewey studied the bill perhaps more efficiently than I have studied it. His counsel studied it, his Insurance Commissioner studied it, and after studying it, they recommended to the Governor that he veto these bills, and he vetoed the bills not because they were bad bills—I still say they might not be bad bills—but because they were bills that would affect many people in the State of New York and in the nation.

I would like to read the Governor's veto message that he signed on April 23, 1943:

State of New York, Executive Chamber, Albany, April 23, 1943, Memorandum filed with Senate Bill, Introductory Number 282, Assembly Reprint 2229, entitled:

An Act to amend the insurance law, in relation to the valuation of reserve liabilities for life insurance policies and annuity and pure endowment contracts and in relation to non-forfeiture benefits and cash surrender values under such policies and contracts.

Not Approved: For decades, the insurance policies in this State have been written upon the basis of mortality tables adopted as far back as 1868. This bill would effect changes in the Insurance Law which would permit the use of a more modern mortality tables. At the same time, major changes are made in the basis upon which cash values, surrender charges and other values of insurance policies will be determined. The changes are of the most technical nature. They are vital to millions of policyholders in the State and nation. These changes require much greater study than can be given to them at the present time. Although it is universally recognized that the basis upon which policies of life insurance are issued requires complete modernization, this long delayed task should only be adopted after an exhaustive study.

task should only be adopted after an exhaustive study.

In disapproving this measure, I am not passing upon the merits.

(Signed) THOMAS E. DEWEY.

Mr. Speaker, this bill not only provides for a setup that will change the reserve and the guaranteed return on the investment to the policy holders but it also tends to modernize the mortality tables upon which every policy of life insurance is based. Under the mortality tables which were set up in the latter part of the 19th century it was found that out of a group of one hundred men at the age of thirty eight of them would die, leaving the ninety-two living. It is true that science has taken a very great stride forward and we have been able to modernize surgery and many discoveries have been made that have caused longevity of life, and under the present setup instead of eight men dying at the age of thirty only four men die at that age. This allows the life insurance companies to make a profit and a good profit.

Now the companies want to modernize these tables, and I submit to you that this is no time for modernization of the mortality tables. We have at the present time in the service of the United States ten million men, and even if these men do not suffer wounds in battle, it is admitted by all medical authorities that the battle will take something out of the men, and I say to you it is dangerous at this time to modernize the mortality tables. I believe they should allow at least ten years to expire after the cessation of this war to determine what effect these tables will have upon the men. It is a most dangerous procedure.

In order to satisfy myself, I introduced in the House Resolution No. 37. In that resolution I asked that House Bills 329 and 330 be studied by a commission, because the contents of them are so important to the policy holers of Pennsylvania. I thought it would take at least until the next session of the legislature to study these bills thoroughly. I asked that a joint commission of the House and Senate be appointed for the purpose of studying both these bills and reporting back to the next session of the legislature. I feel if these bills were passed we might be doing something that we will be sorry for. I think they will require a great amount of study and therefore, Mr. Speaker, I ask the Members on both sides of the House to vote against thees bills.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, there has been one gratifying development in connection with these two bills. There is evidently a lack of ability to take a bill on the other side and in five minutes tell what is in the bill. I am pleased to see that it is admitted necessary by the majority group to turn over difficult bills to our specially skilled five minute reader.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the expert who functions as the insurance adviser for the majority party.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. COHEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. I would like, Mr. Speaker, to have the gentleman take House Bill 329, and I would like the gentleman to turn to page 9. I would like to have the gentleman turn to line 16 and tell the Members of this House what a "mum standard" is.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, it should notice to everybody and perhaps I should not even attempt to discuss line 16, but I desire to thank the gentleman for pointing out a typical error which will be taken care of and attended to when it gets to the Senate. What it probably means is both a minimum and a maximum.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman tell the House that in this bill when we want to say "minimum" we say "mum"?

Mr. COHEN. That is shorthand, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. I want to ask the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, whether he thinks the mistakes in this bill should be cleared up in this House or whether there are so many errors in the bill that he wants to railroad it through to the Senate to be relieved of some responsibility in the matter.

Mr. COHEN. I will say this, I have never railroaded a bill in my life, but there is no objection to explaining everything and taking care of the typegraphical errors. They will probably take care of the typegraphical error when it arrives over in the Senate.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have the gentleman turn to page 8, line 9 and read to the House from 9 to line 19 and then explain to the House what that paragraph means.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, the lines read:

A net level annual premium equal to the present value at the date of issue of such benefits provided for after the first policy year divided by the present value at the date of issue of an annuity of one per annum payable on the first and each subsequent anniversary of such policy on which a premium falls due provided however that such net level annual premium shall not exceed the net level annual premium on the nineteen year premium whole life plan for insurance of the same amount at an age one year higher than the age at issue of such policy.

Mr. Speaker, I think we could explain what the purpose of this bill is if the gentleman wants that done perhaps, but I assure you it will take an awful lot of time to dig down that deep.

Mr. ANDREWS. I thank the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Speaker, for his clear explanation.

I would say that since we are passing a bill that affects every insurance company in the State of Pennsylvania and every policyholder in the State of Pennsylvania that it may be fitting to pause and see what the gentleman's explanation of that particular key paragraph in this bill is. I think we should pause long enough and think well to explain that paragraph to the people.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, to explain lines 9 to 19 I will have to start on page 5, line 25, because from there on in to the end of line 10 on page 10, we have the various component parts of an actuacrial theme which is comprehensible only to a man who is scientifically skilled in taking a lot of figures and juggling them around, but not comprehensible to the lay mind.

I did not attempt to take in the scientific formulae of the actuary who selected the policy for men, and even if I had I would not presume to tell the Members of the House and the gentleman from Cambria what an actuarial formulae is, but I will tell the gentlemen what I did.

I discussed this bill with a number of people in Philadelphia who asked me not to have their names mentioned, they are not connected with any life insurance companies, but they are in my estimation experts in life insurance. They write independently for all companies and also advise policy holders. They tried also to give me a scientific explanation, which my mind immediately rejected, that in their estimation the formula was a valid, actuarial formula. They passed no opinion as to whether or not the bills are good or bad.

Mr. ANDREWS. We are presented, Members of the House, with a unique situation. We have a majority group which is proposing one of the key bills, one of the most important bills of this session, and there isn't anybody over there that knows what this bill does or why. Then they draft a distinguished Member of the minority group and he doesn't know either. He says he talked to an actualry and the actuary said it was good.

Now, gentlemen of the House, it should be possible for anyone who understands insurance to come before this House with a clear cut case as to what this bill does for the insurance company, and what this bill does for the policyholder. That was the proper duty of the Insurance Department. That Department should not only have been content to talk to the Committee on Insurance, it should have placed in the possession of the Members of this House a reasonable explanation of this bill.

Now, no Chairman of a Committee was any fairer than the Chairman of the Insurance Committee. He has functioned admirably, and if he were to advise me concerning an insurance policy and give me his word that he was advising me correctly, I would follow his advice implicitly, but I am not as a legislator buying an insurance policy. I am asked to pass upon insurance bills which apply to all of our insurance companies and to all of our policyholders, and I would say to the Members of this House that it is unthinkable, it is ridiculous to bring in a bill and say to us, "You cannot understand this, nobody but an actuary knows what is in it. You just take our word for it, it is good legislation." That has been the attitude on this bill from the beginning.

There has been a reserve on the part of those who have urged it, and when they come down to fundamentals they offer the same explanation that the gentleman from Philadelphia offered, "Somebody told him it was a good bill." I say to the Members of this House until somebody in clear cut United States language can tell us what this bill does for the insurance companies, what it does for the policy holders we ought to refuse to act, because as legislators we should not pass legislation affecting all of the state simply upon the say so of some unnamed, unknown actuary.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I should like to answer the statement of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Chudoff, and offer a statement to the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews. I will try to take them up one by one and answer them very briefly because there is no fight about this bill.

We have a very distinct difference of opinion. I think my own opinion at the beginning coincides more with that of Mr. Chudoff than it now does. I came to my conclusion on these bills because I actually put my trust in people whom I trusted and I had to take what those people said rather than take my own judgment, because I have confessed and I confess again that I cannot tell you what the actuarial formula is or why it is.

The first argument was, Mr. Speaker, that it would affect the price of the present policies. That cannot be so because the present policies are not affected and no policies can be affected until after January of 1948. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, that argument falls.

Governor Dewey vetoed the bill, and I made inquiry and I found that a man, a lawyer named Dineen advised Governor Dewey not to sign the bill because he felt that the bill should get more study before the Governor approved it, but I understand that Louis Pink, who was the Commissioner of Insurance in the State of New York for some ten or twenty years before that time and was not trying to cast aspersions upon the other Insurance Commissioners of New York, he stands out in my estimation among the greatest insurance experts in America and the greatest insurance commissioner that ever commissioned insurance in America. Louis Pink also gave his whole hearted approval to these bills. I understand Louis Pink after he left the commissionership did not join some company but became connected with the United Relief Organizations. He is a man of unquestioned integrity and a man of outstanding ability in the field and he gave these bills his wholehearted approval. Another man was one of the professors at the University of Pennsylvania, an outstanding authority on insurance in America.

May I say, Mr. Speaker, in answer to another argument whether or not the companies are in bad shape, I do not know. I know that our own Treasury Department through Secretary Morgenthau in the past two or three years did make the statement that in America one of the ways people could lick inflation was to invest their money in insurance companies. I doubt whether Secretary Morgenthau would have made such a statement at that time unless he thought the companies were in excellent shape, and I am quite certain that Secretary

Morgenthau, if he were of the opinion that the insurance companies were in bad shape would be the first one to say so.

I will give you a little bit of the know how and why, why these companies want the bills passed. Thirty other states have passed similar legislation and it is anticipated that this state and other states will fall into line by the year 1948, that is the reason the bill is made effective at that time, three years hence, so that all of the states may fall into line when it is expected there will be uniform policies issued to all policy holders in every state of the union.

Now, Mr. Speaker, getting into the veteran's situation, it does not effect any of the veterans today. I will say this, Mr. Speaker, that in 1948 if it is found that a great number of our veterans have not yet returned, if it is found that a great change must be made because veterans returning might be susceptible to a situation that is not anticipated, it might be possible that it might be the right thing to defer this legislation or defer the effective date of this legislation. Also further, Mr. Speaker, the actuarial figures anticipate not only epidemic but also loss of life due to the war and war causes.

Further, on the technical side, may I say that the reason why the premiums would be reduced for the lower issuing age is this, that the science of medicine has made great forward steps in determining the cause of death in the younger people. They have had no such great success in the prevention of illness in the middle age and over age groups, so that when the premiums are fixed for the lower age groups it is possible for them under the new mortality tables, which affects the experience of 1930 to 1939 instead of 1868, they are able to determine over a period of a great many years how many people of the age of twenty-five will be living twenty-five, fifty or seventy-five years from that time, so that they are able to give us a premium which will allow a reserve to be set aside over the years for that group in order to assure that at the age of eighty-five at the end of the road the money will be there to pay them. The science of medicine has not been able to reduce many of the causes of death in the higher age groups and the premiums for that group will tend to be higher and not lower because at the age of fifty and fifty-five it is impossible to predict with any certainty who at that age will be living over a certain period of time, there will be a longer life in that group of people so that of course the amount of money which will be taken in and set aside for reserves will have to be on a more conservative basis, which would indicate a greater premium for that age.

Now, the accusation is fairly well put that there is nobody to give us a clear cut statement on these bills in plain ordinary American language. I never intended to do it, Mr. Speaker, because I do not feel qualified to do it. I submit these bills to you in behalf of the sponsors who asked me to take up the cudgels for them. I have gone to reputable people, not actuaries, in whom I have the greatest confidence for their opinion and advise, and from most people I have been able to get enough information to pursuade me, my first information on these bills, to say that no great calamity can come about if these bills are passed. I think that is as much as I can honestly say. I will guarantee nothing in these bills because I have not the qualification to guarantee anything, but I have every assurance in my own mind, and I have every feeling of sincerity when I say to you that the bills are all right as they are now.

Mr. DILLON. Mr. Speaker, being in the insurance business, not associated with a life insurance company, I am not in a position to pass judgment on these bills, but I do know this, that at the present time there are eighteen other states that have this law in effect, and at the present time there are also twelve other states where it is necessary for the legislature to pass this bill. But I do have enough faith in my present Insurance Commissioner, one of the best we have ever had in Pennsylvania, who is for this bill. I am going to be for it, and I ask the Members of the House to vote for it.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, these bills are based upon the so-called Guertin Plan. I understood at the public hearing it took the gentleman, Mr. Guertin, some seven years to evolve this plan. Now, that is a long time. If it took that esteemed gentleman, who is an expert on actuarials, seven years to come to this conclusion, why should this Legislature be put in a position to pass the legislation in a few minutes when, as it has already been demonstrated on the floor of this House tonight, very few if any one know too much about these bills.

It has already been stated that similar bills in the State of New York have been vetoed. A commission was there appointed to study these bills and this type of legislation. To date to my knowledge no similar legislation has yet been introduced again in the State of New York. We can come to only one obvious conclusion and that is that the bills are not yet ready and clear for the people to understand.

I recall the question that was asked of the proponents of these bills at the public hearing, which was something like this, "Will these bills help the insurance companies or help the policy holders?" The answer was, "No, they would not. They would not help the companies or the policy holders," and then followed the question, "Then why do you want this legislation?" I am still endeavoring to get a clear and direct answer. Any answer that was attempted to be obtained was vague and evasive. It was definitely stated that the reserve would definitely be decreased if these bills were to become law.

I submit to the Members of this House that when the soldiers and sailors return the mortality rate may be increased, and that is natural. There are statistics to bear me out on this from the last World War as a basis that the mortality rate will be increased, and if these reserves are to be reduced to such an extent where the financial structure of the insurance companies is thereby affected, then I don't want to be around to see the calamity that may be visited upon us. I submit to the members of the House that we are not yet ripe for this legislation, about which we know nothing and understand even less, and I submit further that we should not pass this legislation at this time.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 330, as follows:

An Act to further amend the act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (P. L. 682) entitled "An act relating to insurance amending revising and consolidating the law providing for the incorporation of insurance companies and the regulation supervision and protection of home and foreign insurance companies Lloyds associations reciprocal and inter-insurance exchanges and fire insurance rating bureaus and the regulation and supervision of insurance carried by such companies associations and exchanges including insurance carried by the State Workmen's Insurance Fund providing penalties and repealing existing laws" by amending section four hundred ten (410) thereof relating to uniform policy provisions by adding thereto section four hundred ten A (410A) relating to non-forfeiture benefits and cash surrender values required in life insurance policies and by amending section four hundred twenty C (420C) thereof relating to uniform industrial policy provisions

Section 1 Section four hundred ten (410) of the act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (P. L. 682) entitled "An act relating to insurance amending revising and consolidating the law providing for the incorporation of insurance companies and the regulation supervision and protection of home and foreign insurance companies Lloyds associations reciprocal and inter-insurance exchanges and fire insurance rating bureaus and the regulation and supervision of insurance carried by such companies associations and exchanges including insurance carried by the State Workmen's Insurance Fund providing penalties and repealing existing laws" as last amended by the act approved the fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 1634) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 410 Uniform Policy Provisions No policy of life or endowment insurance except policies of industrial insurance where the premiums are payable monthly or oftener shall hereafter be issued or delivered by any stock or mutual life insurance company in this Commonwealth unless it contains in substance the following provisions

(a) A provision that all premiums shall be payable in advance either at the home office of the company or to an agent of the company upon delivery of a receipt signed by one or more of the officers of the company who shall be named in the policy

(b) A provision that the insured is entitled to a grace either of thirty days or one month within which the payment of any premium after the first year may be made subject at the option of the company to an interest charge not in excess of six per centum per annum for the number of days of grace elapsing before the payment of the premium during which period of grace the policy shall continue in full force but in case the policy becomes a claim during the said period of grace before the overdue premium or the deferred premiums of the current policy year if any are paid the amount of such premiums with interest on any overdue premiums may be deducted in any settlement under the policy

(c) A provision that the policy shall be incontestable after it has been in force during the lifetime of the insured two years from its date of issue except for nonpayment of premiums and for engaging in military or naval service in time of war without the consent in writing of an executive officer of the company and that at the option of the company provisions relative to benefits in the event of total and permanent disability and provisions which grant additional insurance specifically against death by accident may also be excepted

(d) A provision that the policy shall constitute the entire contract between the parties but if the company desires to make the application a part of the contract it may do so provided a copy of such application shall be endorsed upon or attached to the policy when issued and in such case the policy shall contain a provision that the policy and the application therefor shall constitute the entire contract between the parties

(e) A provision that if the age of the insured has been misstated the amount payable under the policy shall be such as the premium would have purchased at the correct age

(f) A provision that the policy shall participate in the surplus of the company and that beginning not later than the end of the third policy-year the company will annually determine the portion of the divisible surplus accruing on the policy and that the owner of the policy shall have the right to have the dividend arising from such participation paid in cash or applied to the payment of premium or the purchase of paid up additions to the policy as the policyholder may elect

In lieu of the foregoing provisions the policy may contain a provision that the policy shall participate in the surplus of the company and that beginning not later than the end of the fifth policy-year the company will determine the portion of the divisible surplus accruing on the policy and that the owner of the policy shall have the right to have the current dividend arising from such participation paid in cash and that at periods of not more than five years thereafter such apportionment and payment at the option of the policyholder shall be had

Renewable term policies of ten years or less may provide that the surplus accruing to such policies shall be determined and apportioned each year after the second policy-year and accumulated during each renewal period and that at the end of any renewal period or renewal of the policy by the insured the company shall apply the accumulated surplus as an annuity for the next succeeding renewal term in the reduction of premiums

(g) A provision specifying the options if any to which the policyholder is entitled in the event of default in a premium payment [after three full annual premiums shall have been paid]

(h) A provision for a loan value at any time while the policy is in force [that] after three full years' premiums have been paid

(1) In the case of any policy issued prior to the operative date of section four hundred and ten A of this act (the Standard Non-forfeiture Law) it shall be provided that the company [at any time while the policy is in force] will advance on proper assignment or pledge of the policy and on the sole security thereof at a specified rate of interest a sum equal to or at the option of the owner of the policy less than the reserve at the end of the current policy year on the policy and on any dividend additions thereto less a sum not more than two and one-half per centum of the amount insured by the policy and of any dividend additions thereto and that the company will deduct from such loan value any existing indebtedness on the policy and any unpaid balance of the premium for the current policy-year and may collect interest in advance on the loan to the end of the current policy-year which provision may further provide that such loan may be deferred for not exceeding six months after the application therefor is made A company may in lieu of the provision hereinabove permitted for the deduction from a loan on the policy of a sum not more than two and one-half per centum of the amount insured by the policy and of any dividend additions thereto insert in the policy a provision that one-fifth of the entire reserve may be deducted in case of a loan under the policy or may provide therein that the deduction may be the said two and one-half per centum or the one-fifth of the said entire reserve at the option of the company

(2) In the case of any policy issued on or after the operative date of section four hundred and ten A of this act (the Standard Non-forfeiture Law) it shall be provided that the company will advance on proper assignment or pledge of the policy and on the sole security thereof at a specified rate of interest a sum equal to or at the option of the owner of the policy less than the cash surrender value at the end of the current policy year as required by section four hundred and ten A of this act and that the company will deduct from such loan value (in addition to any indebtedness deducted in determining such value) any unpaid balance of the premium for the current policy year and may collect interest in advance on the loan to the end of the current policy year The company shall reserve the right to defer such loan except any made to pay premiums for six months after application therefor is made This subsection (h) shall not apply to term insurance

(i) A provision [which] for a non-forfeiture benefit and cash surrender value

(1) In the case of any policy issued prior to the operative date of section four hundred and ten A of this act (the Standard Non-forfeiture Law) a non-forfeiture benefit shall be provided in event of default in premium payments after premiums shall have been paid for three years which shall secure to the owner of the policy a stipulated form of insurance the net value of which shall be at least equal to the reserve at the date of default on the policy and on any dividend additions thereto specifying the mortality table and rate of interest adopted for computing such reserves less a sum not more than two and one-half per centum of the amount insured by the policy and of any existing dividend additions thereto and less any existing indebtedness to the company on the policy Such provision shall stipulate that the policy may be surrendered to the company at its home office within one month from date of default for a specified cash value at least equal to the sum which would otherwise be available for the purchase of insurance as aforesaid and may stipulate that the company may defer payment for not more than six (6) months after the application therefor is made This provision shall not be required in term insurance of twenty years or less

(2) In the case of any policy issued on or after the operative date of section four hundred and ten A of this act (the Standard Non-forfeiture Law) a non-forfeiture benefit and cash surrender value shall be provided in accordance with said section

(j) A table showing in figures the loan value if any and the options if any available under the policy each year upon default in premium payments during at least the first twenty years of the policy and if the proceeds of the policy are payable in installments or as an annuity a table showing the amount of the installment or annuity payment

(k) A provision that the holder of a policy shall be entitled to have the policy reinstated at any time within three years from the date of default in premium payments unless the policy has been duly surrendered or the extension period expired upon the production of evidence of insurability satisfactory to the company and the payment of all overdue premiums and any other indebtedness to the company upon said policy with interest at the rate of not exceeding six per centum per annum

(l) A provision that when a policy shall become a claim by the death of the insured settlement shall be made upon receipt of due proof of death

Any of the foregoing provisions or parts thereof not applicable to single premium or non-participating [or term] policies shall to that extent not be incorporated therein Provided however that the police of an insurance company organized under the laws of any State or foreign government may contain when issued in this Commonwealth any provision which may be prescribed by laws of the State or government under which the company is organized and the policies of a life insurance company organized under the laws of this Commonwealth may when issued in any other State Territory or foreign country contain any provision required by the laws of such State Territory or foreign country to be contained in policies issued therein

Section 2 The said act is hereby amended by adding thereto section four hundred ten A (410A) to read as follows

Section 410A Standard Non-Forfetiure Law (a) In the case of policies issued on or after the operative date of this section as defined in subsection (g) no policy of life insurance except as stated in subsection (f) shall be issued or delivered in this Commonwealth unless it shall contain in substance the following provisions or corresponding provision which in the opinion of the Insurance Commissioner are at least as favorable to the defaulting or surrendering policyholder

(1) That in the event of default in any premium payment the company will grant upon proper request not later than sixty days after the due date of the premium in default a paid-up non-forfeiture benefit on a plan stipulated in the policy effective as of such due date of such value as may be hereinafter specified

(2) That upon surrender of the policy within sixty days after the due date of any premium payment in default after premiums have been paid for at least three full years in the case of Ordinary insurance or five full years in the case of Industrial insurance the company will pay in lieu of any paid-up non-forfeiture benefit a cash surrender value of such amount as may be hereinafter specified

(3) That a specified paid-up non-forfeiture benefit shall become effective as specified in the policy unless the person entitled to make such election elects another available option not later than sixty days after the due date of the premium in default

(4) That if the policy shall have become paid-up by completion of all premium payments or if it is continued under any paid-up non-forfeiture benefit which became effective on or after the third policy anniversary in the case of Ordinary insurance or the fifth policy anniversary in the case of Industrial insurance the company will pay upon surrender of the policy within thirty days after any policy anniversary a cash surrender value of such amount as may be hereinafter specified

(5) A statement of the mortality table and interest rate used in calculating the cash surrender values and the paid-up non-forfeiture benefits available under the policy together with a table showing the cash surrender value if any and paid-up non-forfeiture benefit if any available under the policy on each policy anniversary either during the first twenty policy years or during the term of the policy whichever is shorter such values and benefits to be calculated upon the assumption that there are no dividends or paid-up additions credited to the policy and that there is no indebtedness to the company on the policy

(6) A statement of the method to be used in calculating the cash surrender value and the paid-up non-forfeiture benefit available under the policy on any policy anniversary with an explanation of the manner in which the cash surrender values and the paid-up non-forfeiture benefits are altered by the existence of any paid-up additions credited to the policy or any indebtedness to the company on the policy

Any of the foregoing provisions or portions thereof not applicable by reason of the plan of insurance may to the extent inapplicable be omitted from the policy

The company shall reserve the right to defer the payment of any cash surrender value for a period of six months after demand therefor with surrender of the policy

(b) Any cash surrender value available under the policy in the event of default in a premium payment due on any policy anniversary whether or not required by subsection (a) shall be an amount not less than the excess if any of the present value on such anniversary of the future guaranteed benefits which would have been provided for by the policy including any existing paid-up additions if there had been no default over the sum of (A) the then present value of the adjusted premiums as defined in subsection (d) corresponding to premiums which would have fallen due on and after such anniversary and (B) the amount of any indebtedness to the company on the policy Any cash surrender value available within thirty days after any policy anniversary under any policy paid-up by completion of all premium payments or any policy continued under any paid-up non-forfeiture benefit whether or not required by subsection (a) shall be an amount not less than the present value on such anniversary of the future guaranteed benefits provided for by the policy including any existing paid-up additions decreased by any indebtedness to the company on the policy

(c) Any paid-up non-forfeiture benefit available under the policy in the event of default in a premium payment due on any policy anniversary shall be such that its present value as of such anniversary shall be at least equal to the cash surrender value then provided for by the policy or if none is provided for that cash surrender value which would have been required by this section in the absence of the condition that premiums shall have been paid for at least a specified period

(d) The adjusted premiums for any policy shall be calculated on an annual basis and shall be such uniform percentage of the respective premiums specified in the policy for each policy year that the present value at the date of issue of the policy of all such adjusted premiums shall be equal to the sum of (i) the then present value of the future guaranteed benefits provided for by the policy (ii) two per cent of the amount of insurance if the insurance be uniform in amount or of the equivalent uniform amount as hereinafter defined if the amount of insurance varies with duration of the policy (iii) forty per cent of the adjusted premium for the first policy year (iv) twenty-five per cent of either the adjusted premium for the first policy year or the adjusted premium for a whole life policy of the same uniform or equivalent uniform amount with uniform premiums for the whole of life issued at the same age for the same amount of insurance whichever is less Provided however that in applying the percentages specified in (iii) and (iv) above no adjusted premium shall be deemed to exceed four per cent (4%) of the amount of insurance or level amount equivalent thereto The date of issue of a policy for the purpose of this subsection shall be the date as of which the rated age of the insured is determined

In the case of a policy providing an amount of insurance varying with duration of the policy the equivalent level amount thereof for the purpose of this subsection shall be deemed to be the level amount of insurance provided by an otherwise similar policy containing the same endowment benefit or benefits if any issued at the same age and for the same term the amount of which does not vary with duration and the benefits under which have the same present value at the inception of the insurance as the benefits under the policy

All adjusted premiums and present values referred to in this section shall be calculated on the basis of the Commissioners 1941 Standard Ordinary Mortality Table for Ordinary insurance and the 1941 Standard Industrial Mortality Table for Industrial insurance and the rate of interest not exceeding three and one-half per cent (3½%) per annum specified in the policy for calculating cash surrender values and paid-up non-forfeiture benefits Provided however that in calculating the present value of any paid-up term insurance with accompanying pure endowment if any offered as a non-forfeiture benefit the rates of mortality assumed may be not more than one hundred and thirty per cent (130%) of the rates of mortality according to such applicable table Provided further that for insurance issued on a substandard basis the calculation of any such adjusted premiums and present values may be based on such other table of mortality as may be specified by the company and approved by the Insurance Commissioner

(e) Any cash surrender value and any paid-up non-forfeiture benefit available under the policy in the event of default in a premium payment due at any time other than on the policy anniversary shall be calculated with allowance for the lapse of time and the payment of fractional premiums beyond the last preceding policy anniversary All values referred to in subsections (b) (c) and (d) may be calculated upon the assumption that any death benefit is payable at the end of the policy year of death The net value of any paid-up additions other than paid-up term additions shall be not less than the dividends used to provide such additions Nothwithstanding the provisions of subsection (b) additional benefits payable (i) in the event of death or dismemberment by accident or accidental means (ii) in the event of total and permanent disability (iii) as reversionary annuity or deferred reversionary annuity benefits (iv) as decreasing term insurance benefits provided by a rider or supplemental policy provision to which if issued as a separate policy this section would not apply and (v) as other policy benefits additional to life insurance and endowment benefits and premiums for all such additional benefits shall be disregarded in ascertaining cash surrender values and non-forfeiture benefits required by this section and no such additional benefits shall be required to be included in any paid-up non-forfeiture benefits

(f) This section shall not apply to any reinsurance group insurance pure endowment annuity or reversionary annuity contract nor to any term policy of uniform amount or renewal thereof of fifteen years or less expiring before age sixty-six for which uniform premiums are payable during the entire term of the policy nor to any term policy of decreasing amount on which each adjusted premium calculated as specified in subsection (d) is less than the adjusted premium so calculated on such fifteen year term policy issued at the same age and for the same initial amount of insurance nor to any policy which shall be delivered outside this Commonwealth through an agent or other representative of the company issuing the policy

(g) After the effective date of this act any company may file with the Insurance Commissioner a written notice of its election to comply with the provisions of this section after a specified date After the filing of such notice then upon such specified date (which shall be the operative date for such company) this section shall become operative with respect to the policies and contracts thereafter issued by such company provided however that the operative date for every life insurance company except a limited life insurance company shall not in any event be later than January first nineteen hundred and forty-eight

(h) This Section shall be known as the Standard Non-forfeiture Law

Section 3 Section four hundred twenty C (420C) of said act which section was added by section one (1) of the act approved the twenty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 769) is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 420C Uniform Industrial Policy Provisions From and after the first day of January nineteen hundred and thirty-eight no policy of Industrial Insurance shall be issued or delivered to take effect in this Commonwealth or be issued by a life insurance company organized under the laws of this Commonwealth unless the same shall contain in substance the following provisions

(a) A provision that the insured is entitled to a grace of four (4) weeks within which the payment of any premium after the first may be made expect that where premiums are payable monthly the insured shall be entitled to a grace of one month or 30 days During such period of grace the policy shall continue in full force but in case the policy becomes a claim during said grace period before the overdue premiums are paid the amount of overdue premiums may be deducted in any settlement under the policy

(b) A provision that the policy shall constitute the entire contract between the parties but if the company desires to make the application a part of the contract it may do so provided a copy of such application shall be endorsed upon or attached to the policy when issued and in such case the policy shall contain a provision that the policy and the application therefor shall constitute the entire contract between the parties

(c) A provision that the policy shall be incontestable after it has been in force during the life-time of the insured two years from its date of issue except for non-payment of premium and except for violation of the conditions of the policy relating to naval or military service in time of war and except as to provisions and conditions relating to benefits in the event of total and permanent disability and those granting additional insurance specifically against death by accident

(d) A provision that if the age of the insured has been misstated the amount payable under the policy shall be such as the premium would have purchased at the correct age

(e) A provision that the policy shall participate in the surplus of the company and that the company will annually determine the portion of any divisible surplus accruing on the policy and indicating the conditions under which the company shall apportion such dividends to the policyholder

(f) A provision for a non-forfeiture benefit and cash surrender value

(1) In the case of any policy issued prior to the operative date of section four hundred and ten A of this act (the Standard Non-forfeiture Law) a non-forfeiture benefit shall be available [that] in event of default in premium payments after premiums have been paid for three full years [there] and shall be [available] a stipulated form of insurance effective from the due date of the defaulted premium the net value of which stipulated form of insurance shall not be less than the reserve on the policy (exclusive of reserves if any for provisions relating to benefits in the event of specific types of disability or provisions granting additional insurance specifically against death by accident and for provisions granting other benefits in addition to life insurance) at the end of the last completed quarter of the policy year for which premiums have been paid and on any dividend additions thereto if any (the policy to specify the mortality table and rate of interest and also the method of valuation if other than net level premium adopted for computing such reserve) less a specified maximum percentage (not more than two and one-half) of the maximum face amount insured by the policy and of dividend additions thereto if any and less any existing indebtedness to the company on or secured by the policy Provided however That the said percentage or other rule of calculation so stated as to permit determination of the values shall be specified for each year for which required values are not included in the policy And provided a company may in lieu of the provision herein permitted for the deduction from the reserve of a sum not more than two and one-half per centum of the maximum face amount insured by the policy and of any dividend additions thereto insert in the policy a provision that a deduction of one-fifth of said reserve may be made or said two and one-half per centum of the maximum face amount insured or one-fifth of said reserve at the option of the company Provided further That after premiums have been paid for five full years the policy may be surrendered to the company at its home office within four weeks of the due date of the defaulted premium for a specific cash value at least equal to the sum which would otherwise be available for the purchase of insurance as aforesaid And provided further That the company may defer payment of such cash value for not more than six months after application therefor is made In the event that such cash or other non-forfeiture value is not requested within the required period it shall be provided that a stipulated form of insurance shall automatically become effective

(2) In the case of any policy issued on or after the operative date of section four hundred and ten A of this act (the Standard Non-forfeiture Law) a non-forfeiture benefit and cash surrender value shall be provided in accordance with said section

(g) A table showing in figures the non-forfeiture options available under the policy at the end of each year upon default in premium payments during the premium payment period but not to exceed the first twenty (20) years of the policy [such table to begin with the year in which such values become available] and providing that the company will furnish upon request an extension of such table beyond the years shown in the policy

(h) A provision that the policy if not surrendered for its cash value or if the period of extended insurance has not expired may be reinstated within one year from the date of default in payment of premiums upon payment of all overdue premiums and the payment or reinstatement of any other indebtedness to the company upon said policy and at the option of the company interest thereon at a rate not to exceed six per centum per annum and upon the presentation of evidence satisfactory to the company of the insurability of the insured

(i) A provision that when a policy shall become a claim by the death of the insured settlement shall be made upon receipt of due proof of death

(j) A form number and title on the face of the policy clearly and correctly describing its form

Any such policy may be issued or delivered in this Commonwealth which in the opinion of the Insurance Commissioner contains provisions on any one or more of the several foregoing requirements more favorable to the policy holder than hereinbefore required The policies of an insurance company organized under the laws of any other state or foreign government may contain when issued in this Commonwealth any provision which may be prescribed by the laws of the state or government under which the company is organized not contrary to the provisions heretofore prescribed and the policies of a life insurance company organized under the laws of this Commonwealth when issued in any other state territory or foreign country may contain any provision required by the laws of such state territory or foreign country to be contained in the policies issued therein

Any of the foregoing provisions or parts thereof not applicable to non-participating [or term] policies shall to that extent not be incorporated therein and the provisions of this section shall not apply to policies issued or granted pursuant to the non-forfeiture provisions prescribed in subsection (f) of this section

Section 5 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1945. 136th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 29. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, APRIL 10, 1945. No. 42.

SENATE

TUESDAY, April 10, 1945.

The Senate met at 3:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern War Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

PRAYER

In the absence of the Chaplain prayer was offered by the gentleman from Butler, Senator CARR.

We acknowledge Thee as our God and as our Creator and as our Father; all that we have is the gift of Thy hand. We ask Thy blessing upon these gifts of ours. Oh God, bless our nation and those allied with her in its great struggle. Bless our state and those in places of authority in it. Bless us as we shall try to do Thy will with the work committed to our hands.

We ask it in Christ's name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. HEYBURN and Mr. THOMAS, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Mr. WADE. I am pleased to report Mr. President, all Republican members are present and accounted for.

VISITORS INTRODUCED TO SENATE

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, we are favored today with the presence of some thirty visitors from the ninth and tenth grades of the West Fairview High School, Cumberland County.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair welcomes your future constituents and hopes they will all vote for you. The Chair can not recommend too highly the distinguished Senator from Cumberland.

Boys and girls of the ninth and tenth grades of the West Fairview High School, the Senate welcomes you.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair also welcomes to the Senate some lovely ladies, including Mrs. Guthrie, of the Ogontz Junior College, Montgomery County who, if you will look above, will dazzle you with their loveliness.

FELICITATIONS EXTENDED TO SENATOR HENRY I. WILSON

The PRESIDENT. The Senate also is honored because today is the birthday of a Senator who has the longest service in the House and Senate of any member of Pennsylvania, one of the most conscientious and able Senators we have, and the Chair is sure the Senate would like Senator Henry I. Wilson to stand up and take a bow.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced presented communication in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which was read as follows:

APPROVED AND SIGNED
SENATE BILL No. 115, PRINTER'S No. 135

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 10, 1945.

L. 1987) entitled "An act to preserve and improve the purity of the waters of the Commonwealth for the protection of public health animal and aquatic life and for industrial consumption and recreation empowering and directing the creation of indebtedness or the issuing of non-debt revenue bonds by political subdivisions to provide works to abate pollution providing protection of water supply providing for the jurisdiction of courts magistrates aldermen and justices of the peace in the enforcement thereof and providing additional remedies for abating pollution of waters imposing certain penalties and repealing certain acts" by changing the definitions of "establishment" and "industrial waste" by changing penalties for violations and requiring prosecutions to be instituted or approved by the Attorney General by prohibiting the discharge of silt into any waters of the Commonwealth and regulating the discharge of acid mine drainage into waters thereof authorizing the Sanitary Water Board to establish standards of purity and to determine the time for compliance with the provisions of the act in certain cases and requiring the Board's approval of plans for opening reopening or extending coal mines by authorizing the acquisition by purchase or condemnation or otherwise by the Sanitary Water Board of easements or right of ways and the acquisition or construction of pipes conduits drains or tunnels and pumps and pumping equipment and providing for the payment of the costs thereof by the Commonwealth

Section 1 The title of the act approved the twenty-second day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1987) entitled "An act to preserve and improve the purity of the waters of the Commonwealth for the protection of public health animal and aquatic life and for industrial consumption and recreation empowering and directing the creation of indebtedness or the issuing of non-debt revenue bonds by political subdivisions to provide works to abate pollution providing protection of water supply providing for the jurisdiction of courts, magistrates aldermen and justices of the peace in the enforcement thereof and providing additional remedies for abating pollution of waters imposing certain penalties and repealing certain acts" is hereby amended to read as follows

An Act to preserve and improve the purity of the waters of the Commonwealth for the protection of public health animal and aquatic life and for industrial consumption and recreation empowering and directing the creation of indebtedness or the issuing of non-debt revenue bonds by political subdivisions to provide works to abate pollution providing protection of water supply providing for the jurisdiction of courts magistrates aldermen and justices of the peace in the enforcement thereof requiring the approval of the Attorney General for prosecutions thereunder [and] providing additional remedies for abating pollution of waters imposing certain penalties and repealing certain acts authorizing the acquisition by purchase or condemnation or otherwise of easements and right of ways the acquisition or construction of pipes conduits drains or tunnels by the Sanitary Water Board and providing for payment of part of the costs thereof by the Commonwealth authorizing the Sanitary Water Board to establish standards of purity and to determine the time for compliance with certain provisions of the act in certain cases and making it unlawful to open reopen or extend any coal mine without prior approval by the Sanitary Water Board

Section 2 Section one of said act is hereby amended as follows

Section 7 Said act is hereby amended by adding after section three hundred ten thereof three new sections to be known as sections three hundred eleven three hundred twelve and three hundred thirteen to read as follows

Section 311 Authorizing the Sanitary Water Board to Acquire Easements and Right of Ways by Purchase or Condemnation or otherwise Whenever in the opinion of the Sanitary Water Board the pollution of acid mine drainage of waters which were "clean waters" on or subsequent to the first day of January one thousand nine hundred forty-four can be prevented by diverting the discharge of acid mine drainage into polluted or unclean waters the Sanitary Water Board with the approval of the Governor and the Attorney General is hereby authorized and empowered in the public interest to acquire by purchase or eminent domain or otherwise easements or right of ways over under or through lands to be used for the transportation and diversion of the discharge of acid mine drainage into such polluted or unclean waters In such cases the Commonwealth shall pay the cost of the acquisition of such easements and right of ways and of such pipes conduits drains or tunnels and such pumps and pumping equipment as may be necessary or proper to transport and divert such acid mine drainage after it has been delivered to the pipes conduits drains or tunnels aforesaid and of the operation and maintenance thereof including such pumping of the drainage as may be necessary

Section 312 Condemnation Proceedings The Sanitary Water Board is hereby empowered to acquire by purchase or condemnation easements and right of ways for the purposes hereinbefore set forth

Whenever a reasonable price cannot be agreed upon or whenever the owner is legally incapacitated or is absent or is unable to convey valid title or is unknown the Sanitary Water Board in accordance with the provisions of this act is hereby authorized and empowered to acquire by condemnation easements and right of ways deemed necessary or convenient to dispose of acid mine drainage so as to prevent the same from entering any clean waters of the Commonwealth in the manner hereinafter provided In such event application shall be made by the Sanitary Water Board acting through the Department of Justice or by the owner or owners to the court of common pleas of the county in which the property is located or in the case of property on the boundary line between two or more counties then in any such counties for the appointment of viewers Whereupon said court or any law judge thereof shall appoint three disinterested freeholders to view such property and estimate the value thereof None of the freeholders shall be a resident of the county wherein such application shall be made The court shall fix a time not less than twenty nor more than thirty days thereafter when the viewers shall meet upon the property and view the same The viewers shall cause at least ten days' personal notice of the time and place of such meeting to be given to the Attorney General or to the owner or owners if resident within said county If the owner is a corporation such notice shall be given to the president secretary or treasurer thereof if such officer resides within said county If neither owner nor any of such officers reside within the county or cannot be found therein or is unknown notice of such first meeting shall be given as the court may direct The viewers having been duly sworn or affirmed faithfully and impartially to perform the duties required of them under the provisions of this act shall at the time fixed for the first meeting proceed to ascertain as accurately as may be the value of such easements or right of ways and to that end may require the attendance of any person whose testimony may be pertinent thereto and production of any such books or papers as the viewers may deem necessary If any person shall refuse to appear and testify before such viewers or refuse to produce such books and papers when they are required then the court or any judge thereof shall on application of the viewers or a quorum thereof make such order therein as may be necessary Whenever the viewers shall have ascertained the value of the easements or right of ways they shall prepare a full report of their labors Upon the completion of the report the viewers shall fix a time when they shall meet and exhibit same Ten days' written notice of the time and place of such meeting together with a copy of said report shall be given to the chairman of the board to the Attorney General and to the owner or owners of the property condemned At the time and place mentioned in such notice the viewers shall meet and publicly exhibit the report and hear all exceptions thereto After making any changes in such report as they may deem necessary the same shall be filed in the court Within thirty days after the filing of the report in the court the board acting through the Department of Justice or any person interested may file exceptions thereto Whereupon the court may confirm the report absolutely or modify it or refer it back to the same or to any viewers with like powers and duties of the former viewers Within thirty days after final action on the report by the court the board acting through the Department of Justice or any person interested may demand a trial by jury From the action of the court on exceptions or from any judgment after a jury trial an appeal may be taken by any party to the Supreme or Superior Court Each of the viewers shall receive a sum not exceeding ten dollars ($10.00) for each day actually and necessarily employed in the performance of the duties herein prescribed and all necessary expenses actually incurred in the performance of his duties Title to any property condemned by the board shall be taken in the name of the Commonwealth

In addition to the foregoing powers the board and its authorized agents and employes may enter upon any lands waters and premises in the State for the purpose of making surveys soundings drillings and examinations as it may deem necessary or convenient for the purpose of this act and such entry shall not be deemed a treaspass

Whenever the board decides to acquire any such easements or right of ways by condemnation as hereinbefore provided the board shall have the right to immediate possession of the property which is the subject matter of the condemnation proceedings and may enter thereon If the owner lessee or occupier of any of said premises shall refuse to remove his personal property therefrom or give up possession thereof the board may proceed to obtain possession in the manner now provided by law Whenever the Commonwealth shall provide pipes conduits drains or tunnels to transport and divert acid mine drainage such acid mine drainage shall be delivered to such pipes conduits drains or tunnels at the place or location designated by the Sanitary Water Board after consultation with the Department of Mines and the person or persons operating the mine

Section 313 Approval of Plans of Drainage Before any existing or new coal mine may be opened or reopened and before any existing coal mine may be continued in operation of plan of the proposed drainage and disposal of industrial wastes and acid mine drainage of such mine shall be submitted to the Sanitary Water Board and it shall be unlawful to open or reopen any such mine or to continue the operation of any mine or to change or alter any already approved plan of drainage and disposal of industrial wastes and acid mine drainage from such mine unless and until the Board after consultation with the Department of Mines has approved such plan or change of plan Provided however that this section shall not apply to the continuation of the operation of an existing mine until sixty (60) days after the effective date of this act

Section 8 This act shall take effect immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President and members of the Senate, I think I made my position very clear yesterday on this bill. I have studied this bill very carefully and have come to one conclusion. I do not lay claim to any prophetic wisdom but I predict, when and if this bill in its present form becomes law, it will come back to haunt us. I might properly term this bill as a stream pollution bill instead of a stream clearance bill, and hence I shall vote "no".

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the House is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 223, as follows:

An Act to further amend the act approved the ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 343) entitled "An act relating to the finances of the State government providing for the settlement assessment collection and lien of taxes bonus and all other accounts due the Commonwealth the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commonwealth auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth and imposing penalties affecting every department board commission and officer of the State government every political subdivision of the State and certain officers of such subdivisions every person association and corporation required to pay assess or collect taxes or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes or to pay license fees or other moneys to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth" and known as The Fiscal Code by authorizing the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to petition for a resettlement of claims against the Commonwealth by the Auditor General and State Treasurer and to petition for a review of settlements by the Board of Finance and Revenue and to appeal from the decisions of the Board of Finance and Revenue to the court of common pleas of Dauphin County

Section 1 Section one thousand four of the act approved the ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 343) entitled "An act relating to the finances of the State government providing for the settlement assessment collection and lien of taxes bonus and all other accounts due the Commonwealth the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commonwealth auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth and imposing penalties affecting every department board commission and officer of the State government every political subdivision of the State and certain officers of such subdivisions every person association and corporation required to pay assess or collect taxes or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes or to pay license fees or other moneys to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth" is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 1004 Set-offs in Settlement of Claims Against the Commonwealth It shall be the duty of the Auditor General and State Treasurer in the settlement of accounts of persons having claims against the Commonwealth to ascertain from the Department of Revenue whether such persons are indebted to the Commonwealth and if so to secure the amount so due or as much thereof as the claim of the Commonwealth may amount to as shown by the settlement made by the Department of Revenue Any person feeling himself aggrieved by the settlement made by the Auditor General and State Treasurer or by the settlement made by the Department of Revenue and deducted from his claim may proceed as in other cases to file a petition for resettlement a petition for review and an appeal but if he feels aggrieved both by the action of the Auditor General and State Treasurer and of the Department of Revenue his petition for review filed with the Board of Finance and Revenue and his appeal to the courts shall consolidate all questions which he desires to raise

In the event of the failure to deduct such indebtedness or any part thereof the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania may file a petition for resettlement a petition for review of such settlement or resettlement by the Board of Finance and Revenue and an appeal from the decision of the Board of Finance and Revenue to the court of common pleas of Dauphin County

Section 2 Section one thousand one hundred two of said act as last amended by the act approved the seventh day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 229) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 1102 Petition for Resettlement within ninety (90) days after the date upon which the copy of any settlement was mailed to the party with whom or with which the settlement was made such party or the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania may file with the department which made it a petition for resettlement

Every petition for resettlement shall fully state the reasons which the petitioner believes entitle him or it to such resettlement

It shall be the duty of the department with which the petition was filed within six (6) months after the date of any settlement to dispose of any petition for resettlement

In the case of petitions for resettlement filed with the Department of Revenue the disposition of the petition shall be subject to the approval of the Department of the Auditor General as in the case of original settlements and if the two departments shall be unable to agree the case shall be submitted to the Board of Finance and Revenue by the Department of Revenue The Board of Finance and Revenue shall decide every such case within three (3) months from the date of the submission thereof and in case of its failure to reach a decision within such period the disposition of the Department of Revenue shall automatically become valid and the Board of Finance and Revenue shall immediately return to the Department of Revenue all of the papers appertaining to the case

In the case of petitions for resettlement filed with the Department of the Auditor General the petition shall be disposed of by the joint action of that department and of the Treasury Department as in the case of original settlements

Notice of the action taken upon any petition for a resettlement shall be given to the petitioner promptly after the date of resettlement by the department with which the petition was filed

Section 3 Section one thousand one hundred three of said act as last amended by the act approved the seventh day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 229 is further amended to read as follows

Section 1103 Petition to Board of Finance and Revenue for Review Within sixty days after the date of mailing of notice by the Department of Revenue or of the Auditor General of the action taken on any petition for a resettlement filed with it the party with whom the settlement was made or the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania may by petition request the Board of Finance and Revenue to review such action

Every petition for review filed hereunder shall state specifically the reasons upon which the petitioner relies The petition shall be supported by affidavit that it is not made for the purpose of delay and that the facts therein set forth are true If the petitioner be a corporation joint-stock association or limited partnership the affidavit must be made by one of the principal officers thereof

The Board of Finance and Revenue shall dispose of such petitions filed with it within ninety (90) days after they have been received and in the event of the failure of the Board of Finance and Revenue to dispose of any such petition within ninety (90) days the action taken upon the petition for resettlement shall be deemed sustained

The Board of Finance and Revenue may sustain the action taken on the petition for resettlement or it may resettle the account upon such basis as is shall deem according to law and equity

Notice of the action of the Board of Finance and Revenue shall be given by mail or otherwise to all departments involved and to the petitioner

Section 4 Section one thousand one hundred four of said act as last amended by the act approved the seventh day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 229) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 1104 Appeal to Courts Any person association corporation public officer or other debtor or the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania aggrieved by the decision of the Board of Finance and Revenue or by the board's failure to act upon his or its petition for review within ninety (90) days may within sixty (60) days appeal to the court of common pleas of Dauphin County from the decision of the Board of Finance and Revenue or from the decision of the Department of Revenue or of the Department of the Auditor General as the case may be The said sixty (60) day period shall begin to run (a) From the end of the ninety (90) day period where the board fails to act or (b) from the date of mailing of notice of the refusal of the petition for review or (c) from the date of mailing by the Department of Revenue of the certification of a resettlement where the board has made a resettlement Such appeal shall be in such form as shall be prescribed by the rules of the court of common pleas of Dauphin County All such appeals shall be lodged with the prothonotary of the court of common pleas of Dauphin County and a conformed copy thereof indicating the date on which it was filed shall be forwarded immediately to the Department of Justice

Every such appeal shall be accompanied with a specification of objections to the settlement resettlement or other decision as the case may be and the party appealing other than the Commonwealth shall enter sufficient security before one of the judges of the court of common pleas of Dauphin County within sixty (60) days next after the filing of the appeal with the clerk to prosecute the appeal with effect to pay all costs and charges which the court shall award and any sum of money which shall appear by the judgment of the court to be due by such party to the Commonwealth

The party appealing shall file with every such appeal an affidavit containing the specification of objections and stating that the appeal is not taken for delay but because appellant believes injustice has been done by the settlement or resettlement or other decision appealed from and that the facts set forth therein are true to the best of affiant's knowledge and belief If a corporation limited partnership or joint-stock association is the party appellant such affidavit shall be taken by one of its chief officers

Appeals taken hereunder shall be hearings de novo but no facts shall be admitted in evidence that were not brought to the attention of the department making the settlement or in the application for resettlement or petition for review prior to the appeal and set forth in the specification of objections contained in the affidavit accompanying the appeal unless the court shall be satisfied that the appellant was unable by the exercise of reasonable diligence to have laid such evidence before the department making the settlement and the Board of Finance and Revenue and no questions shall be raised which are not included in the specification of objections filed as hereinbefore provided

From the judgment of the court of common pleas of Dauphin County an appeal may be taken by either party as in other cases

Section 5 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment and shall apply to all proceedings pending at the time of its final enactment as well as to proceedings begun thereafter

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same without amendments.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 479, as follows:

An Act to enable domestic stock and mutual insurance companies to comply with the taxing statutes and to relieve officers directors and trustees of domestic stock and mutual insurance companies of personal liability by reason of the payment or determination not to contest payment of any license excise privilege premium occupation or other fee or tax imposed by any State or political subdivision thereof

Section 1 The provisions of this act shall apply to domestic stock and mutual insurance companies and to the officers directors and trustees of domestic stock or mutual insurance companies

Section 2 Every domestic stock and mutual insurer shall have power to comply with any statute ordinance or other law of any State territory or political subdivision thereof (including the District of Columbia) imposing any license excise privilege premium occupation or other fee or tax and to pay such fee or tax unless prior to such payment such statute ordinance or other law shall have been expressly held invalid by the State court having final appellate jurisdiction in the premises or by the Supreme Court of the United States

Section 3 No officer director or trustee of any domestic stock or mutual insurance company shall be subject to any personal liability by reason of any payment or determination not to contest payment of any license excise privilege premium occupation or other fee or tax to any State territory or political subdivision thereof (including the District of Columbia) deemed by the officers directors or trustees to be in the corporate interests of such insurer unless prior to such payment the statute ordinance or other law imposing such fee or tax shall have been expressly held invalid by the State court having final appellate jurisdiction in the premises or by the Supreme Court of the United States

Section 4 This act shall be applicable to acts done and payments made subsequent to the fifth day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-four Provided however That nothing contained herein shall be construed as directly or indirectly limiting minimizing or interpreting the rights and powers of insurers and their officers directors and trustees heretofore existing

Section 5 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

Section 6 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, will the sponsor of Senate Bill No. 479 permit himself to be interrogated?

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Northumberland permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TROUTMAN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, in the fourth section of the bill the date June 5, 1944 appears, and I ask the gentleman from Northumberland how that date was determined?

Mr. TROUTMAN. Mr. President, that date, I believe, has been fixed due to the date upon which the tax is payable.

Mr. WOODRING. I further desire to interrogate the gentleman from Northumberland.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Northumberland permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. TROUTMAN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WOODRING. Will the gentleman from Northumberland tell us whether he thinks that is the date on which it was payable or does the gentleman know that?

Mr. TROUTMAN. I can not say that with certainty, Mr. President. The bill is so framed that it provides no personal liability for an officer or director of a domestic insurance company who agrees to pay a state tax. This is brought about, of course, through the Southeastern Underwriters case before the United States Supreme Court, which held insurance to be interstate commerce. The Congress of the United States passed a bill by which they have permitted the states to continue to regulate the subject of insurance.

There are some companies that are wondering about the constitutionality of that bill. The purpose of the bill is to permit the state to collect this money from the insurance companies. It will mean a whole lot to the state of Pennsylvania. The date as fixed, of course, provides for business that will end on the fifth day of June, 1945.

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, does the gentleman mean 1945 or 1944?

Mr. TROUTMAN. Mr. President, the tax is payable in 1945, as I understand.

Mr. WOODRING. The date in the bill is 1944.

Mr. TROUTMAN. It is subsequent to June 1944.

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President and members of the Senate, I have nothing against this bill. By the nature of its language I am confident that it is a white-wash bill to permit some boards of directors or officers of insurance companies to be freed from liability. We have passed such bills before.

We realize in the Senate that we must temper our lawmaking with a certain degree of justice and mercy and if some insurance companies and their boards of directors are in difficulty, I am perfectly willing to vote for this bill, but I think in those cases we ought to know the facts concerning the history of the framing of the bill.

Mr. TROUTMAN. The decision of the Supreme Court, as I understand it, is dated June 5, 1944, and it is tax subsequent to that date, and that is the reason for that date in this bill. There is no intention of whitewashing, but it is the intention of the bill to see that the state is paid its tax, and if we do not pass some legislation, many of the insurance companies will not pay this tax.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I think the gentleman from Northampton is somewhat confused in his interpretation of this bill.

As most of you already know the Federal Government moved in on the Southeastern Underwriters about two years ago and brought up the matter of whether or not insurance as a business was interstate commerce. On June 5, 1944, the Supreme Court of the United States ruled that it was, and subsequent to that time the federal government passed an act which said that it was not. However, that is not at issue at the moment.

The question is now affecting the sum of $16,525,356 of anticipated state revenue, which comes from the premium tax for foreign life insurance companies and foreign fire insurance companies and foreign casualty companies, and a few other insurance companies which are not domiciled within the state; this question has been brought up by these taxpayers who are foreign corporations. They refuse to pay the tax if the Supreme Court decision is to hold, and it is now a matter for state determination and they have said in substance to the state of Pennsylvania that unless the state of Pennsylvania will pass a law exempting them from surcharge they will not continue to pay this tax to the state of Pennsylvania, and that is the reason for this bill that we are now considering.

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, I think that the gentleman from Cumberland was correct in his first statement, when he said the gentleman from Northampton was confused. I am not satisfied with the statement of either of the gentlemen on the other side, that this will permit or even assist the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in receiving any taxes.

Our tax laws are one thing, and if the companies, be they local or foreign, refuse to pay the tax, we have proper procedure on our statute books whereby this tax will be collected. This bill has nothing to do with the payment of taxes. What this bill does is to say that the officers and directors of insurance companies which pay the tax will be freed from surcharge. That one statement of the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, I agree with. That is what this bill does. It frees the individual from surcharge, and instead of drawing the bill in the ordinary manner and saying it shall be effective from the date of enactment, it says it shall be effective from June 5, 1944, D-Day minus one.

But there is some reason for it, and I still think it is a whitewash bill and we are cleaning somebody's skirts. I am willing to vote for it and help clean those skirts, but I think we ought to know the true facts in the case.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I for one, and I think that would apply to every other member on the Republican side of this Senate, do not want to vote for this bill under the stigma cast by the gentleman from Northampton. Therefore, Mr. President, I should like to interrogate the gentleman from Northampton.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Northampton consent to be interrogated?

Mr. WOODRING. I will.

Mr. WADE. I would like to ask the gentleman from Northampton if he is familiar with the Supreme Court's decision saying that insurance is interstate commerce?

Mr. WOODRING. I am, and with the visit of the gentleman from Cumberland to Washington concerning that decision.

Mr. WADE. I would like to ask another question, Mr. President. Is the gentleman from Northampton aware of the fact that if insurance is interstate commerce, the state of Pennsylvania would not have authority to levy a tax against these foreign insurance companies?

Mr. WOODRING. I am.

Mr. WADE. Therefore, if these insurance companies continue to pay this tax, are not the officers and directors of the insurance companies liable for paying an obligation which the United States Supreme Court has said is not a rightful obligation for them to pay, even though it has been their customary practice to pay it. Is that correct?

Mr. WOODRING. I am prompted to say yes and no. I understand the Supreme Court has changed that decision and that it is not now considered as interstate commerce.

Mr. WADE. I beg to differ, Mr. President.

Mr. WOODRING. I should say, act of Congress.

Mr. WADE. I think this confusion is being created, first, because the action has been brought by the Attorney General of the United States against the Southeastern Underwriters, and in determining that case the United States Superem Court said that insurance is interstate commerce, but the act passed by the Federal Congress has nothing whatever to do with our discussion today, even though that was subsequent to this same problem we are now discussing.

We are at the moment in this position; these companies are being taxed under our present existing laws in the state of Pennsylvania, but they say, since this decision by the court, they have no right to further pay that tax and therefore will not pay it, if there is a possibility that they, as officers and directors of an insurance company, will be surcharged later for the payment of that tax to the state of Pennsylvania.

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 591, as follows:

An Act to amend the act approved the seventeenth day of July one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (P. L. 1092) entitled "An act defining fraternal benefit societies and their status authorizing such societies to create subordinate lodges and to pay benefits to members and their beneficiaries from funds collected and regulating such benefits and collections providing for the organization and incorporation of such societies and for their supervision regulation and examination by the Insurance Commissioner and for the admission of foreign societies designating tables of mortality as a basis for rates of contributions requiring all societies to make annual and other reports and appointing the Insurance Commissioner as attorney for service of process providing penalties for any violations of the act exempting such societies from taxation and certain other societies from its provisions and requiring beneficial associations other than fraternal benefit societies to report to and be supervised by the Insurance Commissioner and repealing existing laws" by authorizing the bringing of suits against domestic fraternal benefit societies in counties in which they maintain subordinate lodges and where claimant resides and providing for the service of process on the Insurance Commissioner as attorney therefore

Section 1 To amend the act approved the seventeenth day of July one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (P. L. 1092) entitled "An act defining fraternal benefit societies and their status authorizing such societies to create subordinate lodges and to pay benefits to members and their beneficiaries from funds collected and regulating such benefits and collections providing for the organization and incorporation of such societies and for their supervision regulation and examination by the Insurance Commissioner and for the admission of foreign societies designating tables of mortality as a basis for rates of contribution requiring all societies to make annual and other reports and appointing the Insurance Commissioner as attorney for service of process providing penalties for any violations of the act exempting such societies from taxation and certain other societies from its provisions and requiring beneficial associations other than fraternal benefit societies to report to and be supervised by the Insurance Commissioner and repealing existing laws" by adding immediately after section seventeen the following new sections

Section 17.1 In addition to any existing law Any fraternal benefit society organized or incorporated under the laws of this Commonwealth may be sued at law or in equity or in any other legal action or proceeding in any county where any claimant resides and where said fraternal benefit society has or maintains one or more subordinate lodges or branches and in any suit or action or any other legal proceedings so instituted service of process may be made upon the Insurance Commissioner

Section 17.2 Every such domestic fraternal society shall by a duly executed instrument filed in the office of the Insurance Commissioner constitute and appoint the Insurance Commissioner or his successor its true and lawful attorney upon whom all lawful processes may be served and therein shall agree that any lawful process against it which may be served upon him as its said attorney shall be of the same force and validity as if served on the society and that the authority shall continue in force irrevocable so long as any liability of the society remains outstanding in this Commonwealth

Section 17.3 The service of such process shall be made by registered mail or leaving copies of the same in duplicate in the hands or office of the commissioner at Harrisburg One copy of such instrument certified by the commissioner or his deputy as having been served upon him shall be deemed valid service upon the society

Section 17.4 When legal process is served upon the commissioner as attorney for a domestic fraternal benefit society he shall forthwith forward one of the duplicate copies of process served on him to its secretary or corresponding officer or to such other person as may have been previously designated by the society by written notice filed in the office of the commissioner As a condition of valid and effective service and of the duty of the commissioner in the premises the plaintiff in each such process shall pay to the commissioner at the time of service thereof the sum of two dollars which the said plaintiff shall recover as taxable costs if he prevails in the suit The commissioner shall keep a record of all such processes which shall show the day and hour of service

Section 2 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend Page 2, Line 13, by inserting after the word "person" and before the word "taps" the following "or without a subpoena issued by a court of competent jurisdiction or a demand by duly constituted legal authority."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I rise on a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny will proceed.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, what is the question now before the Senate?

The PRESIDENT. As the gentleman from Allegheny knows, it is customary for the Senate to pass bills without a voice vote which are amended. This amendment apparently is objected to by one or more Senators and therefore you have a right to vote first on the amendment, if you so desire, and then, if it is passed, on the section as amended, and then on the question of passage of the bill on third reading.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, do I understand that the bill will appear on tomorrow's final passage Calendar?

The PRESIDENT. That is right, if it passes today.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing on final passage.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, April 10, 1945.

The House met at 1:30 p. m.

The SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) in the Chair.

PRAYER

Rev. W. D. Krick, Pastor, Grace Evangelical Congregational Church, Steelton, Pa., a guest of the Chaplain, offered the following prayer:

Heavenly Father, rest our hearts and minds in Thee, the only true and loving God.

Save us from the selfish motives and the bitterness which is the result of selfishness.

Give us an ever present realization of hope which can only be found in Thy great presence.

May the time speedily come when we can find joy in service to Thee and our fellowmen.

Teach us brotherly love for all peoples, race, color and creed; help us to find satisfaction in living a life of helpfulness to others.

Bless all who are seeking to please Thee, in the living of the golden rule.

Bless the Governor, the members of the House, with their families.

Bless every man and woman in the armed forces, give them strength, and may peace soon come.

In Jesus' name we ask. Amen.

Section 35 Procedural Regulations Agencies shall have the power to promulgate regulations prescribing their practice with respect to adjudication procedure not inconsistent with the terms of this act The adoption of such regulations shall be subject to the provisions of sections twenty-one to twenty-four inclusive hereof

Judicial Review

Section 41 Appeals Within thirty days after the service of an adjudication (or if a petition for rehearing or reconsideration is filed pursuant to statutory authority then within thirty days after service of the order of the agency refusing such petition or of the order following rehearing or reconsideration) any person aggrieved thereby who has a direct interest in such adjudication shall have the right to appeal therefrom Such appeal shall be taken to the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County Parties interested jointly severally or otherwise in the same adjudication may join in an appeal therefrom even though all of the interested parties do not join therein

Section 42 Procedure on Appeal The procedure appliable to appeals from adjudications shall be in accordance with the rules of civil procedure promulgated from time to time by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania A party who proceeded before an agency under the terms of a particular statute shall not be precluded from questioning the validity of said statute in the appeal but such party may not raise upon appeal any other question not raised before the agency

The remedy at law provided by this section shall not in any manner impair the right to equitable relief heretofore existing and such right to equitable relief is hereby continued notwithstanding the provisions of this section

Section 43 Supersedeas Unless otherwise provided by a statute authorizing a particular appeal no appeal shall operate as a supersedeas unless the court to which the appeal is taken or a judge thereof shall so order after hearing Upon due notice to the agency The court may grant a supersedeas upon such terms and conditions including the filing of security as it may prescribe Where the statute pertaining to a particular subject of adjudication requires that security be filed as a condition to obtaining a supersedeas the court shall require adequate security

Section 44 Disposition of Appeal The court to which the appeal is taken shall hear the appeal without a jury on the record certified by the agency After hearing the court shall affirm the adjudication unless it shall find that the same is in violation of the constitutional rights of the appellant or is not in accordance with law or that the provisions of sections thirty-one to thirty-five inclusive of this act have been violated in the proceeding before the agency or that any finding of fact made by the agency and necessary to support its adjudication is not supported by substantial evidence If the adjudication is not affirmed the court may set aside or modilfy it in whole or in part or may remand the proceeding to the agency for further disposition in accordance with the order of the court

Section 45 Appellate Review The agency or any party affected by any decision of a court on an appeal from adjudication may within thirty days of the filing of such decision appeal to the Superior or Supreme Court as in other cases

Exemptions

Section 51 (a) None of the provisions of this act except sections twenty-one to twenty-four inclusive shall apply to proceedings before the Department of Revenue Auditor General Board of Finance and Revenue or Secretary of the Commonwealth involving the original settlement resettlement review or refund of taxes bonus interest or payments made into the State Treasury or judicial review of such proceedings The provisions of Sections 31 to 44 inclusive shall not apply to an adjudication of an agency from which an appeal to a court is provided by another statute or to an adjudication of an agency whose adjudication is provided by another statute as final

(b) Sections forty-one to forty-five inclusive of this act shall not apply to adjudications of the Banking Board or of the Building and Loan Board

(c) This act shall not apply to actions of the Secretary of Banking in the taking possession and liquidation of banking institutions and building and loan associations or to actions of the Insurance Commissioner in the taking possession and liquidation of insurance companies

Repealer

Section 55 All acts or parts thereof inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed All existing applicable statutory provisions not inconsistent with this act shall remain in full force and effect

Effective Date

Section 61 This act shall take effect on the first day of January one thousand nine hundred forty-six

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, for many sessions I have tried to do something about the rules and regulations. I find myself in the position of my colleague, Mr. Dix, who finds that they steal his bills. This piece of legislation to my mind is good. I tried for a number of sessions to have enacted some legislation with regard to rules and regulations, but I find that the Bar Association never did quite agree, but I am glad, as the fellow says, to accept half a loaf. These bills may not be to my liking one hundred percent, but they are a step in the right direction. I therefore ask that the Members of this House vote in favor of this stolen legislation.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to reply to the gentleman from Westmoreland, and state that I also request that the Members vote for this bill. There is honor among thieves.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

No person shall be entitled to damages by reason of such establishment of the ultimate width and lines of a State highway for future construction and where the Commonwealth by its proper authorities has improved or constructed or shall hereafter improve or construct such State highway and in so doing has taken or shall take a part only of the lands lying within the lines shown by such plan damages shall be allowed for and to the extent of such actual taking only Such taking shall be deemed to occur only when right of way plans or construction drawings prepared by the department showing thereon the right of way required for highway purposes and for slopes shall have been approved by the secretary and the Governor and filed as a public record in the office of the department

Section 209 Relocation without Limitation on Account of Terminal Points When the terminal point of one or more State highway routes is described as being at the boundary line of a county township municipality or adjoining state and the highway continues beyond such point the secretary shall have authority to relocate such State highway route or routes without limitation on account of such terminal point except that the new point of crossing of such line shall be properly referenced and shown on the plan by which the relocation is made When the terminal point of a State highway route is described as being on another highway the secretary shall have authority to relocate such highway route without limitation on account of such terminal point except that the new terminal point shall be on such other highway When two separate State highway routes with one common terminal point form a continuous highway the secretary shall have authority to relocate such State highway routes without limitation on account of such terminal point except that both the old and the new terminal points shall be shown on the plan by which the relocation is made

Section 210 Relocation etc Abandonment as State Highway Vacation The secretary is hereby empowered to change alter or establish the width lines location or grades of any State highway or any intersecting road in such manner as in his discretion may seem best in order to correct danger or inconvenience to the traveling public or lessen the cost to the Commonwealth in the construction reconstruction or maintenance thereof After the relocation has been opened to traffic the secretary by notice to the local authorities shall abandon as a State highway route or vacate the section of highway between the termini of the relocation Where the new route in the judgment of the secretary supplies and takes the place of any part of the old highway and such part is of a length of not more than two miles the secretary being of the opinion that such part is unnecessary for public use and travel or burdensome or dangerous and having due regard for the convenience of access to the new highway by the owners of property abutting on such part may at any time by written order declare such part to be vacated Thereafter the part so vacated shall be closed to public use and travel and shall no longer be a public road Before any change or order of vacation is made the secretary shall first submit a plan of the proposed change and any proposed order of vacation to the Governor and the same shall be approved by him and filed as a public record in the office of the department The approval of such plan or plans by the Governor shall be considered to be the condemnation of an easement for highway purposes from all property within the lines marked as required for right of way and the condemnation of an easement of support or protection from all property within the lines marked as required for slopes

Section 211 Use of Abandoned Canals and Railroad or Railway Rights of Way for Relocation of State Highways Whenever any abandoned canal or part thereof is no longer used for the purpose for which it was intended and is not used or occupied by a railroad or railway in actual operation or whenever any right of way of a railroad or railway has been abandoned or has not been used occupied or built upon for a period of two years or more and such canal or right of way extends in the same general direction in which a State highway is projected the secretary may take over any such canal or part thereof or any such railroad or railway right of way for the purpose of relocating such State highway and if a price therefor to be approved by the Governor can be agreed upon acquire the same or as much thereof as is needed in the name of the Commonwealth from the owners thereof If no such price can be agreed upon the canal or right of way or as much thereof as is needed shall be acquired by eminent domain under the procedure prescribed in Article three of this act

Section 212 Acquisition and Disposal of Certain Canals and Artificial Waterways The department may acquire by gift all or any part of the lands occupied by any canal or other artificial waterway constructed by the Commonwealth as a part of its public works and heretofore acquired directly or indirectly by any canal corporation organized and existing under the laws of this Commonwealth The department may thereafter sell or otherwise dispose of any portion of such lands not actually necessary for highway purposes upon such terms and conditions as the Governor may approve and deposit the proceeds in the Motor License Fund

Section 213 Acceptance of Canal Property Acquired by Department of Forests and Waters The secretary may in his discretion accept for the purposes of location relocation construction or reconstruction and maintenance and repair of highways and purposes incidental thereto any canal property acquired by the Secretary of Forests and Waters and by him transferred to the department Upon such transfer the Department of Forests and Waters shall be relieved of all control over or responsibility for such property

Section 214 Maintenance of Parts of Roads Abandoned as State Highways Vacation when not of Full Width Where any section of a State highway route shall be or has been relocated the portion of the public road or highway thus abandoned as a State highway route shall be maintained by and at the expense of the township borough incorporated town or city wherein it is located but the department shall in each case before abandoning such portion of public road or highway improve and repair the same so that it shall be in first class condition when it is taken over by the township borough incorporated town or city

Where the width lines or location of a State highway shall be or have been changed altered or established according to law in a manner which does not create an entirely new highway the section or sections or portions of the right of way of the highway as previously established which are not included within the changed altered or established widths shall be considered vacated if such portions or sections are not of the full width of the highway as previously established

Section 215 Power of Courts to Vacate Parts of Certain State Highways The courts of quarter sessions shall have power to inquire of and vacate any part or parts of any former State road or turnpike road which has been adopted as a State highway where such part or parts thereof due to the change or relocation of the State highway no longer form a part of such State highway Such vacation shall be in the same manner as in the case of the vacation of roads under the general road law

Section 216 Spurs and Branch Roads In constructing reconstructing repairing or maintaining any public highway taken over by the State as a State highway it shall be lawful to construct reconstruct repair and maintain a spur or branch road to such State highway in order to reach points named in the route of such State highway as taken over

Section 217 Connecting Roads between State Highways The secretary is hereby authorized to join two or more State highway routes in cities of the second class second class A and third class boroughs incorporated towns or townships or in any two or more of such political subdivisions by taking over or building a connecting road not more than one mile in length whenever such connecting road would lessen the distance between two points on separate routes or provide a better alignment or grade Such road when constructed or taken over shall become a State highway and subject to the laws relating to such highways

Any damage occasioned by the taking of land for the construction of any such connecting road shall be determined and paid as provided by Article three of this act

Section 218 Lengthening or Shortening Intersecting Routes to Conform to Relocations Where any section of any State highway route which contains the terminus of an intersecting State highway route has been or shall be relocated in such a manner that the terminus of the intersecting State highway route does not fall within the limits of the relocated route the secretary may lengthen or shorten such intersecting route so that its terminus falls within the limits of the relocated State highway route If the intersecting route is shortened and the portion thereof abandoned as a State highway by reason thereof is in the opinion of the secretary unnecessary for public use and travel the secretary may vacate said abandoned section When any State highway route is lengthened under the provisions of this section and property is taken thereby the damage shall be ascertained and paid as provided by Article three of this act

Section 219 Designation of Future Locations for Highways The secretary with the approval of the Governor may designate the future location and width of any proposed highway and continue to maintain the present highway until such time as the amount of traffic warrants the construction of the new highway designated and until such new highway has been completed and opened to traffic

Whenever the secretary shall establish the width and lines of any such highway he shall cause a plan thereof to be made showing the center line of said highway and the established width thereof and shall attach thereto his acknowledgment Thereupon such plan and acknowledgment shall be recorded in the office of the recorder of deeds of the proper county in a separate book kept for such purpose which shall be furnished to the recorder of deeds by the county commissioners at the expense of the county

No owner or occupier of lands buildings or improvements shall erect any building or make any improvements within the limits of any State highway the width and lines of which have been established and recorded as provided in this section and if any such erection or improvement shall be made no allowance shall be had therefor by the assessment of damages

Any damages sustained by the taking of private property under the provisions of this section for the construction of such highway shall be ascertained and paid as provided by Article three of this act

Section 220 Parallel Highways Establishment Control of Direction of Traffic When any State highway route or combination of State highway routes or portions thereof in the opinion of the secretary is inadequate for present or anticipated traffic and the cost of securing the right of way necessary for a highway of adequate design on the existing location would be unwarranted in the judgment of the secretary or the topography adjacent to the existing location is such that widening is impractical and the establishment and construction of a parallel highway together with the retention of the existing highway will provide ample width of highway for public use the secretary may establish construct and maintain a parallel or approximately parallel highway as a State highway in any township borough incorporated town or city or combination of such political subdivisions and retain the present highway as a part of the system of State highways A plan for the establishment and construction of such parallel or approximately parallel highway shall be prepared by the department signed by the secretary and approved by the Governor and filed as a public record in the department

The secretary may control the direction of the flow of traffic over parallel or approximately parallel highways established under the provisions of this section by the erection of approved one-way traffic signs at the beginning and ending of each parallel or approximately parallel highway and at the entrance of all roads highways alleys or streets connecting therewith

Damages occasioned by the taking of private property for the construction of parallel or approximately parallel State highways established under the provisions of this section shall be ascertained and paid as provided by Article three of this act

Section 221 Parallel Highways Taking over of Existing Roads and Streets Payments to Boroughs The secretary with the approval of the Governor is authorized to take over existing public roads and streets in cities boroughs and townships approximately parallel to State highways between any or all of the points named in the line or route of such State highway Any such road may intersect with or cross over the highway to which it is approximately parallel Any such road when taken over shall become a State highway and be subject to the laws relating to State highways except that in the case of parallel highways in cities and boroughs approval of the councils thereof shall be required for the relocation or change of the lines or widths thereof on for constructing and improving such parallel route wholly or in part on a new alignment

Whenever the secretary shall adopt any existing street parallel to any State highway in any borough as a State highway and such parallel street has been improved and constructed by the borough according to the standards of the department for the construction of streets forming parts of State highways and under plans prepared by the department the department shall reimburse the borough for the amount expended by such borough for the improvement and construction of such street to be determined by the councils of such borough and the department

Any damages sustained by any property owner in connection with the construction change of width or relocation of such road shall be ascertained and paid as provided by Article three of this act

Article III

Eminent Domain Ascertainment and Payment of Damages

Section 301 County to be Notified of Certain Improvements etc Before the department shall undertake the construction reconstruction or improvement of any State highway wherein a change of width or of existing lines and location is necessary and damage is likely to result to abutting property it shall notify the county commissioners of the proper county in writing of the contemplated change in such existing width lines and location After the county commissioners have agreed to such changes or refused to agree thereto as hereinafter provided the department may proceed with the work of construction reconstruction and improvement

Section 302 Fixing Amount of Damage Payment by County After the receipt of the notice as above provided the county commissioners if they approve such change of width or of existing lines and location and agree thereto in writing shall when possible enter into an agreement with the owner or owners of said property as to amount of damage to be paid to said owner or owners Whenever the amount so agreed upon shall exceed the sum of three hundred dollars ($300.00) the same shall not be paid by the county until the proposed agreement shall have been filed by the county commissioners in the office of the prothonotary of the county in which the property damaged is situated If no exceptions are filed thereto within ten (10) days after notice given by publication as hereinafter provided the county commissioners may pay the amount so agreed upon If exceptions thereto are filed within ten (10) days after such notice the proceedings shall be presented to the court of quarter sessions for its approval The court shall fix a time for hearing the matter at which time the parties to such agreement and any taxpayer interested therein and their witnesses shall be heard and the court shall either approve or disapprove the agreement as it deems proper If the court disapproves the agreement it shall indicate a sum which it would approve for such case if the county commissioners and the property owner could agree thereon In such cases if the property owner and the county commissioners agree on the amount of damages indicated by the court as acceptable to it such agreement may be entered into and shall be final and binding on the parties without any further approval by the court Notice of the filing of such agreement in the office of the prothonotary and of the time and place of hearing in all such cases shall be given by one publication in one or more newspapers of general circulation throughout the county which shall state that any taxpayer may file exceptions to the agreement or may appear at such hearing and be heard together with his witnesses as the case may be

Section 303 Assessment of Damages and Benefits Payment by County In case an agreement satisfactory to the county commissioners and said owner or owners cannot be made and the approval of the court thereto secured the owner or owners of said property damaged thereby or the commissioners of the proper county may present their petition to the court of quarter sessions for the appointment of viewers to ascertain and assess such damages as well as any benefits Such petitions shall be presented within six (6) years from the date of the approval by the Governor of the plan making the change but not thereafter

In assessing the damages the viewers shall take into consideration the advantages derived from such road passing through the land of the complainant The viewers shall make report in writing to the court of quarter sessions within the time fixed by the court in its decree appointing the viewers or such extention thereof as the court may allow At the end of thirty (30) days after the filing of the report if no exceptions thereto have been filed the report shall be confirmed absolute by the court without waiting until the next term of court If all parties in interest waive the thirty (30) day period before confirmation absolute and shall in writing agree to have the report of the viewers confirmed absolute at any time before the expiration of the thirty (30) day period the court may enter confirmation absolute accordingly The county commissioners or any other party to such proceedings may within thirty (30) days after the filing of the report of the viewers appeal from the award of the viewers to the court of common pleas and shall be entitled to a trial by jury From the judgment of the court of common pleas an appeal may be had to the Supreme Court as in other cases Such damages when ascertained shall be paid by the county in which the State highway is located

Section 304 Fixing or Assessment of Damages and Benefits Payment by Commonwealth Whenever the county commissioners do not consent to or approve any such change of width or of existing lines and location and the secretary determines such change to be necessary he shall when possible enter into an agreement with the owner or owners of said property as to the amount of damages to be paid therefor and if agreed upon such damages shall be paid by the Commonwealth out of moneys in the Motor License Fund If such agreement cannot be made the owner or owners of said property damaged thereby or the Commonwealth may present their or its petition to the court of quarter sessions for the appointment of viewers to ascertain and assesss such damage as well as any benefits within the same time in the same manner and with the same right of appeal to the owner or owners and to the Commonwealth as is hereinbefore provided in cases where the county agreed to such change The damages when ascertained shall be paid by the Commonwealth out of moneys in the Motor License Fund

Section 305 Damage by Change of Lines of Intersecting Roads Removal of Structures The county shall be liable for any damages sustained by abutting property owners for a change of the width or lines of roads intersecting State highways where such damages are made necessary as a result of the changing with their consent and approval of the width lines or location for the construction of a State highway Such damages shall be ascertained in the same manner as herein provided for damages occasioned as a result of the change with their consent and approval of width or of existing lines and location of State highways In case the commissioners shall not have consented to and approved such change of width or of existing lines or location then such damage shall be paid by the Commonwealth and shall be ascertained in the same manner as herein provided for damages for land taken as a result of the change of width or of existing lines and location of State highways without the consent and approval of the county commissioners Such damages shall be paid from the Motor License Fund

In all cases where the county commissioners have consented to and approved the change of width or of existing lines or location the county shall also provide for the removal of all structures within the lines of the highway as thus established unless otherwise provided by agreement between the county and the secretary In all other cases the Commonwealth shall provide for the removal of all such structures In case the same is to be done by the Commonwealth the cost thereof shall be paid out of the Motor License Fund

Section 306 Agreement by County to Assist in Payment of Damages If the county refuses to assume all damages in connection with the relocation or widening of any highway as hereinbefore provided the county commissioners and the secretary may thereafter agree that the county shall pay a portion thereof to either the owners or to the department or shall perform specified work for the benefit of the owner in lieu thereof or shall participate in the total damage expense in such other manner as may be agreed upon

Section 307 Property Damage in Elimination etc of Crossings where Construction Paid for by Federal Government In any case where the costs of construction in the elimination of a grade crossing or in the alteration or abolition of an existing overhead or undergrade crossing on a State highway route within any township or any borough are to be paid by the Federal Government the department in the discretion of the secretary may by written declaration filed with the Public Utility Commission assume and pay all or any part of the property damages for land or buildings thereon taken injured or destroyed in such elimination alteration or abolition

In such cases the secretary is hereby authorized to enter into agreements with counties townships boroughs and railroad companies for sharing all or any part of the property damages Any moneys received under the terms of such agreements shall be deposited in the Motor License Fund

Section 308 Procedure where Possession of Condemned

Property is Withheld Whenever the secretary with the approval of the Governor shall have condemned property for highway purposes either under the provisions of this act or of any future law and possession thereof is withheld a writ of possession may be issued by the court of common pleas of the county wherein the property condemned is situated on petition by the secretary or by the county commissioners for a rule returnable in ten (10) days to show cause why the writ shall not be issued Such writ shall be served by the sheriff upon the respondents named in the writ and upon all other persons found in possession of any occupied property structures and dwelling house taken in whole or in part by such condemnation The prothonotary shall add the names of such other persons as respondents after service of the writ If no answer is filed or if an answer is filed and after such hearing as the court shall direct it shall deem the same to be insufficient the court shall upon motion order and direct the sheriff of the county or his deputy to execute such writ and deliver possession to the Commonwealth or the county as the case may be The procedure outlined in this section shall not be considered as in derogation of or in any manner affecting any other powers or procedure possessed by the Commonwealth or county in such cases No bond or other form of security shall be required to be filed by the Commonwealth or the county

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. FISS. Mr. Speaker, I feel that because my name appears as sponsor of House Bill No. 411 that you should know the story back of this bill—one that I have been concerned with for many years. When I was a kid fifteen years old I threw stones in a stone crusher that helped to build the first state highway in Pennsylvania. I have always been proud of that fact.

Over a period of twenty-five years I was interested in working on state highways in Pennsylvania, in fact I think I could say we were pioneers in the highway building in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. This first road that I have reference to was built in 1904, even prior to the Sproul Law, when we had the State aid, township, county road law.

Governor Pennypacker, who was then Governor of Pennsylvania, came to our little village and laid a cornerstone in a culvert very near to my home. Joseph W. Hunter, who was then the Highway Commissioner also helped the Governor break ground for that first state highway. Since those days I have always been interested in highway work, and even prior to 1941, in fact as early as 1939 I conceived the idea that Pennsylvania should have a Highway Code. It seems that last year, or rather two years ago it possibly came nearer to being a reality than at any other time, when we had a conference in the Attorney General's office between the Reference Bureau, the Highway Department and myself in regard to the bill that is now on the calendar, House Bill 411.

In my efforts to codify the highway laws and give to Pennsylvania a Highway Code I insisted every step of the way that there be no change, there be no controversy. The best agency to make codification to the highway laws was the Reference Bureau. They did the major portion of the work; I was merely the coordinator in this task.

As the bill stands before you there is no change, there never was any intent to make a change in the present highway laws. The effort is to give Pennsylvania a codification of the highway laws as they exist today. Then as the years come, say two years from now if there is any need for change, it would be very easy to amend any particular section of this act.

I have had implicit faith in the Legislative Reference Bureau, who, as I told you before, did the major portion of this work. The bill has been on the calendar for several weeks and I know, and so do you, that it is time that we take action on this bill.

As Speaker of the House I say to you in all sincerity I have no reason, nor do I have any desire to say to any Member of this House that he should vote for this bill for my sake. You use your judgment and vote as you desire. There was no pressure back of this legislation; it was an earnest effort to give to the people of Pennsylvania the Highway Code. If I knew there was any radical change in this piece of legislation I would be the first man to vote against this bill, but as I told you before, I have had implicit faith in the Legislative Reference Bureau that has prepared and codified the laws. So, ladies and gentlemen of the House, with this brief explanation I leave House Bill 411 in your hands. I am going to be satisfied with whatever you say.

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker, it would be the last thing that I would do to question the integrity or the honesty of the Speaker of this House. I believe and I know that Mr. Fiss has been interested in the highways for many years. I served with him in this House when he was on the floor, and I know the interest that he took in highways at that time. I have made some objections to this bill, and I may be entirely wrong, and I hope that I am.

I do not think, Mr. Speaker, that there were any intentions on the part of the attorneys who handled this legislation to make any misstatement of fact or to change anything material.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to call the attention of the House on page 11, to the definition of state highways. It says "State highways" shall mean and include all roads and highways taken over by the Commonwealth as State highways under the provisions of any act of Assembly

Now, that is perfectly clear. Then it follows:

Unless clearly so intended the term shall not include any street in any city, borough or incorporated town even though the same may have been taken over as a State highway.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I just cannot interpret what that means. Probably the attorneys who wrote it knew what they wanted to say, and probably it is the way it should be, but surely when you take a highway over and it becomes part of a state highway it should remain a state highway and be so defined in the Act of Assembly or the Highway Code.

On page 14, section 104, called the saving clause, it states as follows:

> The provisions of this act so far as they are the same as those of existing laws are intended as a continuation of such laws and not as new enactments. As I said, The provisions of this act so far as they are the same as those of existing laws are intended as a continuation of such laws and not as new enactments. The repeal by this act of any act of assembly or part thereof shall not revise any act or parts of acts thereof heretofore repealed or superseded. The provisions of this act shall not affect any act done, liabilities incurred or right accrued or vested or affect any suit or prosecution pending or to be instituted to enforce any right or penalty or punish any offense under the authority of such repealed laws. All regulations and rules made persuant to any act of assembly repealed by this act shall continue with the same force and effect as if such act had not been repealed.

Now, I have read that clause a number of times and tried to interpret just what it meant, but up to this minute I have not been able to do so.

I had a note on my desk "awarding contracts," page 36, but that has been destroyed. This act awarding contracts is practically the same, only there has been a transposition of the last clause. Now, that might not make any difference as far as the law is concerned, but it does seem to me that these sections that I have read should be clarified and they should be written in such a way that they can be easily understood.

I hesitate to take a position in this matter because of my respect for the Speaker and knowing his honesty in the matter, but personally I feel that the Committee on Highways should confer with the attorneys of the Highway Department and with the Legislative Bureau for further study, and then if found to be correct the Committee could make their report.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. JAMES filed the following reasons for his vote:

I believe that this Bill (House Bill 411) represents a sincere and honest effort to codify the Pennsylvania Highway laws. I feel that the work of drawing this bill has been productive of several ambiquities which widen the tests of the future will need to be eliminated but I feel, also, that a complete and detailed study of the bill at this time, would result in an unwarranted delay and in the end serve no better purpose than will be served by the administration of the act.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 63, as follows:

An Act to further amend section one of the act approved the thirteenth day of June one thousand eight hundred eighty-three (P. L. 118) entitled "An act ceding concurrent jurisdiction of this State over certain lands owned or hereafter acquired by the United States" by further regulating cession of jurisdiction by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to the United States of America

Section 1 Section one of the act approved the thirteenth day of June one thousand eight hundred eighty-three (P. L. 118) entitled "An act ceding concurrent jurisdiction of this State over certain lands owned or hereafter acquired by the United States" as last amended by the act approved the second day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 223) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted &c That the jurisdiction of this State is hereby ceded to the United States of America over all such pieces or parcels of land not exceeding ten acres in any one township ward of city or borough within the limits of this State as have been or shall hereafter be selected and acquired by the United States for the purpose of erecting post offices custom houses or other structures exclusively owned by the general government and used for its purposes Provided That an accurate description and plan of such lands so acquired verified by the oath of some officer of the general government having knowledge of the facts shall be filed with the Department of Internal Affairs of this State as soon as said United States shall have acquired possession of the same [And provided further That this cession is upon the express condition that the State of Pennsylvania shall so far retain concurrent jurisdiction with the United States in and over all lands acquired or hereafter acquired as aforesaid that all civil and criminal process issued by any court of competent jurisdiction or officers having authority of law to issue such process and all orders made by such court or judicial officers duly empowered to make such orders and necessary to be served upon any person may be executed upon said land and in the buildings that may be erected thereon in the same way and manner as if jurisdiction had not been ceded as aforesaid]

All such descriptions and plans heretofore filed with the Secretary of the Commonwealth shall as soon as it may conveniently be done be transferred to the Department of Internal Affairs and the Department of Internal Affairs shall give to the Secretary of the Commonwealth proper receipts for such descriptions and plans

The jurisdiction so ceded to the United States of America is granted upon the express condition that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania shall retain concurrent jurisdiction with the United States in and over the lands and buildings aforesaid in so far that civil process in all cases and such criminal process as may issue under the authority of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania against anyone charged with crime committed outside said land may be executed thereon in the same manner as if this jurisdiction had not been ceded The United States shall retain such jurisdiction so long as the said land shall be used for the purposes for which jurisdiction is ceded and no longer

The jurisdiction so ceded to the United States shall be upon the further condition that the Commonwealth reserves to itself and its political subdivisions whatever power of taxation it may constitutionally reserve to levy and collect all taxes now or hereafter imposed by the Commonwealth and its political subdivisions upon property persons and franchises within the boundaries so ceded

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. COHEN. Can the Speaker ascertain for me which gentleman on the other side would like to defend the bill?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair will recognize the Majority Leader of the House. Will the gentleman from Lehigh permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I should like to ask the gentleman whether or not in his opinion the provision of the bill on page three, beginning on line twenty and going to line twenty-six, which provides for the retention of the taxing power by the Commonwealth or the political subdivision to tax the Federal Government will stand a constitutional test.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I do, Mr. Speaker. I think the language is very clear.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman whether a political subdivision may tax the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. It may not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. May I ask the gentleman whether a political subdivision or the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania may tax the government of the United States?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. It may not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. That is all, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Speaker, this is no particular objection to this bill. In fact it passed over in the Senate without a dissenting vote, but I suspicion possibly the gentlemen of the Senate may have passed up a provision of the bill that may make the bill defective. There is no great harm in providing for the retention of "concurrent jurisdiction with the United States in and over all lands acquired or hereafter acquired as aforesaid that all civil and criminal process issued by any court of competent jurisdiction . . ." as relating to federal property. That is proper, but the reservation to tax the Federal Government, while it does not impose a tax is just a bit of surplusage that to my mind makes the bill defective. You cannot tax the United States Government nor any property owned by the United States Government nor any of its agencies, and while we passed a bill which provides a hold on the title to land which we cede to the Federal Government, and which in most instances I believe the Federal Government pays for, to hold a line on the right to tax is merely saying something that we cannot do, that we can't finish, and I believe that the bill should not pass until that section is stricken out. I think that we ought to slow up in order to convince the Senate that it is a perfectly stupid provision. If we do so it might be passed, and we might have a piece of good legislation.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I understand that the series of bills that have been passed recently, and the acts of the Department of Internal Affairs and the Secretary of the Commonwealth in ceding lands to the federal government for the erection of federal buildings, and recently for federal operations in the war effort, that the provision here would just retain some control by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania at such time that the federal government might relinquish the particular land which was ceded to them. It would just retain such rights as the Commonwealth should retain at any time in the future when the federal government might not continue its operations on the lands ceded to them.

I don't see anything wrong, because the bill clearly states in the paragraph beginning with line 22, "whatever power of taxation it may constitutionally reserve. . . ."

I think that is very clear and would definitely not place the Commonwealth in any position where we could even make a gesture to tax the Federal Government any more than as the gentleman has stated the local municipalities can tax the Commonwealth.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, briefly replying to the gentleman, of course, when we give the Federal Government the right of ownership of land, and the Federal Government sells that land either privately or publically, the purchaser would then become, whether an individual or a corporation or anyone else, liable to pay taxes, but I think we have been very hospitable in Pennsylvania to the Federal Government. We have permitted them to get a lot of our land, to come in and take it for military purposes and other purposes. The Federal Government ownes the land; you can't make them pay taxes. It is not being very polite, it is not being very hospitable to tell them "Come on, but we are watching you." I think it is just not good manners and I think we ought to take it out of the bill.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I see no reason for feeling that we are distressing anyone by repeating in the bill these particular lines. I know that the Federal Government in many of its acts passed by Congress in which the State participates certainly have a lot of strings to everything they possibly can have before they grant anything to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or the other forty-seven states, in the same way that we grant powers to any political sub-division. All we ask here is that the Commonwealth reserve what is constitutionally right for itself and its political subdivisions. I see no harm in the bill.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. Speaker, about two or three months ago I believe the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania held that the Defense Plant Corporation could be held subject to local taxation. It was along the same line as the Mesta Machine Company case which was decided by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania and later reversed by the United States Supreme Court.

However, in these late cases decided by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania they have held that Defense Plant Corporation, owning property is subject to local taxation. I believe that this bill would allow such taxation if the same is enacted. Therefore, I believe it is constitutional and I think it is much needed legislation.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, may I have the honor to concur in the position taken on the constitutional point raised by the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter. I think it is an honor and a privilege. I think his position is correct. This bill simply provides that they may retain such power of taxation as is constitutional, which is no power at all. It gives no power, and this amendment takes no power. If they have no power, they retain no power. Again I would like to concur in the position taken by the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILLS PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 181, Printer's No. 195, and

House Bill No. 183, Printer's No. 196,

were passed over at the request of the SPEAKER pro tempore.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 933, as follows:

An Act to add section one thousand six hundred fifteen to the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" providing for the release of pupils from the public schools for religious instruction

Section 1 The act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shal be administered and prescribing penaties for the violation thereof provding revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" is hereby amended by adding after section one thousand six hundred fourteen a new section to read as follows

Section 1615 Release of Pupils for Religious Instruction Any board of school directors of any school district shall have power to enter into suitable arrangement with a religious group or organization of responsible citizens resident in the school district who are interested in organizing part-time weekday religious education for school pupils In such cases the board of school directors shall have power to adopt such rules and regulations for the release from school sessions of those pupils whose parents or surviving parent or guardian or other person having legal custody of such pupil desires to have them attend a class to receive religious education in accordance with their religious faith for not more than one hour a week subject however to such conditions and the keeping of such records of attendance at such classes and other records for the inspection of school authorities as the board shall deem proper No part of the cost and expense of such religious instruction shall be paid out of public school funds

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

An Act authorizing township supervisors to declare dogs running at large in packs a nuisance and directing the killing of such dogs

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 The township supervisors of any township are hereby authorized to declare the running of dogs in packs a nuisance whether or not such dogs bear the license tags required by the provisions of the "Dog Law of 1921" when it appears to such township supervisors that the pack of dogs is menacing the inhabitants of such township

The township supervisors shall upon declaring such a nuisance post notice thereof in five different places throughout the township or part thereof where such dogs in packs have been seen to run Thereafter the constable supervisors and the police of such township shall kill such dogs on sight and without liability or responsibility of any nature for such killing

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BARTON. Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Fayette, Mr. Burns, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BURNS. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BARTON. Will the gentleman explain to the House how many dogs are in a pack.

Mr. BURNS. Two or more, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BARTON. Will the sponsor of this bill tell the House how this bill will affect hunters who are training their dogs according to the provisions of the Game Code.

Mr. BURNS. Mr. Speaker, it would have no effect at all upon the hunters who are out training their dogs, unless they do as the bill says, run at large and cause damage of some sort or other.

Mr. BARTON. Mr. Speaker, does the sponsor of this bill know that hunters when they are training dogs, the dogs are running at large?

Mr. BURNS. Well, Mr. Speaker, the bill simply says "When it appears to such township supervisors that the pack of dogs is menacing the inhabitants of such township." In the matter of the training, unless the dogs are running at large it would have no effect under this bill.

Mr. BARTON. Mr. Speaker, will the sponsor of this bill tell us of any condition of which he knows which warrants the passage of this bill or any such legislation?

Mr. BURNS. I will, Mr. Speaker. This is a very serious bill, and I think the Members of this House should take the matter into consideration, because in my county, in which this bill originated, Fayette County, it was proposed and suggested by the supervisors because on several occasions school children have been attacked by these dogs that are running lose.

Also we have at the present time a young lady who has been confined to the hospital for the past couple months. She is in bad condition at the present time because of dogs that attacked her, and she will be disfigured for life.

Also, Mr. Speaker, you will find that the supervisors tried to have this condition remedied, but in the second class township code there is nothing that states that they have the authority, and that is the purpose of this bill.

Mr. BARTON. Mr. Speaker, will the sponsor of the bill tell us if the dog law of 1921 would not cover in every respect all that would be required to clean up the conditions?

Mr. BURNS. No, Mr. Speaker, they will not, because we have tried. We have appealed to the Agriculture Department and we have appealed to the dog catchers of the county but as yet there has nothing been done about it. As yet there has been nothing done. That again is the purpose of this bill.

Mr. BARTON. I thank the sponsor of the bill.

Mr. Speaker, this might be good legislation but it doesn't make sense to me. We have a dog law now which is not too well enforced, and I don't see why we should drag the supervisors of any township into the matter of enforcing the dog law.

I do not see anything in this bill to prevent valuable hunting dogs from being shot promiscuously by the supervisor, by the constable or by the police officer of the township where this is put into effect. All that any hunter would have in the way of notice would be five notices posted over a township. How would a hunter travel all over a township to see those five notices to keep his dogs off that land? Even in training dogs the dogs are bound to get away, and I don't see any reason for passing any legislation or even spending any time in debating legislation of this kind. I hope the Members will not put another dog law on the statute books of this Commonwealth that will not be enforced.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 641, as follows:

An Act to reenact and amend the title and Sections one two three and four of the act approved the twenty-eighth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 797) entitled "An act relating to the release reduction or limitation of powers of appointment by extending the terms of such act to cover a power of consumption and by providing for the release and disclaimer of any power of appointment whether general or special other than a power in trust which is imperative and of any interest in to or over real or personal property or the income therefrom held or owned outright or in trust or in any other manner reserved or given to any person by deed will or otherwise howsoever and irrespective of any limitations of such power or interest by virtue of any restriction in the nature of a so-called spendthrift trust provision or similar provision and providing for the execution delivery and recording of such release or disclaimer

Section 1 The title of the act approved the twenty-eighth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 797) entitled "An act relating to the release reduction or limitation of powers of appointment" is hereby amended to read as follows

An Act relating to the release disclaimer reduction or limitation of a power of appointment including a power of consumption whether general or special other than a power in trust which is imperative and of any interest in to or over real or personal property or the income therefrom held or owned outright or in trust or in any manner reserved or given to any person by deed will or otherwise howsoever and irrespective of any limitation of any power or interest by virtue of any restriction in the nature of a spendthrift trust provision or similar provision and providing for the execution delivery and recording of such release or disclaimer

Section 2 Section one of the act approved the twenty-eighth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 797) is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 [Any power of appointment over real or personal property which is exercisable by deed by will by deed or will or otherwise whether general or special other than a power in trust which is imperative is releasable either with or without consideration by written instrument signed by the person possessing the power and delivered as hereinafter provided] Any power of appointment including any power of consumption whether general or special other than a power in trust which is imperative and any interest in to or over real is imperative and any interest in to or over real or personal property or the income therefrom held or owned outright or in trust or in any other manner which is reserved or given to any person by deed will or otherwise howsoever and irrespective of any limitation of such power or interest by virtue of any restriction in the nature of a so-called spendthrift trust provision or similar provision may be released or disclaimed either with or without consideration by written instrument signed by the person possessing the power or the interest and delivered as hereinafter provided

Section 3 Section two of the act approved the twenty-eighth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 797) is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 2 A power or interest which is releasable or disclaimable under Section one hereof may be released or disclaimed either absolutely or conditionally and may also be released or disclaimed with respect to the whole or any part of the property subject to such power or interest and may also be released or disclaimed in such manner as to reduce or limit the persons or objects or classes of persons or objects in whose favor such power or interest would otherwise be exercisable except that no power or interest subject to a spendthrift trust provision or similar provision may be released or disclaimed except in favor of a remainderman No release or disclaimer of a power or of an interest shall be deemed to make imperative a power or interest which was not imperative prior to such release or disclaimer unless the instrument of release or disclaimer expressly so provides

Section 4 Section three of the act approved the twenty-eighth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 797) is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 3 Such release or disclaimer may be delivered to any of the following

(a) Any person specified for such purpose in the instrument creating the power or interest

(b) Any trustee of the property to which the power or interest relates

(c) Any person other than the person possessing the power or interest who could be adversely affected by an exercise of the power or interest

(d) The recorder of deeds of the county in which the person possessing the power or interest resides or has a place of business or in which the deed will or other instrument creating the power or interest is recorded or filed

Section 5 Section four of the act approved the twenty-eighth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 797) is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 4 This act shall apply to releases and disclaimers heretofore and hereafter delivered

Section 6 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

An Act to amend section ten of the act approved the fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 886) entitled "An act creating a Municipal Employes' Retirement System for the payment of retirement allowances to officers and employes of political subdivisions and institutions supported and maintained by them and providing for the administration of the same by a board composed of certain state officers and others appointed by the Governor imposing certain duties on the State Employes' Retirement Board and the actuary thereof providing the procedure whereby political subdivisions may join such system and imposing certain liabilities and obligations on such political subdivisions in connection therewith and as to certain existing retirement and pension systems and upon officers and employes of such political subdivisions and institutions supported and maintained by them providing certain exemptions from taxation execution attachment levy and sale and making an appropriation" including any service as a member of the General Assembly in the period of service of a contributor upon his making certain back payments

Section 1 Section ten of the act approved the fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P.

L. 886) entitled "An act creating a Municipal Employes' Retirement System for the payment of retirement allowances to officers and employes of political subdivisions and institutions supported and maintained by them and providing for the administration of the same by a board composed of certain state officers and others appointed by the Governor imposing certain duties on the State Employes' Retirement Board and the actuary thereof providing the procedure whereby political subdivisions may join such system and imposing certain liabilities and obligations on such political subdivisions in connection therewith and as to certain existing retirement and pension systems and upon officers and employes of such political subdivisions and institutions supported and maintained by them providing certain exemptions from taxation execution attachment levy and sale and making an appropriation" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 10 Service Allowance In computing the length of service of a contributor for retirement purposes full credit shall be given to each original member for each year of service rendered to the municipality prior to the time the municipality joined the retirement system established by this act whether or not such service was continuous

As soon as practicable the board shall issue to each original member a certicate certifying the aggregate length of service rendered to the municipality prior to the time it joined the retirement system

Such certificate shall be final and conclusive as to his prior service unless thereafter modified by the board upon application of the member

In the case of a contributor who has at any time prior to his becoming a municipal employe as defined in this act been a member of the General Assembly of this Commonwealth the period of his service as such member shall be included in computing the period of service of such contributor provided he shall have paid to the retirement fund in such manner as may be agreed upon by such person and the board a sum equal to all the back payments which he would have made if a member of the retirement system during the entire period

The time during which a member was absent from service without pay shall not be counted in computing the service of a contributor in his certificate or upon retirement unless specially allowed by the municipality with the approval of the board

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

SENATE MESSAGES

The Clerk of the Senate, Mr. Steinfeld, being introduced, presented extracts from the Journal of the Senate which were laid on the table.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1190, entitled:

An Act empowering cities of the second class to levy, assess and collect, or to provide for the levying, assessment and collection of, certain additional taxes for general revenue purposes; authorizing the establishment of bureaus, and the appointment and compensation of officers and employes to assess and collect such taxes; and permitting penalties to be imposed and enforced.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. BAKER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend sec. 1, page 2, line 5, by inserting after the word "fee" the following: "nor to levy or assess a tax on wages, occupations or sales".

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, I have no objection to the offering of the amendments, but I want to raise the point that we would like to have the amendments to the two sections read separately and considered separately.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair proposes to do that.

The Chair hears no objection and consent is granted.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, I would ask the Members, particularly on this side of the House, to vote for these amendments. They are clearly in line with the policy of the Republican organization in the City of Pittsburgh. We are equally opposed with the Democratic party to any imposition of a wage, occupation or sales tax, and we certainly welcome these amendments to the bill.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Fleming.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FLEMING. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. I wonder, and I would like to know when the gentleman found all that out about the position of his party. How come that he did not know it at the time he introduced his bill?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman repeat his interrogation?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire when the gentleman found out that his organization was opposed to the wage tax and what happened that he made the discovery since he introduced his bill?

Mr. FLEMING. In answer to the gentleman's question, Mr. Speaker, I would say that the Republican organization in Allegheny County has always been opposed to the imposition of a wage, sales or occupation tax, but we are also firm believers in the principles of home rule, and when the officials of the City of Pittsburgh came before the Legislature and asked for permission to have the Sterling Act reenacted we agreed with them that it followed clearly the principle of home rule, and that those people who goven the city should be given the right to impose any taxes they saw fit upon the people. We only did that which the City of Pittsburgh had asked us to do.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

Mr. BAKER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend sec. 4, page 3, lines 10 to 14, by striking out the words "and shall" in line 10, and all of lines 11 to 14, both inclusive.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the amendments to section four and I ask the Members on this side of the House to vote them down.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Fleming.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FLEMING. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Fleming, has asked us, Mr. Speaker, to oppose the amendments to section four. May 1 inquire of the gentleman why we should vote against these amendments?

Mr. FLEMING. Our reason, Mr. Speaker, is that in our judgment the members of Council of the City of Pittsburgh should be forced to tell the people in the City of Pittsburgh what new taxes they are going to levy, and we propose that they shall tell the people on what they are going to levy these taxes before election day in November.

Mr. BROWN. Am I correct, Mr. Speaker, then in saying that the only reason for opposing this amendment to section four is that the gentleman feels that the City Council of Pittsburgh before election should tell the people of Pittsburgh the taxes they are going to impose?

Mr. FLEMING. That is correct.

Mr. BROWN. Did not the gentleman say a minute ago that he was in favor of home rule?

Mr. FLEMING. I am, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. Would the gentleman agree with the principle that the tax levying body in Pittsburgh should impose taxes without restraint from this Legislature?

Mr. FLEMING. I would, Mr. Speaker. Certainly this question is going to be aired very thoroughly back in the City of Pittsburgh within the next few months. There has been so much mismanagement of the City of Pittsburgh, it has become so rampant that we feel that the people in the City of Pittsburgh are certainly going to make a radical change in the government of that city.

We also feel that they are entitled to know what new taxes this administration proposes to place upon them.

Mr. BROWN. May I ask the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, whether or not he knows of any taxes that would be obnoxious to the people of the City of Pittsburgh that would not be covered by the amendments just concurred in by this House?

Mr. FLEMING. That is a rather far-flung question. I could probably think of a few. Possibly a tax on—may I correct myself, Mr. Speaker? The powers that we propose to give to the City of Pittsburgh permit them to place a tax on anything that the State does not now tax with the exception of wage, sales or occupation tax. Certainly there should be hundreds of things on which a tax could be imposed.

Mr. BROWN. I ask the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, if he can tell men any property or article that might be taxed that would be vicious and should not be taxed by the City Council of Pittsburgh.

Mr. FLEMING. Yes, Mr. Speaker, I would say a tax on washing machines would be particularly obnoxious.

Mr. BROWN. Would the gentleman then agree to put in his bill that the city council should not levy a tax on washing machines?

Mr. FLEMING. No, Mr. Speaker, I would not.

Mr. BROWN. I thank the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Fleming.

Mr. Speaker, Section 4 of House Bill 1190 is what can be termed "hatchet" legislation, and hatchet legislation is something that the law abhors and people generally condemn. It is that type of legislation that so gags or so binds someone that when the legislation is passed it is passed with the intention that you can not operate under it. If you operate it to the right you are damned: if you operate it to the left you are damned. Now, certainly if city council—and I am not a member of city council and I have no interest at this time in whatever the political outcome maybe—it is absolutely a reflection upon us that we passed legislation so important to a municipality, that it has to be passed tinged with the complexion of a political campaign.

That, I say, is absolutely untanable, unsound and should be defeated by this House. That is the only purpose of Section 4, to try here a political campaign, and we ought in no uncertain terms say to the people of Pennsylvania that we are not going to stoop to such tactics.

It may be that the city council ought to determine before October fifteen, but the gentleman from Allegheny knows, full well, that under the laws of this Commonwealth that body does not receive the amount of assessed value on real estate from the proper board that assesses real estate until November first, and he knows full well that sometimes it is even as late as a month and a half after November before the city gets its certification of assessed valuation.

The city cannot do any thing about it, and he knows full well that until Council of the City of Pittsburgh receives a certification from the proper tax assessing body as to the amount of real estate upon which the taxes can be levied, which is the backbone of the tax structure of this municipality and every other municipality, city council will not pass any new taxes.

It does seem to me where a section of a bill has no purpose at all except to gag and to place a hatchet over somebody's head, we ought to defeat that legislation. I call upon the Members of the House, upon the statement of the gentleman himself that the only reason to keep Section 4 in the bill is for political purposes, to rise up and vote against these amendments, strike out this obnoxious feature for political purposes.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I am very much intrigued with the term "hatchet legislation." I find myself in a most uncomfortable position when I rise to disagree with my good friend from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, but I believe thoroughly that if we had more of this kind of hatchet legislation it would be a mighty splendid thing for the communities in the state of Pennsylvania. If the intent of city council and other tax levying bodies were made clear to the public before election the people would truly have representation for their taxation and they could go to the poles and vote for or against the people who laid down the tax program they intended to make effective. Finally I am just about one thousand and one percent sure that had there been this hatchet provision in the Sterling Act there never would have been a wage tax in Philadelphia.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendment was not agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 53, entitled:

An Act concerning the ascertainment of principal and income and the apportionment of receipts and expenses among tenants and remaindermen; and to make uniform the law with reference thereto

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the Majority Floor Leader.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Lehigh permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I yield to the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Sorg.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Elk permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SORG. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, I should like to ask the gentleman whether or not Senate Bill 53 violates the rule in the Shelley's Case.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I was very much afraid the gentleman was going to ask about the rule against perpetuities. That would be so much easier.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman claims the question is too easy.

Mr. SKALE. In that case, Mr. Speaker, I will ask the gentleman to explain the rule against perpetuities.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. TURNER. The gentleman is not talking on the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. How does the gentleman from Delaware know that?

Mr. TURNER. By reason of the fact, Mr. Speaker, that nobody in the House knows anything about either the rule in Shelley's case or the rule against perpetuities.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair agrees with the gentleman from Delaware.

Mr. SKALE. Now, I will ask the gentleman to try to explain Senate Bill 53 and tell us what that is.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, my understanding of the purposes of the contents of Senate Bill 53 is to clarify the rule pertaining to those estates which involve life tenants and remaindermen.

It is, as the gentleman indicated, a very, very complicated and technical legal question giving rise to much litigation as to the proper distribution of principal or income between life tenants and remaindermen.

The purpose of the bill is to codify the precedents established by the courts and some that have not as yet been fully clarified, and to make uniform the law with reference to proper allocation of the property of an estate as to either its principal or income.

Mr. SKALE. Is that what this bill does, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. SORG. That is my understanding of the bill, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SKALE. What affect would this bill have on the rule laid down, or the principle laid down in the Nirdlinger Case?

Mr. SORG. I am not familiar with that particular case, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SKALE. Is the gentleman aware that the rule laid down in the Nirdlinger Case is now the accepted rule in Pennsylvania?

Mr. SORG. I am not aware of that, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SKALE. Will the gentleman accept my word that the rule laid down in the Nirdlinger case is now the accepted rule in Pennsylvania?

Mr. SORG. I would accept the gentleman's word, if the gentleman tells me that that is the accepted rule for the proper subject covered in that particular case. I would accept his word. However, I would question whether the case itself would cover all the subjects that are involved in this particular piece of legislation.

Mr. SKALE. Is the gentleman aware of the fact that the judges of the Philadelphia Orphans' Court expressed their views in opposition to this bill in the hearing before the Senate?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I am not aware of that.

Mr. SKALE. Will the gentleman accept my word that that was the expresssion of opinion made by the judges of the Philadelphia Orphans' Court in a hearing before the Senate?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman attended the hearing in the Senate, heard those statements made and makes that representation on the floor of this House, I will accept his word.

Mr. SKALE. Will the gentleman accept my word if I say I have it in writing from one of the judges?

Mr. SORG. I would accept that as the word of the judge who wrote the letter.

Mr. SKALE. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I now know as much about this bill as when we started, and I think everyone knows about as much as I.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. Speaker, this is a very important piece of legislation and it seems to be an orphan in the storm. Nobody seems to be able to predict it's effect; it upsets all the procedure in the Orphans' Court of Philadelphia and Pennsylvania in general, and I would suggest that this bill go over in order so that the sponsor may have an opportunity to enlighten the people and the Members here as to what this bill does. It is a very important piece of legislation and should not be passed without proper and thorough study.

I know what the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Skale, is talking about in the Nirdlinger case. The Nirdinger case is a fundamental rule and the principle upon which estates are distributed throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I think this is a very important bill. If it has merit I would not like to see it defeated. As far as I am concerned I cannot see any merit in it, but my mind is subject to change and I would suggest that this bill be placed on the third reading postponed calendar in order that all the Members here might have an opportunity to know what it is all about. It is a very serious and important measure and should not be gone over lightly.

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. SALUS. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the postponed calendar.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SALUS. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman offer his motion by reason of objections from the members of the Orphans' Court of Philadelphia?

Mr. SALUS. Mr. Speaker, I offer this motion on my own responsibility, and I have little ability as a lawyer. I think this bill needs a thorough explanation, and somebody, if anybody is interested in this bill, ought to bring somebody over here so that the Members will know what they are doing. I do not propose to take it upon myself to try to do it, but it is important legislation, very important legislation. It is either very good or it is very bad. The sponsor of this bill has placed it over here without a father or mother or anybody else, and the thing should be thoroughly ventilated.

This is upsetting the whole course of procedure in the Orphans' Courts of Pennsylvania, and I know what I am talking about.

My motion, if it is carried, will give the sponsor of this bill an opportunity to come before both the Democratic Caucus and the Republican Caucus to explain this bill, and that is the reason I am asking that it be put on the postponed calendar. If the merits are good—and I hope they are, there will be very little chance of this bill not going over, but if he doesn't do it I am satisfied the bill will get licked.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I think the gentleman probably misunderstands my interrogation. I merely desired to ask him whether his objection was to the merits of the bill, due to lack of explanation, or whether he is objecting because of the attitude of members of the Orphans' Court of Philadelphia.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. Speaker, I have had no correspondence with the members of the Orphans' Court of Philadelphia nor any conference or communication with them. I have heard that some of the members of our Orphans' Court are not in favor of this bill. However, I personally have no knowledge on that subject at all.

Mr. SORG. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

I simply wanted to state the fact, Mr. Speaker, that there have been amendments offered and made to this bill by members of the Orphans' Court of Philadelphia, and that there is certainly no objection to the motion on our part if it is requested for the purpose of giving the matter further study. I merely wanted the record straight so that there might be no stigma on this bill until such time as it might be given further study. I probably could, if we wanted to be here until midnight, fully explain the technical ramifications involved in the distribution of principal and income in life estates and in remainders.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 210, as follows:

An Act to amend section seven of the act approved the sixteenth day of July one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 400) entitled "An act to protect the debtors obligors or guarantors of debts for which judgments are entered or may be entered and owners of real property affected thereby and others indirectly liable for the payment thereof by prescribing the method of fixing the fair market value of such property sold on execution and limiting the amount collectible thereafter on such judgments" providing for the discharge of obligations secured by the bond mortgage or other evidence of indebtedness on which real property is sold and for satisfaction of judgments entered thereon

Section 1 Section seven of the act approved the sixteenth day of July one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 400) entitled "An act to protect the debtors obligors or guarantors of debts for which judgments are entered or may be entered and owners of real property affected thereby and others indirectly liable for the payment thereof by prescribing the method of fixing the fair market value of such property sold on execution and limiting the amount collectible thereafter on such judgments" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 7 The plaintiff or plaintiffs shall file all petitions in accordance with section one and section two of this act not later than six months after the sale of any real property Provided however That if the sale occurred prior to the effective date of this act the plaintiff shall file such petition within six months after the effective date of this act In the event no petition is filed within such period the debtor obligor guarantor and any other person liable directly or indirectly to the plaintiff or plaintiffs for the payment of the debt shall be released and discharged of such liability to the plaintiff or plaintiffs If the judgment is entered on a bond or mortgage or other evidence of indebtedness that has heretofore been or shall hereafter be assigned to the plaintiff or plaintiffs as collateral security for the payment of a note or other indebtedness then the debtor obligor guarantor and any other person liable directly or indirectly to the plaintiff or plaintiffs for the payment of such note or other indebtedness shall likewise be released and discharged of liability to the plaintiff or plaintiffs on account of such note or other indebtedness and if judgment has been entered thereon may petition the court to have such judgment marked satisfied released and discharged in the same manner as provided by section seven point one of this act

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CHUDOFF. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SORG. I desire to inquire of the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, whether the purpose of this bill is to completely wipe out the obligation of the bond accompanying the mortgage?

Mr. CHUDOFF. In answer to the gentleman from Elk, this bill was sponsored by me in order to take care of the decision in the case of the Secretary of Banking against Greenburg, which was handed down by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania on January 5, 1945. In that decision the Supreme Court held that when a promissory judgment note was given as collateral security for a mortgage loan and the mortgagee forecloses upon the real estate at Sheriff's sale he can proceed on a personal obligation on the note given as collateral security.

Mr. SORG. I desire to inquire further, Mr. Speaker, whether that decision was any extraordinary departure from previous law.

Mr. CHUDOFF. I should like to reply to the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, by saying that this decision set up an exception to the Deficiency Judgment Act, and it was my opionion that the Legislature in passing the Deficiency Judgment Act did not intend any mortgagee to buy in the property at Sheriff's sale and then proceed on the personal obligation. It was my thought that the Legislature intended that once the property was bought in, a procedure was set up under the Deficiency Act to file a petition to have a fair value of the property set within six months, otherwise discharge the obligation.

Mr. SORG. I would like further to inquire of the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, whether or not the passage of House Bill 210 would not completely eliminate the need for a bond accompanying a mortgage or any other documents taken on general credit.

Mr. CHUDOFF. I do not believe so, Mr. Speaker. The passage of House Bill 210 is simply to make the mortgagee proceed under the Deficiency Judgment Act by filing a petition to have the fair value set up within six months, and if he did not after buying at the Sheriff's sale, the obligation would be discharged.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman indicate to me the section of the bill where that particular provision protects the mortgagee?

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman from Elk will turn to page two of the bill and follow me, I believe that I can indicate the information he desires. Does the gentleman have a copy of the bill? It is Printer's No. 463 in the House binder.

Mr. SORG. I have a copy, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Page 2, line 10. This bill is an amendment to Section 7 of the Deficiency Judgment Act and sets forth the procedure for filing a petition to set the fair value of property within six months of the date of the Sheriff's sale.

If the gentleman from Elk will go down to line 21 he will read:

If the judgment is entered on a bond or mortgage or other evidence of indebtedness that has heretofore been or shall hereafter be assigned to the plaintiff or plaintiffs as collaterial security for the payment of a note or other indebtedness then the debtor obligor guarantor and any other person liable directly or indirectly to the plaintiff or plaintifffs for the payment of such note or other indebtedness shall likewise be released and discharged of liability to the plaintiff or plaintiffs on account of such note or other indebtedness and if judgment has been entered thereon may petition the court to have such judgment marked satisfied released and discharged in the same manner as provided by section seven point one of this act.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I am interested in the provision where the plaintiff is required to take advantage of the Deficiency Judgment Act itself. I understand that the effect of this particular provision lined is to make all plaintiffs, to give them the liability of complete relief on the part of any mortgagor, but I am not as thoroughly familiar with the provision that will give them them the opportunity to save the obligation of the general credit type.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I did not understand whether the gentleman was making a statement or asking a question.

Mr. SORG. I am asking the gentleman to explain or to indicate to me that provision wherein the judgment creditor might pay the obligation of the note or the bond after a sale under the mortgage.

Mr. CHUDOFF. In section 7-1 of the Deficiency Judgment Act the creditor has the right, if the property is not worth the mortgage, to file a petition in the Court of Common Pleas and ask the Court of Common Pleas to set the fair valuation of the property. If the Court of Common Pleas sets a fair value less than the obligation then the plaintiff or the creditor has his right to a deficiency judgment. That is the difference between the fair value of the property and the original obligation.

Mr. SORG. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

TIME EXTENDED ON BILLS

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, I move that the time on House Bill No. 648, Printer's No. 389, entitled:

An Act to further amend section four of the act approved the sixteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 1780) entitled "An act to fix the salaries and compensation of the judges of Supreme Court the judges of the Superior Court the judges of the courts of common pleas the judges of the orphans' courts the judges of the municipal court of Philadelphia and the judges of the county court of Allegheny County" by increasing the salaries of judges of common pleas of the first and fifth judicial districts on page 10 of today's calendar, bills on second reading postponed, be extended five days.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, I move that the time on House Bill No. 649, Printer's No. 395, entitled:

An Act to amend section seven of the act approved the sixteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 1780) entitled "An act to fix the salaries and compensation of the judges of Supreme Court the judges of the Superior Court the judges of the courts of common pleas the judges of the orphans' courts the judges of the municipal court of Philadelphia and the judges of the county court of Allegheny County" by increasing the salaries of judges of the municipal court of Philadelphia on page 10 of today's calendar, bills on second reading postponed, be extended five days.

The motion was agreed to.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 581, Printer's No. 380, entitled:

An Act relating to the imposition of costs in criminal cases in counties of the first and second classes providing for such costs to be borne by the Commonwealth in certain cases and imposing duties upon counties and upon the Commonwealth in connection with the costs in criminal cases was defeated on final passage on Thursday, April 3, 1945, be reconsidered.

Mr. POWERS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. How did the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Scanlon vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. How did the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Powers vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. POWERS. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

On the question,

Will the House agreed to the motion?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 581, Printer's No. 380 was called for a vote on final passage last week. There was some confusion as to the purpose of the bill. I sincerely ask the Members of the House to reconsider the vote so that we may place the bill back on the calendar and take a vote at some later date on the merits of the bill, which is the reason we are asking for a reconsideration of the vote.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER pro tempore declared the ayes appeared to have it.

Whereupon, a division was called for, ninety-eight Members having voted in the affirmative and forty-five in the negative the question was determined in the affirmative and the motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. GRANT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, four weeks ago I brought to the attention of the Members of this House that there were three bills in the Liquor Control Committee that I would like to have the Members of the Liquor Control Committee given the opportunity to consider. At that time I made known to the Chairman of the Liquor Control Committee that unless the members of the Committee were given an opportunity, which was all I was asking, to consider these bills, I would be constrained to take the proper steps to give the Committee an opportunity to consider these bills, if not in the Committee then on this floor.

These bills that I have in mind are first, House Bill 275, which was sponsored by the Vice Chairman of the Liquor Control Committee, Mr. Depuy, and Albert Readinger, my colleague from Berks.

The bill is a very simple bill. All the bill provides is that the county courts be given an opportunity upon hearing de novo to sustain, reject, alter or modify findings, conclusions and penalties of the board.

The other bills that I requested that the Chairman of the Liquor Control Committee give the members of the Committee—that is all I wanted, an opportunity to consider, was House Bill 236 which was sponsored by Mr. Freed of Lehigh. All that bill provides is that when the holder of a malt beverage license which was issued by the Liquor Control Board filed an application for a liquor license, that the same would not be considered as a new application for a license and be included, as it presently is, in the quota law.

The other bill was a bill that was presented by Mr. McAtee from Berks, and myself which is House Bill 626, which is merely doing something that it was the original intention of this House to do, and that is to exclude clubs from the quota law.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I am hesitant to file a resolution to discharge a Committee because I realize the effect that such a resolution has upon Chairmen of Committees, and I know the effect that it has upon the policy of this House. I would like to get this thought across to the Members of this House at this time; if there were any other parliamentary procedure that I could adopt I would not present certain resolutions that I intend to present. My only purpose in presenting these resolutions is because of the fact that I have given the Chairman of this Committee every opportunity to give the Committee of which he is the Chairman an opportunity to consider these bills. If that opportunity had been given I would have been satisfied, and would not be presenting this resolution to discharge this Committee at this time. My only purpose in presenting the resolution that I intend to present is for the purpose of giving the Committee an opportunity to consider these bills. If the Committee had had an opportunity to consider these bills I would not be presenting the resolutions that intend to present immediately after this.

Mr. Speaker, I wish to offer the following resolutions.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would suggest that the gentleman send all the resolutions to the desk at one time so that they can be considered at the same time. If the Chair hears no objection we will proceed in that manner. The Chair hears none.

RESOLUTION TO DISCHARGE COMMITTEE

Mr. GRANT offered a resolution which was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 10, 1945.

Resolved, That the committee on Liquor Control to which Committee there was referred on January 24, 1945, House Bill No. 236 entitled, "An act to amend section four hundred three of the act, approved the twenty-ninth day of November, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (1933-34 P. L. 15) entitled as amended, 'Pennsylvania Liquor Control' by providing that an application for a license under this act by the holder of a license under the Malt Beverage Law of this Commonwealth for premises already licensed shall not be deemed as application for a new license"

That the Committee on Liquor Control to which Committee there was referred on January 29, 1945; House Bill No. 275, entitled "An act to further amend section four hundred ten of the act approved the twenty-ninth day of November, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 15 1933-34) entitled as amended 'Pennsylvania Liquor Control Act,' providing that the Court of Quarter Sessions shall sustain, reject or modify the findings, conclusions and penalties of the Board upon appeal from the suspension and revocation of licenses"

That the Committee on Liquor Control to which committee there was referred on February 19, 1945, House Bill No. 626, entitled "An act to amend sections one and two of the act, approved the twenty-fourth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 806), entitled 'An act limiting the number of licenses for the retail sale of liquor, malt or brewed beverages, or malt and brewed beverages, to be issued by the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board; defining hotels, and prescribing the accommodations required of hotels in certain municipalities,' by exempting certain clubs from such limitation" be discharged from further consideration of said bills.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to this resolution as I have arisen on every occasion when a resolution has been presented to discharge a Standing Committee of this House.

I do believe that the Chairman of this Committee is sincere, and I have always found him to be a friendly and amiable person, one who can get along very well with the members of his Committee. I see no reason why consideration of these bills cannot remain with the Committee; I see no reason whatsoever why we should support the resolution to discharge the Committee on Liquor Control from further consideration of these bills. I, therefore, ask that the resolution be voted down.

Mr. GRANT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the Chairman of the Liquor Control Committee.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Mercer permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LYONS. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GRANT. Mr. Speaker, I should like to ask the gentleman if these bills have been considered by the Liquor Control Committee.

Mr. LYONS. They have not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GRANT. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I can not appreciate Mr. Lichtenwalter's position in this respect in rising in opposition to the discharge of a Committee. I have given Mr. Lyons every opportunity to give the Liquor Control Committee an opportunity to consider these bills, and it is only because he has failed to give the Committee an opportunity to consider these bills, that I present this resolution to discharge the committee.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Grant and Mr. Weiss.

Messrs. Lovett, Cohen and Stank asked for a verification of the roll.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 1124, Printer's No. 406, entitled:

An Act to further amend section four of the act approved the sixteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 1780) entitled "An act to fix the salaries and compensation of the judges of the Supreme Court, the judges of the Superior Court, the judges of the courts of common pleas, the judges of the orphans' courts, the judges of the Municipal Court of Philadelphia, and the judges of the County Court of Allegheny County," by increasing the salaries of judges of the courts of common pleas of certain judicial districts was defeated on final passage in the House on April 3rd, be reconsidered.

Mr. SWOPE. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. How did the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Weiss vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. How did the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Swope vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. SWOPE. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER pro tempore declared the nays appeared to have it.

Whereupon, a division was called for, one hundred Members having voted in the affirmative and fifty-one in the negative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a Parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. LEVY. I understand from the Speaker pro tempore that the bill concerning which I intend to offer a concurrent resolution is not yet in the hands of the Governor. Might I ask the Speaker then, will I be notified as to when the bill will actually go to the Governor's office?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair will notify the gentleman after the bill is in the possession of the Governor, and the Clerk will be entrusted to advise the Chair after he has obtained the receipt for the delivery of the bill.

Mr. LEVY. Thank you very much, Mr. Speaker.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. STOCKHAM. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. STOCKHAM. Mr. Speaker, the Journal on March 14th indicates that I was not voting on any of the measures that day. I was in my place or on the floor of the House throughout the whole session, and I desire to be recorded as voting for all the measures that were voted upon that day.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be noted in the Journal.

RESOLUTION

Mr. MORAN offered a resolution and asked unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give its unanimous consent to the immediate consideration of the resolution. Is there objection?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I object.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair hears objection and consent is not granted.

The resolution will lie over for printing under the rules.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. FLACK asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker. Wyoming Valley is recognized as one of the garden spots of Pennsylvania. Its natural beauty too often is appreciated more by those from beyond its limits than by those who reside within its boundaries.

But it also enjoys an enviable reputation as an industrial center. One of its chief industries is the mining of anthracite. Unless something is done, and done soon, to control mining, the valley stands to lose everything including that which nature has provided, as well as that developed by man. To the person who is not familiar with conditions in the Wilkes-Barre area, known as "The heart of the anthracite," a ride through the valley will convince him that my prediction on the future of Wyoming Valley, unless reckless mining is curbed, is far from idle talk.

Communities like Kingston, Forty-Fort, Wyoming Exeter and West Pittston, through all of which the main artery of travel through the valley passes, are shining examples of what might happen. Each is a residential community with magnificent homes and public buildings of which any municipality could be proud. But the type of mining done by some companies under these very towns is no respector of life or property. Fortunately, the loss of life has been held to a minimum, to date, but on every side there is evidence of property loss. Only a week or more ago the State authorized financial aid to the Borough of West Pittston to help replace a school building damaged by mine subsidence. Others have been almost as seriously damaged but there is no indication of financial help coming from any source other than the pockets of the already overburdened taxpayer.

But even more dramatic is the case of the private home owner, the person who has stinted and saved for years to provide a shelter for himself and his family. He is justly proud of his accomplishment when he has the property completely paid for and he can point to it and say "This is my own." Then, overnight there is a settling in the underground workings beneath his property. His dwelling is twisted and cracked, and in many instances, to the extent that it is unsafe to live in any longer. The cold blooded operator may say that the home owner knew when he bought the plot on which he located a home, that he did not purchase the coal beneath it.

It appears right now that the anthracite industry is not able to get sufficient help to mine the coal needed to heat the homes and power the mills and factories of our country. What would the condition be if everyone refrained from locating in the coal region through fear of subsidies? Better still, the man who bought the site on which he ventually located a home, certainly bought the ground on which he placed his dwelling. It seems that common sense dictates that no coal company or any other person or group of persons have the right to take that which belongs to someone else or even to damage the same without compensating the owner for the damage.

I also have an article here which appeared in one of our prominent papers, an editorial "Human Lives Versus Mine Caves."

Human Lives vs. Mine Caves

The time has arrived for plain talk on mine cave legislation. It is not a pleasant subject for this community or any other in the anthracite field. But it must be discussed, just as the issue must be faced.

Mine subsidences have been a source of distress throughout the coal region for decades. Recently they have been growing in number and in seriousness. This was to be expected as coal reserves dwindled and mining approached the surface.

Because of clauses in early deeds, owners of mineral rights have had things their own way in the anthracite field. There has been extensive property damage —to homes, business places, public buildings, bridges and highways. Protests have been lodged after settlings, but caving goes right on.

Property rights or individuals in the coal region do not seem to count much in the law, although it does not make sense that owners should be allowed to remove coal in utter disregard of the consequences to the holdings of others.

Now a new factor enters the grim picture. Lives of human beings are bein placed in jeopardy. If the State is not in a position to do anything about protecting the property of its inhabitants, how about the lives of citizens? Do not human rights supersede property rights?

Already, we have had a frightful example at Pittston where a little girl was swallowed up by a mine cave as she walked along a public thoroughfare. She had a right to be there and no private concern had a right to take her life. Yet, she is dead.

Thousands of children and adults alike in the anthracite field run the same risk daily. Is not the State, meaning the General Assembly and the Governor, morally and legally obligated to protect the lives, if not the property, of these individuals?

Who knows what may happen tomorrow or the following day or the day after that? Maybe the next time, instead of a settling engulfing one little girl, it might wreck a school and kill hundreds. Or it might destroy a church where a thousand individuals are gathered in worship on a Sunday morning.

Maybe tonight a cave will break a gas main, flooding any number of homes and asphyxiating their occupants. Or it could trap scores in structures, dooming them to a terrible fate.

The Governor and the General Assembly have a grave responsibility in this matter. They cannot brush it aside where human life is at stake.

There will have to be some form of regulation, especially to curb the fly-by-night scavengers, who are the chief offenders. This irresponsible element should be eliminated, for it is adding to the headaches of the regular operators and the general public.

No one wants to penalize or bankrupt the industry, upon which the economy of this community depends. That isn't the idea and it should not be necessary to do this to bring order out of prevailing chaos.

Mr. Speaker, it is time to give serious consideration to see that legislation is enacted to protect the lives of our people and to protect property owners who are now at the mercy of the ruthless mine operators.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. ROOT. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 100, Printer's No. 383, entitled:

An Act providing that in cities of the first class in all cases where taxes are due and unpaid upon a single tract of land and it is desired to divide such tract into separate parcels the Board of Revision of Taxes may apportion such taxes ratably between or among the parcels so divided provided that upon payment of the taxes and proper costs on any such parcel it shall be released from the lien.

was defeated on final passage on Tuesday, April 3, 1945, be reconsidered.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. How did the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Root vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. ROOT. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. How did the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Smith, vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the biss pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. ROOT. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mrs. VARALLO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, several weeks ago my colleague from Philadelphia, Mrs. Coyle, and myself introduced a resolution, demanding an investigation of the administration of the Eastern State Penitentiary at Philadelphia, under the Department of Welfare.

At that time the public press carried amazing stories, indicating at least lack of efficiency, if not gross inefficiency, in the management of the affairs of that institution.

Little did we know that at that time a group of individual prisoners, were completing their tenth month of constructing a subway, which resulted in a wholesale jail delivery, only a short while ago. It is interesting in this connection to observe, that not only did the prisoners have shovels to make their work easier, but even had an electric light system installed, to better accommodate them.

After the introduction of our resolution, there was nothing done. The prison break of last week stirred officials at Harrisburg, to suggest to the Secretary of Welfare, that an investigation be made. The Secretary of Welfare delegated two of her employees, who, for all we know, may have been charged with the responsibility of overseeing the affairs of this institution, to make an investigation.

We are advised by the public press, that the findings of this investigation which has taken no more than a few days, have been submitted to official Harrisburg, and that certain legislation is being contemplated.

The result of this whitewash action should be made public, as soon as the bills reach the discussion stage. In the meantime, it seems quite ridiculous to ask those responsible for the supervision of the Eastern State Penitentiary, to make an investigation to find the facts on which to base remedial legislation. They would be less than human if they were to find any facts which would tend to embarrass the Department.

It has been known for a long time, and this administration has recognized the fact, that this institution should be abandoned, and our postwar plans, include the building of a new maximum security prison to take its place.

However, something must be wrong when convicts could dig for months undetected—when these convicts could arm themselves with knives and civilian clothes, to prepare for their journey—when the industrialists at Cherry Hill were permitted to employ prison labor on war contracts—when the farms at Gratersford were permitted to lie fallow, while the institution spent money on the open market for vegetables—when three trustees could resign in a body, without the raising of official eyebrows.

The answer is not a self-exculpating investigation, which may be followed by whitewash legislation—the investigation should be conducted by experts and by experts, we mean penologists and not politicians.

There is a scientific cure for a bad prison situation. It cannot be solved by lightly tapping some people on the head, and suggesting that they be a bit more careful.

Whether the resolution of Mrs. Coyle and myself is reported out is not the question—we would be happy not to press for its adoption, if the administration would take intelligent forward steps to remedy the situation.

It is also noteworthy in passing, to note, that both the Philadelphia Record, which first exposed the facts, and the Philadelphia Inquirer, have editorially called for drastic action, to determine the administration difficulties to the end that proper legislation as found necessary, may be adopted.

The session is quickly drawing to a close. Action must be taken now.

RESOLUTION

Mr. STUART offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk.

CONDOLENCE RESOLUTION

Mr. KENNEDY offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 10, 1945.

From time to time the members of the General Assembly hear of the death of a son, a brother, a father, a friend or an acquaintance or even of a stranger—all heroes of the war, all deserving of some expression of sympathy and understanding.

And yet, on many of these occasions, only the elegance of silence sufficies, as words would be impudent and when not so, they would be hollow and without meaning.

Occasionally, however, one must speak for a protracted silence might be regarded as indifference.

Reverend Charles Lantz, an employe of the House of Representatives, received word last week that his son Lieutenant David Lantz, a navigator, of Milroy, Pennsylvania, was killed in action over Germany; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives this day extends to Reverend Charles Lantz its sympathy and that many of the members share with him a common grief, and directs the Chief Clerk of the House to transmit a copy of this resolution to said Reverend Charle Lantz.

RESOLUTION

Mr. LOVETT offered a resolution which was filed wi the Clerk.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, yesterday the House voted upon a motion to recommit. There had been an understanding upon the part of the Committee that the bill was to be recommitted after second reading. It has been the practice in the past to honor these Committee agreements. However, there were some forty or fifty Members who did not choose to do so, so I am stating that as far as I am personally concerned in the future, that I shall not honor any agreement made upon the part of Committees. I shall consider that a bill once in the custody of the House is not subject to any prior commitment.

PRAYER

In the absence of the Chaplain prayer was offered by the Senator from Butler, Mr. CARR.

Our Father, we thank Thee that we are permitted to call Thee by this name; we thank Thee that Thy Son did so designate Thee and therefore we know that Thou art not only Father but also a loving and kindly Father unto us.

We do realize, O God, that under Thy fatherhood there is a brotherhood of man upon this earth and though the relationship of that brotherhood is disturbed at present we ask that in Thy overruling Providence Thou may bring again a time upon this earth when there shall be complete brotherhood.

Grant, O God, to be with us in all we do this day, and help us as men to not only serve our fellowman but to serve Thee, that we may do those things that are acceptable in Thy sight.

We ask this in Jesus' Name. Amen.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President and members of the Senate, Mark Twain once said that everybody talks about the weather but nobody does anything about it.

In the great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania the important question of state-wide civil service stands in that category. Every four years the candidates go up and down and across the state and promise the people improved government and economy in government; after the inauguration these promises are wrapped and packed away for another four years.

Government continues to grow like Topsy. The cost of government steadily climbs and the politicians labor and bear bastard children in the form of patronage jobs. More and more jobs seem to be necessary, not to perform the work of the Commonwealth, but to form the basis for a political organization to deliver the vote and win the election.

On February 13 I delivered extended remarks on the advantages and desirability of state-wide civil service. It is not my purpose to repeat the thoughts which I expressed at that time. I merely want to point out to the Senate and people of our Commonwealth that although this is an important question, important whether you are for or against it, two Senate committees, State Government and Constitutional Changes, to which Senate Bills No. 331 and No. 332 have been referred, have failed to consider either of ths measures.

It seems to me—and I will drop this pearl in passing—that it is an indictment against our legislative procedure, to countenance a system whereby the committees of the Senate and House are straitjacketed into consideration of only those bills which the chairman calls up for consideration. The entire committee system fails in its purpose if a committee is not permitted to consider every bill which is referred to it.

Although nineteen states of our country, including some of the leading states, have adopted state-wide civil service, and although countless persons in Pennsylvania favor state-wide civil service in our state, these two committees have failed to consider Senate Bills No. 331 and No. 332, although the bills have been in those committees for two months.

I have considerable mail from various parts of the state expressing approval of these two bills. One of those communications is from the Civic Club of Allegheny County—that is the home, incidentally, of Senator McGinnis—and this letter has this to say concerning Senate Bill No. 331:

"Approved: the provisions set forth in this bill are in accord with the highest standards of civil service and now are being used successfully in those divisions of the state government which now receive federal aid."

I recognize, gentlemen of the Senate, that Senate Bills No. 331 and No. 332 have been thoroughly pickled and stifled, and I do not speak for their enactment during this session, but I do want to leave with you the thought and the hope that in some future session these measures can be considered, carefully considered, and if they are found worthy, let them be acted upon by the committees and let the House and Senate vote upon the question of state-wide civil service.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. McGINNIS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, inasmuch as the Senator from Northampton has just spoken on civil service, I want to remind the Senate that we had a young Senator here, I think for two weeks at one time, and now he is a Congressman at Washington and he is demanding an investigation of civil service in Washington, and here is a remark that I want to incorporate into the record: "The new Congressman who recently took a seat after service with the Navy in the Pacific described civil service as a pious front for a lot of loafing."

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. THOMAS, from the Committee on Highways, reported as committed, House Bill No. 642, entitled:

An Act authorizing in certain cases, the issuance of motor vehicle operators' licenses to persons honorably discharged from the armed forces of the United States or from any women's organization officially connected therewith, without a learner's permit; and the temporary suspension of existing laws requiring the same.

He also, from the Committee on Appropriations, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 219, entitled:

Mr. DENT, from the Committee on Highways, reported as amended, Senate Bill No. 636, entitled:

An Act to further amend section twelve hundred and eighteen of the act, approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 905), entitled "An act for the protection of the public safety; regulating the use of highways, and the operation of vehicles, tractors, street cars, trackless trolley omnibuses bicycles, pedestrians, and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth; providing for the titling, including liens, encumbrances, and legal claims; registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof, upon payment of prescribed fees; prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue, the Department of Highways, peace officers, mayors, burgesses, magistrates, aldermen, justices of the peace, the courts and the clerks thereof, owners of vehicles, and garage keepers; providing that records are admissible as evidence; imposing upon owners, counties, cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, townships, within the Commonwealth, liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles; imposing penalties; imposing certain costs upon counties; providing for the disposition of fines, forfeitures, fees, and miscellaneous receipts; making an appropriation and providing for refunds," by requiring pedestrians to comply with requests of peace officers

He also, from the Committee on Highways, reported as committed, House Bill No. 1211, entitled:

An Act to further amend section six hundred sixteen of the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 905) entitled "An act for the protection of the public safety regulating the use of highways and the operation of vehicles tractors street cars trackless trolley omnibuses bicycles pedestrians and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth providing for the titling including liens encumbrances and legal claim registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof upon payment of prescribed fees prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue the Department of Highways peace officers mayors burgesses magistrates aldermen justices of the peace the courts and the clerks thereof owners of vehicles and garage keepers providing that records are admissible as evidence imposing upon owners counties cities boroughs incorporated towns townships within the Commonwealth liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles imposing penalties imposing certain costs upon counties providing for the disposition of fines forfeitures fees and miscellaneous receipts making an appropriation and providing for refunds" by further prescribing the time when certain penalties imposed under the said act shall become effective

He also, from the Committee on Highways, reported as committed, House Bill No. 528, entitled:

An Act to repeal subsection (f) of section nine hundred two of the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 905) entitled "An act for the protection of the public safety regulating the use of highways and the operation of vehicles tractors street cars trackless trolley omnibuses bicycles pedestrians and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth providing for the titling including liens encumbrances and legal claims registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof upon payment of prescribed fees prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue the Department of Highways peace officers mayors burgesses magistrates aldermen justices of the peace the courts and the clerks thereof owners of vehicles and garage keepers providing that records are admissible as evidence imposing upon owners counties cities boroughs incorporated towns townships within the Commonwealth liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles imposing penalties imposing certain costs upon counties providing for the disposition of fines forfeitures fees and miscellaneous receipts making an appropriation and providing for refunds" as last amended by the act approved the twenty-ninth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 2329)

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE ON SENATE RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 26

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I desire to make a report from committee at this time, on Senate Resolution, Serial No. 26.

I am directed by the Committee on Judiciary General to make the following report;

SENATE OF PENNSYLVANIA
COMMITTEE ON JUDICIARY GENERAL

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON JUDICIARY GENERAL ON SENATE RESOLUTION SERIAL No. 26

On January 30, 1945, Senate Resolution Serial No. 26 was introduced in the Senate. It was referred to the Committee on Rules on January 30, reported from said Committee as committed, and adopted by the Senate that same day. The Resolution reads as follows:

JUDICIARY GENERAL COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE STATE NEWS SERVICE, STATE LEGISLATIVE SERVICE, AND STATE BUSINESS SERVICE

In the Senate, January 30, 1945.

Whereas, From almost under the dome of this Capitol there issues periodically a sheet under the caption of "State News Service, Masonic Temple, Harrisburg," of which one A. O. Vorse is the reputed writer and publisher; and

Whereas, This publication operated in conjunction with a reputed State Business and State Legislative Service is devoted primarily to a continuing tirade against the Jews as a race, and to inciting race and religious prejudices, patterned after the most scurrilous utterances of the arch-Jew baiter, Adolph Hitler; and

Whereas, Our Nation and its component Commonwealth, in particular the lands of Pennsylvania, have since their earliest settlement been dedicated to the principles of religious and racial tolerance, which are guaranteed to all of its people by the Federal and State constitutions; and

Whereas, While the constitutions likewise proclaim freedom of speech and of the press, such freedom cannot be converted into a license to incite blind hatreds and to preach the basic doctrine of our enemies; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Judiciary General Committee of the Senate be instructed to conduct an investigation of the State News Service, The State Legislative Service and The State Business Service and its publishers, and report to the Senate its findings and recommendations; and that said committee is hereby given the authority of the Senate to bring before it for questioning, and to compel the attendance of A. O. Vorse, reputed publisher of the State News Service, and any other person, and any records, books and papers having any bearing on the subject under investigation.

In compliance with the mandate contained in said Resolution, the Judiciary General Committee of the Senate proceeded forthwith to conduct said investigation.

The Committee first investigated the rumor that the aforesaid A. O. Vorse was receiving large numbers of every Senate Bill as they were printed in the pink from the Senate Sergeant-at-Arms. The Committee found as a matter of fact that this rumor was untrue and that the Senate Sergeant-at-Arms does not furnish to A. O. Vorse any copies of any Senate Bills. The Committee feels that any citizen of the Commonwealth should, and does, have the right to obtain a copy or a reasonable number of copies of any Bill introduced into the Senate from the Senate Sergeant-at-Arms. However, the Committee does not feel that the office of the Senate Sergeant-at-Arms should be a supply depot for the operation of any legislative information service conducted by any individual or any group. The Committee personally checked up on every regular recipient of Senate Bills who was receiving more than three copies of each Bill and the Committee is satisfied that in each and every instance the recipients were using the copies so received in the affairs of State and in the natural progress of the legislation.

The Committee is aware of the rumor that the said A. O. Vorse was receiving copies of Senate Bills through the House of Representatives. The Committee feels that it has no jurisdiction whatsoever to investigate the affairs of the House and the Committee further feels that it would not be ethical for the Senate to publicly criticize the House of Representatives in its conduct of its branch of the legislature.

The Committee also investigated the rumor that the said A. O. Vorse regularly occupied space in the Departpartment of Property and Supplies on the first floor of the Capitol Building and that in said office he was furnished with a desk, chair, telephone and clerical help. The Committee determined after a careful investigation that this rumor was unfounded. The Committee did ascertain that the said A. O. Vorse in the conduct of a so-called "Legislative Service" did regularly attend the opening of Bids in the Purchasing Department of the Department of Property and Supplies. However, any citizen of the Commonwealth is entitled to attend the opening of such bids because all such matters are public and, therefore, the said A. O. Vorse was entirely within his rights in attending these lettings and ascertaining the names of bidders and the amounts of said bids. The Committee, therefore, feels that no recommendation is necessary relative to this particular phase of the investigation.

The Committee contacted the said A. O. Vorse and requested him to furnish the Committee with copies of his State News Service. This State News Service is a letter mimeographed and distributed weekly by the said A. O. Vorse to any person or persons who desire to subscribe to the same. Mr. Vorse promised to send the Committee copies of the news letters he has distributed since January 1, 1945. However, the copies if sent never were delivered to the Committee. The Committee did obtain from various sources several copies of some of the letters so distributed and upon which we shall comment later in this report.

On Tuesday, March 20, 1945, the Committee did hold a public hearing in order to further investigate the matters contained in the Resolution and to make inquiry regarding the subject matter of some of the News Letters in possession of the Committee. Mr. Vorse was invited to attend this hearing and he assured the Chairman of the Committee that he would be present. Mr. Vorse was not present at the hearing although the Committee has been indirectly advised that the gentleman did pass through the Senate Caucus Room, where the hearing was held, shortly before the hearing was called to order, but when the meeting convened the gentleman was not present.

The Committee received in evidence copies of some of the News Letters distributed by Mr. Vorse and also received a statement from the sponsor of the Resolution. The Committee is of the opinion that it does not have the power of subpoena and even if Mr. Vorse did voluntarily attend the hearing the Committee is not a court of record and does not have the power to compel Mr. Vorse, or any other witness, to testify or to answer questions.

The Committee carefully examined the news letters which have been made available to it, copies of which are attached to this report for the information of the Senate. The Committee is convinced that Mr. Vorse is not a newspaper man, does not represent any newspaper or news syndicate, is not a member of the Pennsylvania Legislative Correspondents Association and in no way should the representatives of the press be held accountable directly or indirectly for Mr. Vorse, his actions, his statements, or his publications.

The Committee feels that no good purpose could be served by further hearings or further investigation. The Committee further feels that it has efficiently, diligently, and expeditiously carried out the responsibilities entrusted to it by the Senate through Senate Resolution Serial No. 26.

Wherefore, the Committee makes the following findings of fact:

1. That the said A. O. Vorse is not receiving any copies of Bills from the Senate Sergeant-at-Arms.

2. That the said A. O. Vorse does not have an office or desk space in the Department of Property and Supplies.

3. That the cooperation of the House of Representatives is necessary in order to effectively control or prevent any abuses in the distribution of legislative information.

4. That the said A. O. Vorse is not affiliated with any recognized Pennsylvania newspaper, news service, nor is he a member of the Pennsylvania Legislative Correspondents Association, and that he does not have desk space in the news room in the Capitol Building.

5. That the scurrilous statements in the News Letter published by A. O. Vorse attacking the members of the Jewish race are unwarranted, untrue and contrary to the ethics of the newspaper profession.

The Committee has no proof that the said A. O. Vorse is being paid by any subversive organization to deliberately publish such un-American propaganda. The Committee solemnly warns the said A. O. Vorse that such attempts to breed ill feeling based on race prejudice or religious intolerance are just as deliberate acts of sabotage as direct interference with the war effort. One of the cardinal principles of this great Republic is freedom of speech and freedom of the press and it is indeed unfortunate that at times certain individuals are so contemptible and so un-American that they use that very shield as a bulwark behind which they hide while they, themselves, attempt to destroy those very pillars of freedom. America knows no creed, no race, no color, no geographical boundary. Every human being in whose heart burns the torch of freedom is an American. The portals of this great Republic are thrown wide open to the peoples of the world. Here truly all men are created free and equal. Americans of all races, of all colors, of all creeds, of all geographical origins, since the birth of the Republic, have died defending these principles, and the Committee condemns bitterly the attempt on the part of any individual to sow the seeds of hate and disunity, because the only harvest that can come from such a sowing is that which is being reaped at the present time in land controlled by Nazi Germany.

In view of these findings of fact and these determinations of policy, the Committee makes the following recommendations:

1. That the Secretary of the Senate be instructed to advise and direct the office of the Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate that no individual or group of individuals shall directly or indirectly be given more than three copies of any Senate Bill unless the request for additional copies shall have been made in writing to the Secretary of the Senate and said request shall have been approved by the Secretary of the Senate and the Senator representing the district in which the petitioner resides.

2. That the said A. O. Vorse be herewith publicly censored for printing unfounded, unfair, and un-American attacks upon members of the Jewish Race.

3. That the Senate, by the adoption of this report, go on record categorically denying the foul propaganda contained in said news letter and further going on record that the propaganda contained in said news letters is unwarranted, untrue and contrary to the ethics of the United States of America.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN M. WALKER, Chairman,
Judiciary General Committee of the Senate.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, in submitting this report I want to call to the attention of the desk the fact that the report and the news letter are kept separately and this is done deliberately, Mr. President, so that there is no danger of the statements contained in this news service letter ever creeping into the Legislative Journal.

MOTION THAT THE REPORT BE ADOPTED

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I move the adoption of the foregoing report.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President I rise to oppose acceptance of this report of the so-called investigation of A. O. Vorse. I certainly agree with the sentiments expressed in the report, but I do not see how a report can be made or an investigation made of a man who never appeared before the committee. In fact, I believe the investigation could be summed up in a very few words; Mr. Vorse, no Mr. Walker; Mr. Walker, no Mr. Vorse.

The day that the Committee on Judiciary General was to meet at nine o'clock, we can not deny the fact that Mr. Vorse appeared at nine o'clock sharp and the Chairman of the committee was not present; he asked for the chairman of the committee and walked out.

Much has been said in the report of the Committee on Judiciary General about bills, but I want to draw to the attention of the chairman of that committee the fact that the resolution contained certain definite statements concerning anti-Semetic utterances and many accusations, one made against the party leaders of the party to which the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, belongs.

I believe that Mr. Vorse should have been taken in. After the meeting Mr. Walker made a statement to the newspapers and said that he did not have the power of subpoena. I immediately introduced, on March 21, 1945, a resolution, Serial No. 49, giving the committee the power of subpoena and asked for immediate consideration of the resolution on the floor of the Senate, but the Chairman of the Committee on Judiciary General, who had asked for this right, objected to immediate consideration.

I can not in any way imagine a report made on an investigation of a man when the man was not before the committee to be heard. It is true that Mr. Vorse has made many anti-Semetic utterances. In his paper, in one of the recent issues, he brought back the old story that Benjamin Franklin and the Pinckney letters had fought the giving of the right to the Jew of American citizenship. These Pickney letters, Mr. President, are being used today in the trial in Washington of those people who were spreading sedition throughout the United States.

I do not know why the Chairman of the Committee on Judiciary General did not accept the resolution giving to the committee the power of subpoena and bring in Mr. Vorse, who has stated in practically every saloon in the city of Harrisburg he was willing to appear before the committee, and would appear, and he did appear, but the chairman of the committee was fifteen or twenty minutes late.

Mr. President, I believe we should not accept the report. It is words, mere words, beautiful words, and words we like to hear, but what we would like to hear from the lips of Mr. Vorse is where he has secured this information and, as he states in one of his letters, that he personally went to the Historical Society where they keep their records in Philadelphia and could not find the Pinckney letters. He said he is willing to come before the committee.

Therefore, Mr. President, I ask that we still insist that the Committee on Judiciary General bring in Mr. Vorse by subpoena and hear his side of the story and then we can make a proper report. As the report now stands it is words, mere words.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I am going to say a few word, a very few words only. I have little or no regard for the statements of Mr. Vorse. I am one of those who is affected.

I have read some of his articles. I have little or no regard and. frankly, in my mind he is one of those chronic fanatics. When this first started, although I was accused of instigating it, I had no part in it.

As long as we have America, as long as there is any country in this world, certain individuals will be criticized, Jew, Gentile, black and white, and I feel the less attention we pay to this thing today the better off we will be. Some do not like Catholics, some do not like Jews, some do not like Protestants, some do not like colored people, but God made us all, and if we are true men and real Americans we will forget this criticism that is directed at one particular group. When we build up this Mr. Vorse, who is a common drunk—I see him time and again at the taprooms, dead drunk, an irresponsible person, we are making a big man out of somebody who knows little or nothing and who is simply exploiting this news service to earn some money. I therefore say, along with the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, that we go along with the committee report and adopt it immediately.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I would like to suggest to the Chair, inasmuch as this is a report of a committee, there need not be a vote taken on the report. The report of the committee is submitted as such and becomes a part of the record of the Senate, as I understand parliamentary prcedure. Therefore I suggest that there is no occasion for a vote one way or another upon the question of accepting or rejecting this report.

If there is any opposition to the report, if any member of the committee does not believe in the findings, then the only procedure, as I understand it, would be to file a minority report.

The PRESIDENT. This is a report of a committee of the Senate and the Senate has a right, if it so desires, to approve the report, and therefore the motion of the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, is perfectly in order.

MOTION WITHDRAWN

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, the committee has no especial interest in pressing this matter to a vote, and with the permission of the seconder, I would like to withdraw the motion to approve the report.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I withdraw my seconding of the motion.

Mr. WALKER. I just want to say that there was no dissenting vote in the committee when the report was approved by the committee this morning.

The committee has no desire to build up Mr. Vorse or to tear any citizen down. They did the best they could with the resolution and with the tools they had and they made the best report they felt they could make under the circumstances and every member of the committee is sincerely of the opinion expressed in the report.

I want the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Holland, to understand that the statements made in this report are the profound opinion of the committee, and if he has any defense of Mr. Vorse he should make it in a minority report and not make it here on the floor of the Senate.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I could take considerable time of the Senate today by reading into the record letters received from leading ministers and organizations throughout not only Pennsylvania but the United States, urging that Mr. Vorse be brought in and questioned.

I would like to advise the gentleman from Philadelphia that the man who caused this war was considered a crack-pot. When Mr. Hitler first started in Germany he was looked upon and considered a crack-pot by the people of Germany, and today we know the result of permitting even a crack-pot to spread the type of propaganda that Mr. Hitler was spreading, not only in Germany but in America.

This is one of the crack-pot followers of Hitler, Mr. Vorse. Mr. Vorse is the same type as the twenty-six people who are now being tried in Washington. Crack-pots you may call them, but people not living in Harrisburg do not know when they read the letters of Mr. Vorse that he is a common ordinary drunk, a common ordinary gutter bum; they read those letters and think there is some truth in them. He is the Capital News and he has his office in a place where I hope they will soon tell him to get out, because it is a disgrace to see that name on his letterhead, and a lot of people throughout the state gather them up, and I say to you, Mr. President, I suppose nothing further can be done. If the Committee on Judiciary General says this is its report, it is their report, but I do not think, Mr. President, it was fair to bring in a report of this type when they did not have Mr. Vorse before the committee. That is all that I asked this committee to do, but they did not do it. Therefore, Mr. President, they can spread the committee report on the record, but I say that the committee report does not carry out the true purpose of the resolution.

The PRESIDENT. The report will be spread upon the Legislative Journal.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND COMMITTED

Mr. LETZLER read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 695, entitled;

An Act to amend section twelve hundred nine of the act approved the third day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1333), entitled "An act concerning elections, including general, municipal, special and primary elections, the nomination of candidates, primary and election expenses and election contests; creating and defining membership of county boards of elections; imposing duties upon the Secretary of the Commonwealth, courts, county boards of elections, county commissioners; imposing penalties for violation of the act, and codifying, revising and consolidating the laws relating thereto; and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to elections," by providing for the suspension of the provisions for the burning and destruction of ballots and other papers at certain times, and the salvaging thereof.

Which was committed to the Committee on Elections.

Mr. HOMSHER read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 696, entitled:

An Act directing the county commissioners of each county to prepare, certify and deliver to the Department of Public Instruction at stated intervals, a certified list of all real estate conveyances or transfers within such county, together with the consideration for such conveyance or transfer and the assessed valuation for county tax purposes of such real estate; providing for reimbursement to the county by the Department of Public Instruction for such lists; and making an appropriation.

Which was committed to the Committee on County Government.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 697, entitled:

An Act requiring the consideration, purchase price or other value of the interest conveyed to be set forth in all conveyances or other transfers of real estate or interests therein; prohibiting the recorder of deeds from accepting for record instruments not setting forth such consideration and requiring the recorder of deeds to deliver a list of such transfers and the consideration therefor to the county commissioners.

Which was committed to the Committee on County Government.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 698, entitled:

An Act providing temporary increases in the salaries of certain members of the teaching and supervisory staffs of school districts authorizing additional appropriations and temporary loans therefor requiring the Commonwealth to reimburse school districts for the full amount of such increases authorizing the Superintendent of Public Instruction to withhold payments due from the Commonwealth in certain cases authorizing additional temporary increases and validating such increases heretofore made and making an appropriation.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

Mr. THOMAS read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 699, entitled:

An Act repealing and abandoning as a State highway, State highway routes 43029 and 43093 in Mercer County; and providing for the reversion thereof to the township.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

Mr. CROWE read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 700, entitled:

An Act to encourage the protection and development of forest resources in the Commonwealth in the interest of the owner and general public; providing for the creation of various local advisory committees by the Department of Forests and Waters, and the establishment of minimum standards of forest practice to have the force of law; placing duties upon certain governmental officials and agencies; and imposing penalties.

Which was committed to the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE SENATE

Mr. WAGNER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, I am going to read in place and present to the Chair a bill, but before doing so I should like to say just a few words, because of its need and because of what it does.

We talk from time to time here about public assistance, loans, bonds, and judgments and liens on property, how far we should go and where we should stop in the exercise of authority.

I would like to call attention to the fact that there is a law on the statute books, enacted in 1931, by which the Commonwealth is authorized to buy any property on which it has a lien, when it is sold at judicial sale because of failure to pay taxes.

Conceivably I might have a little property and be receiving assistance from the state; they might hold a lien against that property for a few hundred dollars; if I lost the property because of non-payment of taxes, the Department of Justice would step in to protect its interest and buy it. They might obtain possession of that property for seven or eight hundred dollars. Then, when my relatives helped me out and when times changed and things got brighter and I would go to the Department of Justice and try to reclaim my property, instead of paying seven or eight hundred dollars to satisfy the tax claims, the claim of the Department of Public Assistance, interest and the costs to the state of their procedure, the Department of Justice is under the impression or under compulsion to hold that property until they get the highest possible current value for it.

Maybe I have lost my home because of seven or eight hundred dollars and I would have to pay $7,000 or $8,000 to get it back.

This bill, which I consider very good and which I trust the proper committee will look upon with favor, would authorize the Department of Justice to execute and deliver a deed for a property formerly owned by a recipient of public assistance, upon payment of the debt, the interest and the costs due the Commonwealth.

It seems just elementary fairness, common justice, but it is going to save a lot of heart-aches and prevent the permanent loss of a lot of homes that might be recovered by paying back the amount of assistance received.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND COMMITTED

Mr. WAGNER read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 701, entitled:

An Act to amend section three of the act approved the twenty-ninth day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 214), entitled "An act authorizing the Commonwealth to purchase at judicial sale and thereafter to hold or sell any property upon which it has a mortgage or lien; providing for the payment of the cost of such acquisitions; and making an appropriation," by authorizing the Department of Justice to execute and deliver a deed for property formerly owned by a recipient of public assistance upon payment of debt, interest and costs due the Commonwealth.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. TROUTMAN read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 702, entitled:

An Act making it unlawful for any individual or individuals to carry on any business under an assumed or fictitious name, style, or designation unless upon advertisement and the filing of an application to that effect in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth and of the prothonotary; requiring nonresident applicants to have a resident agent; prescribing the effect of failure to file such application; providing that certificates of the Secretary of the Commonwealth shall be admitted in evidence; requiring county commissioners, at the expense of the county, to provide books or other means of reproduction for the entry of such applications; requiring the cancellation of such application on the withdrawal from the business; providing methods therefor; fixing the fees of the Secretary of the Commonwealth and prothonotary and providing penalties.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary Special.

Mr. KLEIN read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 703, entitled:

A Supplement to the act, approved the first day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary Special.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 706, entitled:

An Act exempting service persons from the payment of certain fees of the Professional Examining Boards in the Department of Public Instruction.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HOLLAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HOLLAND. The papers throughout the State have carried the news that the state relief rolls have set an all-time low. This is the kind of news we like to hear. But, in rejoicing that we have few unemployed on relief, we must face and prepare now to take care of the men and women in our State who will be dismissed from industry in the many tens of thousands with the cancellation of war orders at the end of this war.

The Nation's production in 1944 exceeded two hundred billion dollars. This total has been sustained by ninety-five billions of government war expenditures. Cancellation of war orders, when they come, will not only reduce the Nation's production by nearly one-half, but the stream of economic activity fed by this enormous sum will be substantially lowered.

Unless peace-time production expands to replace war-production, it can very well be that the value of the Nation's output would fall to seventy-five billion dollars. The one hundred twenty-five billion dollar difference is a deflationary gap. The existence of such a deflationary gap would hazard the Nation's security. I use the word "Nation" because what happens in one State will effect the other forty-seven. These dangers would follow:—Poverty among half or more of our population; civil disorders; crime; sickness and disease; mass migration of homeless people; family breakups and return to the boy and girl hoboes of the Hoover depression; competition for existing jobs would bring race riots; veterans of 1917-18 competing with veterans of this war; war veterans competing with non-veterans; unemployed marches and bonus marches would be the order all over again. These are the problems this Senate must face. If they are not solved here, we cannot pass the buck. It is our planning, our preparing—it is our law that we passed creating a Post-War Planning Commission to be administered properly that will save Pennsylvania when the cutbacks occur.

Unless flexible plans are made, the Nation will be faced with a choice of either continuing to turn out useless mountains of war materials or suddenly stopping such production and aiding turmoil. How can this be done? What is being done the people of Pennsylvania should be permitted to know. Has the State made the proper approach to this problem? Regardless of how many projects the State intends to undertake, they will be useless unless these projects are placed in districts and communities where the greatest lay-offs occur. The people in every community in Pennsylvania have a right to know whether the company intends to operate the plants in that community and what they intend to produce.

Does our State Planning Commission know the number of men and women who will be laid off when war orders are cancelled. Because this is one problem that the corporations cannot do alone. They must plan in cooperation with the programs of other companies and in cooperation with the local and State governments. All of these programs must be put on the table where the State Planning Commission can look them over, the corporations of Pennsylvania can look them over, also the local governments, officials and labor.

We, in Pennsylvania, must establish an annual minimum production goal for all basic industries which will add up, along with the production of small business, farmers and public enterprise, to a State production goal equal to the production capacity of the State. Initiative and enterprise will still be free to top these minimum goals, and we must see to it that the sum total of all these programs keeps on rising from year to year—not just standing still. Management owes these things to the people of the country. We, in the State Senate, owe it to the people who sent us here.

That is why, Mr. President, I am presenting this resolution. We, in the Senate, want to know just what is being done in preparing for peace. I know that some of you may say the war is not yet won. Do not let us make the error that we made after World War I or before World War II of not planning for the future. Unfortunately that is one of the errors we have always made of living only for today and forgetting there is a tomorrow. If our free enterprise system is to survive, the faith of our boys in our way of life must not be shattered by coming home to unemployment.

Pennsylvania, who has proven in war, that we can keep the wheels of production going twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week, making the weapons of war to destroy and to kill, will be faced in peace-time to prove to the fifteen million boys and girls who have used these weapons to destroy and to kill, that in peace we can prove to the returning veterans that their dream in the fox holes of hell is a reality—they have a good job, at good wages; that the joy of living without fear of unemployment is all theirs.

RESOLUTIONS

REQUESTING THE PENNSYLVANIA POST WAR PLANNING COMMISSION COVERING ITS ACTIVITIES AND PROJECTED PROGRAM

Messrs. HOLLAND and COX offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, April 11, 1945.

Whereas, The General Assembly of Pennsylvania at its regular session in the year 1943, enacted into law a measure providing for the formation of the Pennsylvania Post War Planning Commission, and prescribing its powers and duties; and

Whereas, The creation and functioning of such a commission does not relieve the members of the Senate of Pennsylvania from further responsibility with respect to carrying out the intent and purpose of post war planning and the attainment of the goal of full employment at high wage rates after the conclusion of the wars with Germany and Japan; and

Whereas, The cut backs at the end of these wars will be more pronounced in some localities than in others, and it is, therefore, important that the Senate assure itself that post war projects are being planned for districts where the largest number of lay offs will occur, and for this purpose to ascertain whether or not the Pennsylvania State Planning Commission is cooperating with industry to determine the probability of lay offs that will occur in industry upon the termination of hostilities and the plans of industry in the field of peace time production; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania hereby requests the Pennsylvania Post War Planning Commission for a full and detailed report covering its activities up to the present time and its projected program for the future, and more particularly with respect to the following:

A. Construction projects ready for bids.—
   1. Nature of project.
   2. Dollar cost.
   3. Location.
   4. Potential employment created by project.
   5. Length of time to complete construction.

B. Projects now on the drawing boards and time required for them to be ready for bids.—
   1. Nature of project.
   2. Dollar cost.
   3. Location.
   4. Potential employment created by project.
   5. Length of time to complete construction.

C. Projects approved not yet on drawing board.—
1. Nature of project.
2. Dollar cost.
3. Location.
4. Potential employment created by project.
5. Length of time to complete construction.

Resolved Further, That a certified copy of these resolutions be transmitted by the Secretary of the Senate to the Director of the Pennsylvania Post War Planning Commission.

REQUEST THAT RULE 39 BE SUSPENDED

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I object to immediate consideration.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution is referred to the Committee on State Government.

URGING THE FORMULATION OF A PLAN FOR THE ORGANIZATION OF A PENNSYLVANIA ASSIGNED RISK PLAN FOR INSURING PHYSICALLY DISABLED PERSONS

Mr. CROWE offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, April 11, 1945.

There are many persons within the Commonwealth who, although skilled in the driving of automobiles, are denied the right so to do on account of physical disabilities which make the procurement of liability and property damage insurance impossible.

The return of fighting men from the battle fronts of the world will greatly increase this number, and the inability of many of those who desire every possible privilege and opportunity of enjoyment, to secure such insurance, will prevent their full use of automobiles.

It is not possible nor would it be advisable to compel insurance companies to accept such risks which in their experience are hazardous.

Many companies in Pennsylvania writing liability and property damage insurance have lately developed the "Pennsylvania Automobile Assigned Risks Plan" for the voluntary handling of liability and property damage insurance on persons who have come under the provisions of the Financial Responsibility Law.

The formation of a similar plan for the voluntary handling of liability and property damage insurance on persons physically handicapped, might be the means of affording such persons the coverage necessary to allow them to enjoy the privilege of driving an automobile, either for pleasure or in the carrying on of a business; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), By the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that the Insurance Commissioner of the Commonwealth and the Secretary of Revenue of the Commonwealth are requested to meet and consult with representatives of the various casualty companies doing business within the Commonwealth, in an attempt to arrive at and formulate a plan for the organization of a Pennsylvania Assigned Risks Plan for the insuring of physically disabled persons; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution shall be transmitted by the Secretary of the Senate to the Insurance Commissioner and to the Secretary of Revenue.

REQUEST THAT RULE 39 BE SUSPENDED

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I object to immediate consideration of the resolution and ask that it be referred to an Appropriate Committee.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution is referred to the Committee on Highways.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 461, entitled:

An Act concerning devises bequests or gifts in trust for the care and maintenance of cemeteries cemetery lots in perpetuity trustees and substituted trustees thereof sureties of said trustees excess income from said funds and the investment of such trust funds accounts of said trustees approving actions and proceedings prior to this act and repealing conflicting laws.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, will the gentleman from Philadelphia, the sponsor of Senate Bill No. 461, permit himself to be interrogated?

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FARRELL. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WOODRING. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia explain to the members of the Senate the purpose of this bill?

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, this is a bill that takes care of the cemeteries where a small sum is left in trust for the care of the lot and ground. Trust companies do not want those small accounts and cemeteries can better handle them.

This bill passed this Senate unanimously two years ago, the same bill, Dr. Woodward presented it, and it passed the Senate two years ago and got over to the house too late to pass in the House.

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, I desire to further interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. FARRELL. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, on page 1 of the bill, in the first section, lines 3 and 4, there appear bold-face brackets; will the gentleman from Philadelphia tell the members of the Senate the purpose of those bold-face brackets?

Mr. FARRELL. Will the gentleman repeat his question please?

Mr. WOODRING. I am speaking about the bold-face brackets, lines 3 and 4, the first page of the bill, and I ask what is the purpose of those brackets?

Mr. FARRELL. That takes out the amendment that was put in by my colleague from Philadelphia, Senator Kephart, which none of the cemetery companies wanted.

Mr. WOODRING. Yes, Mr. President, those brackets remove the restriction of this bill in its application to only non-profit corporation; is that not true?

Mr. FARRELL. That is right, because it removes "under the non-profit corporation law of 1933, Pamphlet Laws 289 as amended". The cemetery companies tell me there have been very few cemeteries created since 1933 and according to what we took out that only applied to cemetery companies from 1933 on and it did not mean anything.

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, under the present wording of the bill, the bill pertains to and applies to all cemetery companies in the state of Pennyslvania, does it not?

Mr. FARRELL. That is correct.

Mr. WOODRING. And if a gift were made to any cemetery company, the income from that gift can be used for the general purposes of the cemetery company and is not restricted to the purpose for which the donor made the gift.

Mr. FARRELL. Well, it applies to cemetery companies for the upkeep of the lot, and if there is any balance it can be used to keep the cemetery in repair, but they say there is very seldom a balance in those accounts. Also, we added the words "with the approval of the court."

Mr. WOODRING. But if there is not a balance then this act would not go into effect; this act applies only in those cases where there is a balance of income over and above that amount required to maintain the plot of the donor. Is that not so?

Mr. FARRELL. I am not too sure of that.

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President and members of the Senate, I am opposed to this type of bill because, while the gentleman from Philadelphia says it pertains and applies to small gifts, and those cases where the income is too small for any trust company to take cognizance of it, yet the fact is the bill nowhere restricts the amount or size of the gift or the amount of income, and you get yourself into this position, where there is a gift for a particular purpose to maintain a particlular lot or plot in a cemetery, and contrary to the express provisions of that gift we are permitting the cemetery companies, private corporations, to appropriate—and I say misappropriate—those funds for the purpose of the general expenses of the cemetery, and I for one think that is wrong and I am certainly going to vote against the bill.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Thursday, April 12, 1945, at 11:00 o'clock a. m., Eastern War Time.

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 5:32 o'clock p. m., Eastern War Time, until Thursday, April 12, 1945, at 11:00 o'clock a. m., Eastern War Time.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

WEDNESDAY, April 11, 1945

The House met at 1 p. m.

The SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Lester C. Updegrove, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, Father and Friend of all the sons of men, we humbly lift our hearts to Thee in prayer, for in Thy will is our peace and in Thy mercy lies our hope. In this solemn hour when the destinies of peoples is being fashioned we would seek Thy guidance and find in Thee our strength and stay. Free our minds from any secret insincerity or hidden selfishness that we may truly learn Thy will.

We would commit again unto Thee the sons and daughters of our communities who for us are braving dangers and death in far places of the earth. Be Thou their Refuge and their sure Defense.

In all tenderness of thought and depth of sympathy we would remember the bravehearted and the brokenhearted who wait for news that does not come. Bear to them messages of Thy deathless love and gird them with a faith unconquerable.

Keep the United Nations untied, steadfast in faith and firm in purpose to go forward with unflagging step to a common victory and a lasting peace. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. DAVID P. REESE, Jr. HOUSE BILL No. 1279.

An Act to repeal the act, approved the tenth day of April, one thousand eight hundred seventy-three (P. L. 664) entitled "An act relating to the return days of the several courts of Dauphin County."

Referred to the Committee on Judiciary General.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. MORAN and HEATHERINGTON

RESOLUTION No. 48.

In the House of Representatives, April 10, 1945.

The war in Europe is being won in large measure by the mobility and speed of our mechanized forces. Organizing and directing a great army of tanks, self-propelled guns and trucks is a problem demanding courage, knowledge and experience, and above all the ability to correctly time and follow up each movement.

Among the many truly great generals this war has produced, Lieutenant General George S. Patton is outstanding in these qualifications. His repeated triumphs in Tunisia, on Sicily, across France, and now into the heart of Germany, have earned for him recognition of personal greatness, and for the officers and men, commanded by him, without whose unfailing courage, stamina and devotion to duty no gorund could have been gained, no hostile army could have been destroyed and no victory could have been won, the distinction of being commanded by a four star general; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby respectfully recommends to the President and the Congress of the United States the advancement of Lieutenant General George S. Patton to the rank of General; and be it further Resolved, That copies of these resolutions, duly certified, be transmitted by the Chief Clerk to His Excellency Franklin Delano Roosevelt, and to Lieutenant General George S. Patton.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. ANDREWS and SORG.

RESOLUTION No. 49.

In the House of Representatives, April 10, 1945.

Resolved, That the Speaker of the House appoint a Select Committee of seven members of the House of Representatives whose duty it shall be to make a study of the Standing Committees of this House, for the purpose of determining the advisability of reducing the number of Standing Committees and the number of members required to be elected to the various Committees as provided under Rule 27 of the House of Representatives.

The Select Committee shall make its report to the House before sine die adjournment of this Session.

By Mr. STUART (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 50

In the House of Representatives, April 10, 1945.

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has been advised of the unanimous action of the Congress of the United States in adopting Senate Resolution No. 53, September 21, 1944.

The resolution, as adopted, reads:

"That the Congress of the United States expresses its belief in the world-wide right of interchange of news by news gathering and distributing agencies, individual or associate, by any means, without discrimination as to sources, distribution, rates or charges; and that this right should be perfected by international compact."

The principles embodied in and enunciated by the said resolution are in perfect accord with the opinion of the House on the interchange and distribution of news; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), By the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, that it hereby extends its commendation to the Congress of the United States for its affirmance of the principles of the freedom of speech and press as guaranteed in this country by the Constitution of the United States of America, advocates the adoption of the same principles upon a world-wide basis, in freedom and equality of access to the truth and the facts, and urges upon the delegates of this country to the peace conference the adoption of an international compact in accordance with the mandate from the Congress of the United States; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to the Secretary of State of the United States, to the chairman of the Committee on Foreign Affairs of the United States Senate, and to the chairman of the Committee on Foreign Affairs of the House of Representatives of the United States.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. LOVETT. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 51.

In the House of Representatives, April 10, 1945.

Resolved, That the Speaker of the House of Representatives appoint a Select Committee of seven members of the House, whose duty it shall be to make a study of the desirability of adopting a rule requiring all Standing Committees of the House to report either with a favorable or with an unfavorable recommendation of all legislation referred to them prior to the final adjournment of each regular, special or extraordinary session of the General Assembly, so as to give the members of the House of Representatives an opportunity to act upon all legislation introduced during such session.

The Select Committee shall make its report to the House before sine die adjournment of this session.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

EDWARD MARTIN.

SENATE MESSAGES

The Clerk of the Senate, Mr. Steinfelt, being introduced, presented extracts from the Journal of the Senate which were laid on the table.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

APPROVAL OF RESOLUTION RECALLING HOUSE BILL No. 719

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 11, 1945.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to inform you that I have this day approved and signed House Concurrent Resolution recalling from the Governor House Bill No. 719, Printer's No. 283, for the purpose of amendment.

Accordingly, the original bill is herewith returned.

EDWARD MARTIN.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. HALL. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed finally be reconsidered.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Hall, vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. HALL. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Sorg, vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Mr. HALL. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring.

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. HALL. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Section 1, page 3, line 3, by striking out after the word "into" and before the word "the", the following: "[the General Fund of]".

Add a new Section 2 to read as follows: "Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

By consent of the House leave of absence was granted as follows:

Mr. LEE for himself for tomorrow's session.

Mr. McCORMACK for himself for tomorrow's session.

Mr. BAUMUNK for himself for tomorrow's session.

Mr. MIKULA for himself for tomorrow's session.

Mr. PAUL G. MURRAY for himself for tomorrow's session.

Mr. GORE for himself for tomorrow's session.

Mr. BOIES for himself for tomorrow's session.

Mr. DOUGHERTY for himself for tomorrow's session.

Mr. WHITE for himself for tomorrow's session.

Mr. CHUDOFF for himself for tomorrow's session.

Mr. MATTHEWS for himself for tomorrow's session.

Mr. BURNS for himself for tomorrow's session.

Mr. TATE for himself for the remainder of the week after 3 p. m. today.

Mr. PETROSKY for himself for tomorrow's session.

Mr. ROSE for himself for the remainder of the week after 3 p. m. today.

Mr. Pettigrew for Mr. HOGGARD for the remainder of the week.

Mr. HENNIHAN for himself for tomorrow's session.

Mr. GRANT for himself for tomorrow's session.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. MODELL, is going to be married tomorrow and I trust that the Members of the House will unanimously grant him leave of absence for tomorrow's session. I hope all the other gentlemen who get leaves of absence will enjoy the ceremony very much.

Leave of absence was granted.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, is it within the power of the House at its discretion to revoke, rescind or recall leaves of absence granted?

The SPEAKER. It is within the power of the House to revoke, rescind or recall leaves of absence.

Mr. ANDREWS. Then, Mr. Speaker, I should like permission to make a short statement.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous permission to address the House.

If any Member of the House tomorrow, having a suspicion that we have not a quorum present, polls the House, I shall move to revoke all leaves of absence and send for the absent Members.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

By consent of the House leave of absence was granted as follows:

Mr. FINNERTY for himself for tomorrow's session.

Mr. SKALE for himself for the remainder of the week after 2 p. m. today.

Mr. Scanlon for Mr. LEVY for the remainder of the week.

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to make a motion.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would ask the gentleman the nature of the motion.

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, I am asking unanimous consent of the House to make a motion.

The SPEAKER. The House has the right to know what the nature of the motion is before it grants unanimous consent.

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, I cannot tell the Speaker and the Members of the House, unless I actually make the motion, what the motion is.

If the Speaker desires I will make the motion and then it is up to the Members of the House whether they will give unanimous consent for the motion. If they grant consent they must then vote on the motion.

The SPEAKER. If the gentleman wishes to do that it is perfectly satisfactory.

Mr. SCANLON. I am perfectly agreeable.

MOTION TO HOLD THREE-DAY SESSIONS

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, I move that this Session of the Legislature hold three-day sessions from now on.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent for the consideration of the motion at this time?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I object, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objections.

MOTION TO SUSPEND RULE

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, I move that we suspend the rules governing the four-day session.

The SPEAKER. For the information of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Scanlon, the Chair would state that it will be necessary to suspend Rule 14, which governs the daily order of business in order to consider his motion. Does the gentleman wish to make a motion to suspend Rule 14?

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, I move that we suspend Rule 14, and before the motion is put I rise to a point of information.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire of the Speaker how many persons have been granted leave of absence for Thursday's session of this week.

The SPEAKER. The Chair cannot answer that question until the order of business, leaves of absence, is completed.

MOTION TO SUSPEND RULE WITHDRAWN

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, I will withdraw my motion and ask that the Speaker recognize me after the leaves of absence are granted.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will recognize the gentleman after the order of leaves of absence.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

By consent of the House leave of absence was granted as follows:

Mr. SERRILL for himself for tomorrow's session.

Mr. GREENWOOD for himself for the remainder of the week after 3 p. m. today because of illness.

Mr. TAHL for himself for tomorrow's session.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, in fairness I now ask for leave of absence for the entire membership of this House for tomorrow.

The SPEAKER. The Chair cannot accept that request. If the House does not want to meet tomorrow the proper procedure is to move to adjourn.

MOTION TO ADJOURN

Mr. ANDREWS. I move that this House do now adjourn, Mr. Speaker, until Monday, April 16 at 9:00 o'clock p. m.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. LICHENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I certainly rise to—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. SCANLON. The point of order is, Mr. Speaker, that a motion to adjourn is not debatable.

The SPEAKER. Under the rules of the House a motion to adjourn is not debatable. The point of order is well taken. There is nothing before the House except the question on the motion to adjourn.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. HUNTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. HUNTLEY. Is this motion debatable, Mr. Speaker?

The SPEAKER. A motion to adjourn is not debatable.

A roll call was requested by Mr. Scanlon and Mr. Stank.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker,——

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Mr. CHUDOFF. To make a motion, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. There is nothing in order but the question on the motion to adjourn.

The roll was called.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. SKALE. Is a Member permitted to vote present unless he is excused by unanimous consent of the House?

The SPEAKER. Under Rule 71 of the House a Member must vote for or against each question put.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, I ask the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Rose, be directed to vote either for or against the motion.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. ROSE. If a Member feels that he has a personal interest in the outcome of a vote, may he vote present?

The SPEAKER. It must be "personal interest" under the constitutional provision.

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, who determines whether that interest shall be considered a personal interest? A Member?

The SPEAKER. The Constitution, and also the Chair would say the conscience of the Member.

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, is a Member permitted to interpret the Constitution according to his own knowledge and study of the Constitution?

The SPEAKER. The Chair would call the gentleman's attention to the Pennsylvania Manual (1943), Section 148A, page 755. That section will give the gentleman a very clear understanding of "personal interest."

Mr. CULLEN. Mr. Speaker, how is the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, recorded as voting?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is not recorded as voting.

Mr. CULLEN. Was the gentleman in the Hall of the House?

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny?

Mr. CULLEN. Is the gentleman in the hall of the House, Mr. Speaker?

The SPEAKER. The Chair cannot answer that question. Does the gentleman desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown?

Mr. CULLEN. I would like to, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BROWN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CULLEN. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, tell me whether he has voted or not?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, I voted present, and I understand the Clerk did not record me at all, which I prefer on this bit of horse play, and if the gentleman does not push me under the Rules of the House or under the Constittuion I shall let the record stand as it is, "present."

Mr. CULLEN. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. DENNISON. Mr. Speaker, I intended to ask for a leave of absence for myself after 2:00 o'clock, but if this keeps up I am afraid I will not be able to get that request in. May I now do so?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman cannot ask for leave of absence under this order of business.

Mr. DENNISON. Would the Chair explain to me how I may be excused at 2:00 o'clock? I am apprehensive about this.

The SPEAKER. It will be for the House to grant leave of absence after the present order of business is completed.

Mr. DENNISON. That will be after 2:00 o'clock, Mr. Speaker. I must leave at 2:00 o'clock.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I object to any further leaves of absence not granted on account of illness.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will not entertain any requests for leave of absence until after the announcement of the result of the roll call.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, I have not heard the decision of the Chair regarding the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Rose, being required to vote either aye or nay, since he has not been excused by the House.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is required to vote either aye or nay under the Rules.

Mr. ROSE. Did I understand the Speaker to say that an individual Member has the right to determine whether he has a personal interest in a vote?

The SPEAKER. The Chair cited the Constitution and also a reference in the Pennsylvania Manual, which is very clear.

For the information of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Rose, the Chair will read Section 33 of Article III of the Constitution of Pennsylvania.

> A Member who has a personal or private interest in any measure or bill proposed or pending shall disclose the fact to the House of which he is a Member and shall not vote thereon.

There is no bill or measure pending before the House; the gentleman is required to vote under the Rules of the House and the provisions of the Constitution.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. ROSE. May I be permitted at this time to state why I feel I have a personal interest in the outcome of this vote?

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inform the gentleman that he does not have that privilege, and so rules.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, I raise a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, I raise the point of order that the vote is being taken, and I feel that positively this House has been out of order and is out of order until a decision is rendered as to what action this House has taken. I feel that this debate and these questions of order are definitely out of order while the vote is being recorded.

The SPEAKER. The Chair rules that there is nothing in order except the completion of the vote and the announcing of the result on the question of whether this House shall adjourn. Anything that is relevant to that question must be considered.

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, in view of the ruling of the Chair I now wish to be recorded as having voted no, and I ask leave to file my reasons for so doing.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will be so recorded and he will have that privilege.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Andrews and Mr. Stank and were as follows:

So the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. ROSE filed the following reasons for his vote:

I had intended to vote "Present" inasmuch as I had been granted a leave of absence for the balance of the week. After seeing that a considerable number of Members had asked for and been granted leave of absence and that there would be a small attendance at the Thursday, April 12, 1945, session, I felt it would be unfair and unjust that I be compelled to vote on a motion that would compel the attendance of others, while I was excused.

However, the leave granted to me, for reasons that are necessary for the welfare of my constituents, still prevents my attendance on Thursday, and inasmuch as I do not wish to interfere with the conduct of the Assembly on Thursday, even though I realize there will be a small attendance, I reluctantly vote no.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. MYHAN filed the following reasons for his vote:

On the motion to adjourn the House on Wednesday, April 11, 1945, made by Mr. Scanlon, I voted yea because I have found that so many members are absent on Wednesdays and Thursdays, there is a question whether or not the legislation passed will be constitutionally legal. Why should we stay in the House and pass laws with a few of the Members who sacrifice to be here when a group of privileged Members go home. There is not only a question of these laws having a constitutional majority, but it is a question of whether a few Members shall go and come when they please and the others have to stay and pass laws that do not have the constitutional majority of the House.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUS

Mr. SCANLON asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, approximately a month ago we agreed to hold four day sessions so that we could expedite the business of this House. Every Thursday in my opinion, and possibly on Wednesday, it was questionable whether or not we had a quorum to pass legislation, and it is questionable in my opinion if the question were raised in one of the courts of our land whether the legislation we passed would be according to the provisions of the Constitution.

I do not have any quarrel with any Member of this House; quite a few of you Members, and sometimes myself, and the Speaker have very legitimate reasons why they should be absent. My quarrel is why should a certain number of the Members be here day after day to pass legislation which is important to the people of Pennsylvania—and in my opinion a lot of this legislation that we are passing now is not so vitally important to the people of Pennsylvania, because the major legislation has been bottled up, so why should a certain number of Members of this Legislature be required to stay here four days a week and other gentlemen of the Assembly go home whenever they feel like it, without getting leave of absence, and a small number stay here from day to day, and by agreement pass legislation?

Mr. Speaker, I could go along with the idea that we should stay here for four days if we accomplished something, but I cannot go along with the idea that we should stay here on Thursday and pass controversial bills over to Monday night until these gentlemen who leave here Tuesday and Wednesday come back here to get a chance to be recorded. We sit here and pay extra money, extra hotel bills and these gentlemen go home on Tuesday.

Mr. Speaker, I do not think if these gentlemen do not intend to follow their legislative duties that they should even run for the Assembly.

It is not fair to the people of their districts; it is not fair to the people who stay here day after day while they go home; it is a question in my opinion whether or not we are within the law or rather the Constitution, by allowing laws to pass without a constitutional majority.

I do not think it is fair to the Members who stay here while the other fellow goes home. I would love to come up here, and so would the other Members of the House and stay here until Monday night and then go home and say "Well, we can go home and forget about it and come back Monday to pass this legislation."

It is not fair to the Members of the House who are doing a good legislative job to permit these Members who are chronic violators of this rule to go home on Tuesday. This has been going on, not only at this session, but every session I have attended of this House.

I move you now that we suspend rule fourteen and we only attend these sessions Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Thursday is a joke. I mean, we don't have anybody in here. We didn't have enough Members here to even allow for the employees of the House to be sergeants-at-arms. We didn't have a corporal's guard here last Thursday.

MOTION TO SUSPEND RULE 14

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, I move that we now suspend Rule 14, and just come back here Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, because we do not accomplish anything on Thursday.

MOTION TO SUSPEND RULE 14 WITHDRAWN

The SPEAKER. Would the gentleman from Philadelphia withdraw his motion temporarily to permit the Majority Leader to make a statement?

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, I will.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE REQUESTED

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to request that before the gentleman makes his statement, I be permitted to make a brief statement.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lehigh yield to the gentleman from Cambria.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I yield, Mr. Speaker.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I have four consecutive and related motions in mind.

First a motion to adjourn, which I expected would be defeated, and that would be evidence that the Members at least wanted to work today.

Second the motion made by the gentleman from Philadelphia that we only meet three days a week, which I expected would be defeated, signifying that the Membership wanted to meet four days a week, and then I had a further motion, if the membership wanted to meet four days a week that all leaves of absence not made on account of sickness be rescinded.

I had a further action in mind, and this is of particular interest to the Members on this side of the House, since chronic absenteeism is more prevalent on the Democratic side of the House than it has been on the Republican side of the House; I was going to make at the next Democratic Caucus a motion to rescind the leaves of absence the test of a vote of confidence upon the part of the Democratic Membership in the House as to my leadership upon the part of the minority, and if the Democratic Minority does not support my efforts to keep a majority of our Members, and a large majority of the Democratic Members in the House, then on next Tuesday you will have a new Minority Leader.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. LICHTENWALTER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I have listened to the debate on the motion presented before this House regarding absenteeism at the Thursday sessions. I would like first to call the attention of the Members of the House to the fact that at last Thursday's session there were present on this side of the House 93 Members. The other Members of the House had been granted leaves of absence for numerous reasons.

I certainly feel that the entire membership of this House in seeking election to the office to serve in the General Assembly of Pennsylvania and on the opening day of the session taking an oath to obey and defend the Constitution and to serve their constituents best interests, certainly have an obligation to be present at all sessions unless prevented by good causes and reasons to do otherwise.

I certainly feel that we have had no unconstitutional legislation passed on Thursdays sessions. We have always had on the last two Thursdays, and I would like to remind the gentlemen on the other side that we have only met on two Thursdays, a considerable number of Members over the constitutional majority required to pass legislation. I want to comment on that. I think the Members particularly on this side of the House have stuck well to their jobs. It has shown a keen interest in legislation to be considered before the House, and it is my understanding that there is special obligation placed on the majority as far as being present at the Thursday session is concerned, but the same obligation is upon the minority Members, that we should consider the legislation on the calendar on Thursdays upon its merits and upon what good it will do for the people of Pennsylvania. That is an obligation not of the majority party alone but an obligation on every Member of this House.

I feel that at least on the majority side of the House we have tried to fulfill our obligation to the people of the Commonwealth. I will agree with the Minority Leader that absenteeism, according to the count, has been more prevalent on the minority side of the House than it has been on the majority side of the House at Thursday sessions, and I want to assure him of my full cooperation in his efforts to try and keep in the seats of this House all of the Members not excused for legitimate reasons.

Mr. McNAIR. Mr. Speaker. It is alright when the other side——

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman yield? The Chair is rather in this situation. The Chair asked the gentleman from Philadelphia to withdraw his motion and to yield briefly for this statement, otherwise the Chair would gladly recognize the request of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. McNair.

Will the gentleman from Philadelphia grant the Chair permission to still further recognize other Members?

Mr. SCANLON. I yield, Mr. Speaker, to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. McNair.

Mr. McNAIR. It's all right for these gentlemen to say——

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman please take the microphone?

Mr. McNAIR. I don't need a microphone. The Rules of this House say that you must speak from your desk. How can I speak from my desk and from the microphone at the same time?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman at his desk.

Mr. McNAIR. Mr. Speaker, all the gentlemen are certainly interested in what goes on here. They get their bills out; we Democrats don't even get a chance to discuss our bills in the House. Why should we be here?

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. SCANLON asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I did not raise the question of whether or not the Republicans on the other side of the House had a majority or a quorum here to conduct the business of this House. I want to make it clear to the Members on the other side of the House that I am not raising the question as to whether the Republicans were absent; I am raising the question as to all the Members, whether they be Democrats or Republicans. It does not interest me whether Mr. Lichtenwalter has a quorum over there,—that is not my purpose. My purpose when I rose to address the Members of the House was that whether they be Democrat or Republican, it was their obligation to be here on Thursday. That is the primary purpose Why, Mr. Speaker, I rose here today. It was not a partisan matter at all when I got up and moved to suspend the Rules. The question was that if a certain number are required to be here, then the whole membership should be her unless they have a very legitimate excuse for being absent from the halls of this House.

MOTION TO SUSPEND RULE 14

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, I renew my motion to suspend Rule 14, for the specific purpose of moving that we attend sessions on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, and do away with the Thursday session.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. LICHTENWALTER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to reply to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. McNair. Since I have been a Member of this House, at no time,—and I believe you could check with men who have served here longer than I have,—at no time in the History of their service have there been reported more Democratic sponsored bills or co-sponsored bills on the floor of the House than we find on the calendar day after day since we have been in session.

I want the record clearly to indicate that I do not think there has been any matter of partisanship in the consideration of bills, because the calendar from day to day will reveal that fact.

Then I would also like the Members to oppose the motion to suspend Rule 14.

Mr. WELSH. Mr. Speaker,——

The SPEAKER. The only question before the House is on the motion of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Scanlon, to suspend the Rule 14. We will proceed on that motion only.

The Chair will recognize the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Welsh, if he desires to speak on the motion, but only on the motion.

Mr. WELSH. Mr. Speaker, I would very much like to do so, and I feel that I am justified in doing so, inasmuch as I am one of the few on this side who has been present throughout the entire session and who intends to continue being present regardless of what motions may be made.

While I am talking I want especially to call the attention of the Members on this side from Philadelphia that their record is none too good. At the same time I want to read their record of last Thursday, and I think maybe they will mend their ways.

The present motion would not have been made had it not been for a threat that was made by the gentleman from Allegheny last week. I would just like for the purpose of enlightening the Members to read the list of the Philadelphia members who were present last Thursday. On the Republican side I counted one, Mr. Lee. On the Democratic side I counted Mr. Duffy, Mr. Hirsch, Mr. Myhan, Mr. Pettigrew and myself.

Now, these Members who are seeking leaves of absence and who would suspend the rules for the purpose of shortening the session are not altogether doing this thing simply because they feel that we are not doing anything on Thursday. We have not been able to do it on Thursday and we were not able to do it on Wednesday when we were having our Wednesday meeting. I think the Chair understands that fully, and I think when we start this squawk, let us start at our own door and let us remember that there is a duty on every Member of the House. What the Majority Floor Leader said is true when he said we took an oath to uphold the Constitution, and the Constitution definitely defines what our duty is.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. McMILLEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. McMILLEN. Mr. Speaker, is this motion to suspend debatable?

The SPEAKER. The motion is debatable so long as Members confine themselves to the question before the House.

Mr. McMILLEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to say a few words on this motion to do away with the Thursday session of the House. I have been somewhat annoyed personally with the absenteeism that we found in this House on Thursday. I feel a sense of guilt even as a Member of this House that we should find ourselves in a position where we have to bring up such a question at this time.

I can only think in terms of what I see and what I read and what I know to be true. I can only judge many of these things and my own actions in relation to the actions and the activities of those people at home whom we are supposed to be here representing, and also the boys and girls who have entrusted us with this trust. I am still of the old school of thought who consider it a trust to sit in the House of Representatives of Pennsylvania. It to me is not just a vacation.

I have a letter here in my hand from a fellow who was inducted into the Navy CB Battalion the same day I was inducted in Pittsburgh. We traveled to Camp Perry, Virginia, together. We served through the primary training, we wallowed through the muddy slimy swamps of Virginia in basic training. We were mauled by the Marines together. Unfortunately for me I was selected to go to a Malaria Control School, from which I got a certificate but lost my chance to get in the same Battalion this boy was in, who is now on the island of Saipan. This boy writes to me in reply to my letters as follows:

Dear Bill:

I received your letter to hand of Jan. 16 and was glad to hear from you. I meant to answer before this but really I did not have the time. This morning I have some time off so thought I would drop you a line. Bill, you don't know how damned well off you are to be out of this traditional Navy. I wish many a time I would have been in the Army, even a private, where men are men and officers are more on the human side. This island is under Army jurisdiction and I have talked to Army men and officers. They eat alike and don't live like aristocrats like the so-called C. E. C. officers; they are on duty for twelve hour stretch and thirty-six off. We are on duty stevedoring six on and twelve off seven days a week, and the boys really work. I have a gang of my own. I am hatch boss. I worked for a while under a Chief as hatch tender; now I have no Chief over me—only the walking boss who is a Chief. There are quite a few first class men running gangs.

The work goes on 24 hours a day; we eat before going to work and after coming off,—therefore no time lost for meals. We leave camp half an hour before work to relieve the other gangs. The boys don't mind work so much, but since we got our camp built the restrictions are getting more like Perry every day. Barracks or hut inspection every day and we had to dig our own foxholes on our own time, which isn't much.

Here we sit fussing whether we should go to Philadelphia and spend Thursday fishing or attending to our own business and our fellows are digging their own foxholes on their own spare time, working 24 hours a day around the clock. Besides that they keep a little bag to put their belongings in. Everything you possess, as far as the Navy is concerned, is contained in two of these bags, and you are supposed to keep that ready to be inspected on a minute's notice. These boys are out there working all the time and must be ready for inspection at any time, and here we are fussing whether we shall stay here or go home. I will read again:

Gangs have worked for several months without one shift off. Lately it has been better; when we first landed here we lived in pup tents for a week along the beach, then we moved to pyramid tents and in December we started to move into quonset huts, which we all live in now. If I ever get back I sure would like to get out. One thing I am thankful for, I have kept in good health. The corpsman and Doctor here are like they were in Peary. Capt. Ware is on an island handy here in charge of it. I haven't heard from Jos. Steele for some time. You asked me what branch of service you ought to join up with. I would recommend your home branch, where you are now, you lucky dog. Stay there.

Bill, regardless of what goes on or how disgusting it may be I am going ahead with my work and doing the best I know how, then I have the satisfaction that I have done my part and damned thankful we weren't here on D-day, as this was a bloody place. I suppose you read of the night nuisance we had here in December. Lately it has been quiet, a lot of excitement for a while though.

I sure wish I could be pushing that snow around back home. Well Bill, after the strength and numbers I have seen here in the last week I don't think the enemy can hold out too long—say one more year, yet we don't know when we will get back to the good old U. S. A., Bill.

You will notice he said "if ever I get back." Evidently there is a question in his mind whether he ever will get back here where those fellows could pass judgment on us who do not have the guts to stay here in this hall and follow through.

I will not give you the boy's last name because of the one remark about an officer. Gentlemen, we are under no restriction except our own consciences and the oath that we swore to uphold that is a part of our taking this office, and yet today we are quibbling and quarreling whether we shall stay and carry on this business, many of us carrying on a dual job, where we put in a day or two or three at home. We accept that money and yet we are paid by the State to do this job. The boys out there are working, many of them for a private's wages. This boy that I am talking about gets a First Class Petty Officer's pay of $112 a month plus his overseas service. Now, if you fellows think you would like to get overseas service, I would like to take you to some of these Veterans' Hospitals where these fellows are, coming back with elephantiasis, malaria, one leg gone, an arm and a leg gone. We might just stop and think and wonder to ourselves then, have we measured up as citizens, yes, more than as citizens, have we measured up as representatives of the people of our district?

Now, I know just as well as I am standing here there are many, many men here who have boys of their own out there, who have lost boys of their own out there, and yet we will supinely sit by and allow this thing to go on.

Mr. Speaker, we should not allow any leaves of absence without a proper and due reason.

MOTION FOR FIVE DAY SESSIONS

Mr. McMILLEN. I move, Mr. Speaker, and I would ask that this motion be voted down, that this House sit in session for five days, and work at night if necessary to complete the work of this House.

The SPEAKER. There is a motion pending and the gentleman's motion is not in order.

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the motion, I am opposed to the majority enacting a motion here that is going to favor a few members of this House who are not interested in their obligation and responsibility to the people of Pennsylvania. We have spent over an hour and a half here on horseplay. The motion to adjourn was defeated here by 147 to 26. Isn't that the answer to all the ranting that has been going on here? I am asking the membership to show by their vote that they are not paying any attention to any Members of this House who are not concerned with their responsibility to the State of Pennsylvania and its people.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, on this motion to do away with Thursday sessions, personally I do not agree with it. I am willing to stay here until Friday, but I want to know if the Floor Leader on the other side and the men on both sides will agree that at tomorrow's session we are going to consider every second reading bill,—there will be no bills passed over, we are going to vote and either put them across or defeat them.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would remind the gentleman that we are now debating the question on the motion to suspend Rule 14.

Mr. DENNISON. Mr. Speaker, I now move the previous question.

The SPEAKER. The Chair sees no seconds to the motion.

Mr. GRANT. Mr. Speaker, I rise to defeat this motion. I have already asked for a leave of absence and I find myself in a position that other Members of the House are in who are strictly opposed to chronic absenteeism. One of the reasons I asked for a leave of absence is, as a member of the bar of Berks County I am only able to get home week ends, and prior to the time it was decided to hold four day sessions I had made arrangements for a case that I have coming up tomorrow. I am so much in accord, though, with the idea that we sit here and perform our duties and wind up the business of this session that I called up my secretary and said "Probably something is being accomplished in this House."

I hope sincerely that this is where something is being accomplished. I know what is behind the action of the Members on this side of the House, and I know that is one of my strongest feelings in this regard, and I feel that the Members on the other side of the House are equally guilty because of their practice of passing over certain bills so that they will have a majority here on Monday night. I hope that the discussions that we are having here will not be just a lot of talk, but that we will stay here and attend to our duties, that we will bring on the important measures on Thursday and not pass them over so that the majority will be here on a certain day.

Mr. CULLEN. Mr. Speaker, I happen to be one of those Members who missed one night in this session, and it was not Thursday,—it was Monday, regardless of the score of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Welsh. I am willing to stay Sunday if you want, but I stayed two Thursdays here and I just wasted my time. There was absolutely no work done here on Thursday.

Now, I say let us not be children about the thing, we have only been playing on Thursdays. If you don't want to work on Thursday let us be honest about it and let us go home on Wednesday.

As far as my poor misguided friend who referred to Philadelphia and going fishing, I would like to correct the gentleman, we don't have any fishing in Philadelphia; we have no clean streams to fish in.

I say to you gentlemen, and it is the Majority Floor Leader I am talking to now, the machinery is in your hands. If you have got any work to do, put it on the calendar, let us vote on it, good or bad. The responsibility is yours, and why should we stay here, even though I will be here, and I have been here before, why should we stay and play on Thursday like children? That is what we have done on the last two Thursdays, and that is the particular reason why I vote to defeat the motion. Let us grow up.

Mr. HENNIHAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose this motion. I asked for a leave of absence for tomorrow. Being a coal miner, last Thursday I sat here twiddling my fingers when I could have gone back into the antracite region, Mr. O'Donnell and I, and load some coal so that we could do some good. We are not asking to go back and sit in some office; we are going back where things are tough, and if this House wants to stay in session then I am willing to oppose this motion and stay here and not take my leave of absence tomorrow. I wish some of the other people who could sit around would come up into the anthracite region and load coal with us a few days.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, not to prolong this debate, but I think one of the very reasons we are not able to do business on Thursdays as our experience has been in the last two sessions on that day is that we are wasting a lot of time, like this afternoon, wrangling about matters of no particular concern whatsoever.

Tomorrow we will have a lot of amended bills and bills which will not be on file, and we will have to pass over bills because of the inability of the Printer to get the work out.

If we are sincere about doing work, let us sit down and do work so that the Printer will have an opportunity to get the bills back here and we will be able to work tomorrow.

The roll was called.

QUESTION ON LEGISLATIVE PRIVILEGE

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of legislative privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, in order to develop the point, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Skale.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent to the interrogation? The Chair hears no objection, and consent is granted.

Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SKALE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. SCANLON. Nothing is in order except announcing the result on the motion to suspend, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair stated that unanimous consent was necessary. Unanimous consent was requested and granted.

Mr. JAMES. I am raising a question on the vote, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Is it on this vote?

Mr. JAMES. It is, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Skale, whether he asked for leave of absence after two o'clock today.

Mr. SKALE. I did, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman says he asked for leave of absence after two o'clock today. I would like to know whether the gentleman is officially present and entitled to vote.

The SPEAKER. His presence in the House determines that he is entitled to vote. He is officially present in the House.

Mr. JAMES. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion to suspend Rule 14?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Scanlon and Mr. Cullen and were as follows:

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. SCANLON. I would like to inquire of the Chair how many leaves of absence have been granted.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will inquire of the Clerk. Does the gentleman also wish to know who the Members are?

Mr. SCANLON. No, Mr. Speaker, I do not desire to know the names of the Members, but I do want to know the number that have asked for leaves of absence.

The SPEAKER. Twenty-nine Members have asked for leaves of absence which the House has granted.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. PETROSKY. Has the House granted me a leave of absence for tomorrow's session?

The SPEAKER. The Chair will check the record. The Clerk informs the Chair that the gentleman has been granted a leave of absence.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. PETROSKY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I have been serving my district for three consecutive terms as a Member of this House, and in order to clarify the record, the reason for my asking a leave of absence for tomorrow's session may I say this, that this is the first leave of absence I have asked for in my three terms of office, and it has been due to illness.

MOTION TO RESCIND LEAVES OF ABSENCE

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I move that all leaves of absence granted to Members at this session that have not been granted because of illness, death in the family or impending marriage be rescinded.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, there may have been men who have asked for leaves of absence for reasons other than those stated. It would not be fair to rescind leaves of absence where men have already secured them and their reasons might have been something else, nevertheless if they were granted certainly you ought not to rescind them.

It seems to me, Mr. Speaker, that we are certainly getting a tempest in a teapot. As long as I remember we have had bobtail sessions on the last day of our week. It is necessary sometimes to have these bobtail sessions to advance legislation. If we sat here all week the Printer could not catch up with you until the next week. I don't think we ought to be the keeper of the other man's conscience,—that is up to the man himself, and it seems to me we ought to get down to business and forget about this.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, this motion embodies the serious intent of the House. Either we officially countenance absenteeism and say it is a matter of individual conscience whether a member be here or not, or we require attendance.

I can recognize some of the arguments made by those who say it is quite all right to recognize the individual conscience in the matter. I take the stand that the fact that the House has the power to require attendance of members unless there is a legitimate excuse for not being present implies that the House should exercise that power. If the House wants to take the position it is voting to meet on Monday, voting to meet on Tuesday, voting to meet on Wednesday and voting to meet on Thursday,—if it wants to dilly dally on Thursday, if that is the position, then let the House so declare and we will end once for all the discussion about absenteeism.

I agree there has been too much talk about it, and I propose to end it. If the House today does not care to exercise its power to compel the attendance of those who are absent unnecessarily, then I am not going to fight any more about it.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I only rise because I think a wrong impression is being left with the general public in the debate on this question. I do not consider that the advancement of bills on Thursday is dilly dallying. That sort of procedure takes place in almost every legislative or parliamentary body that I know of. The custom has been to work three days a week, and on Thursday, before you get into the tail end of the session, you merely advance those bills which you can advance with the kind of a body you have. That is not dilly dallying, that is advancing bills, advancing the calendar and clearing it, but it means that the House has decided that as far as a Thursday session is concerned, they will not take up controversial measures.

I have sat here on Thursdays when I doubt if there were much more than the leader on the other side of the House and myself sitting in the House to advance bills. I do not remember ever complaining about that situation. It has been my custom for years to come here a day ahead and stay a day after the close of the session. I did not complain about that, but as far as the Thursday session is concerned, until you get into the actual period when you expect to wind up,—and you generally have a definite date for adjournment, it has been the custom of the House that when you arrive at Thursday to use that day for the advancement of non-controversial bills. That is not dilly dallying as far as I can see. That is proper procedure to advance legislation and advance the calendar and clear as much of it as you can out of the way.

As I said before, people have said to me, "Why don't you sit here all week?" I have sat here many times on Sunday night and even on Monday night I have been unable to get a history or unable to get a calendar, and I find that a lot of bills have not been printed. I can remember when we had to sit around two or three hours and remained until four or five o'clock in the morning because of that sort of thing. Let us be sensible about the matter. I can understand the feelings of men who sit here while other men go home, but on the other hand let us not confuse the issue. If you want to insist that the Members attend, that is one thing, but let us not throw bricks and mud all over ourselves about the Thursday session when the Thursday session has been a time-honored institution and has been countenanced for years. As I said it has been the custom in many parliamentary bodies including the Congress of the United States and Parliament.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, on the question of passing over third reading bills on Thursday or any other day, if one Member objects, do we have to vote on that bill?

The SPEAKER. If one Member objects, of course, the bill could not be passed over.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. I thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would also add for the information of the gentleman from Allegheny that the House has the power by motion to place a bill on the postponed calendar.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Mr. DENNISON. Mr. Speaker, I now for the first time in three sessions ask for a leave of absence for myself for the balance of the week, and I wish to assure the gentleman from Cambria that while I was not sick at the time this discussion started, I am thoroughly sickened now.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Jefferson, Mr. Dennison, asks leave of absence for himself because of illness.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Jefferson just what particularly made him ill. Is the gentleman ill himself or a member of the family? I ask specially what made him ill.

Mr. DENNISON. Mr. Speaker, I have a weak stomach and this is more than I can stand.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate further, was it any particular remark made by any gentleman on this side of the House that made the gentleman sick?

Mr. DENNISON. I would say, Mr. Speaker, that the whole proceeding smells.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman of what it smells.

Mr. DENNISON. Taking the oath referred to by the gentleman from Indiana, I would not want to mention that before the ladies.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I object to the granting of a leave of absence to the gentleman on the ground that he has named. If he wants to take the position that a discussion concerning the duties of the Members of this House has made him ill, I think that is hardly sufficient justification in view of his apparent impertinence and his evident health.

Mr. DENNISON. Mr. Speaker, I desire to inquire of the gentleman from Cambria if he is a medical authority.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cambria permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ANDREWS. I shall, Mr. Speaker. I am not a medical authority, but I am an authority on brass.

The SPEAKER. The question is will the House grant the gentleman from Jefferson, Mr. Dennison, leave of absence. The Chair hears objection. Does the gentleman desire to be recognized further?

Mr. DENNISON. No, Mr. Speaker, if it is not the will of the House that I be excused I shall remain.

I ask for a division, Mr. Speaker.

A division having been asked for one hundred five Members or more than a majority having voted on the affirmative leave of absence was granted.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I call for the order of the day.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will proceed with the order of the day.

COMMITTEE REPORTS

Mr. RUDISILL from the Committee on Counties reported as committed House Bill No. 172, entitled:

An Act authorizing counties (except of the first class) cities (except of the first class), boroughs, incorporated towns and townships, either alone or jointly, to employ, retain or contract for planning engineers, consultants and professional planning services.

Mr. HABERLEN from the Committee on Counties reported as committed House Bill No. 578, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the twenty-fourth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 2017), entitled "An act creating in each county (except of the first class) as a separate corporation, and in each city of the first and second class as a part of the city government, an institution district for the care and maintenance of certain indigent persons and children; prescribing the powers and duties of county commissioners, county treasurers, city departments of public welfare, the State Department of Welfare and the State Department of Public Assistance in respect thereto; abolishing certain poor districts and terminating the terms of directors, overseers, guardians and managers of the poor and poor district auditors, and providing for the temporary employment of certain of them; providing for the transfer, vesting, sale and disposition of the property of poor districts and the payment of their obligations; imposing certain existing obligations on institution districts and on the Commonwealth; regulating the affairs of poor districts until abolished; revising, amending, changing and consolidating the law relating to the care of the poor; and repealing existing laws," changing the conditions to borrow money for current expenses.

An Act to further amend the act approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 1216) entitled "An act to define real estate brokers and real estate salesmen and providing for the licensing, regulation, and supervision of resident and nonresident real estate brokers and real estate salesmen and their business" by providing for the regulation and supervision of resident and nonresident real estate brokers and real estate salesmen and their business by the State Real Estate Commission, instead of the Department of Public Instruction.

Mr. McATEE from the Committee on Municipal Corporations reported as committed Senate Bill No. 360, entitled:

An Act to amend the title and section two of the act approved the twenty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 340) entitled "An act empowering cities of the third class boroughs incorporated towns and townships to cooperate with each other through joint agreements in the exercise of their governmental powers duties and functions relating to the public health recreation zoning and municipal planning" by extending the power of municipalities to cooperate in the exercise of their powers duties and functions

Mr. PROPERT from the Committee on Municipal Corporations reported as committed Senate Bill No. 523, entitled:

An Act relating to the collection of taxes levied by counties, county institution districts, cities of the third class, boroughs, towns, townships, certain school districts, and vocational school districts; conferring powers and imposing duties on tax collectors, courts and various officers of said political subdivisions; and prescribing penalties

Mr. McKINNEY from the Committee on Municipal Corporations reported as committed Senate Bill No. 607, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the twenty-sixth day of May, one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 637), entitled "An act providing that the terms of constables hereafter elected in cities of the second, second class A and third classes, boroughs and townships, shall be for six years," by extending the terms of constables hereafter elected in incorporated towns to six years.

Mr. GREENWOOD from the Committee on Professional Licensure reported as amended House Bill No. 847, entitled:

An Act to protect and promote the public health, safety and welfare by providing for the registration and regulation of watchmakers; prescribing the terms upon which licenses or certificates of registration may be issued to watchmakers, including apprentices; providing for the appointment of a State Board of Examiners in Watchmaking and defining the duties of the said board, including the right to revoke license prescribing fees; defining certain misdemeanors and providing penalties for violation thereof; and repealing present laws in consistent therewith.

Mr. FLACK from the Committee on Counties reported as amended House Bill No. 1234, entitled:

An Act to further amend sections one and ten of the act, approved the fourth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1625) entitled "An act providing for the creation, maintenance and operation of a county employes retirement system in counties of the third class; and imposing certain charges on counties," extending and further regulating such retirement systems.

Mr. FLEMING from the Committee on Welfare reported as committed House Bill No. 705, entitled:

An Act amending clause (c) of section nine of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 2051) entitled "An act relating to public assistance; providing for and regulating assistance to certain classes of persons designated and defined as dependent children, aged persons, blind persons and other persons requiring relief; providing for the administration of this act by the Department of Public Assistance and county boards of assistance hereby created for this purpose; authorizing the Department of Public Assistance to cooperate with, and to accept and disburse moneys received from, the United States Government for assistance to such persons; providing for the liquidation of the State Emergency Relief Board, Boards of Trustees of the Mothers' Assistance Fund, and Boards of Trustees of Pension Fund for the Blind; and repealing laws relating to mothers' assistance, pensions for the blind, old age assistance, and the State Emergency Relief Board," by increasing the amount of pensions to be paid to blind persons.

Mrs. DYE from the Committee on Welfare reported as committed House Bill No. 1063, entitled:

An Act to provide for the appointment of a commission to study the conditions, practice, and laws of this Commonwealth relating to child welfare; to suggest revisions and amendments to the statutes of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania which relate to children, especially those which relate to the dependent, defective, delinquent, neglected, incorrigible, or illegitimate children; defining the powers and duties of the commission; authorizing the examination of documents, records and papers; and making an appropriation to meet the expenses of the said commission.

Mr. STUART from the Committee on Welfare reported as committed House Bill No. 1184, entitled:

An Act to amend section two of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 2045), entitled "An act relating to the support of indigent persons publicly cared for or assisted; providing for the support of such persons by certain relatives, and for the recovery of public moneys expended for care and assistance from the property and estates of such persons; providing for guardians of person and property of such persons; providing for the arrest and seizure and sale of the property of deserters; and providing procedure," by giving jurisdiction to the Municipal Court of Philadelphia County.

Mr. FINNERTY from the Committee on Welfare reported as committed House Bill No. 1258, entitled:

An Act to amend section three of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 2045) entitled "An act relating to the support of indigent persons publicly cared for or assisted providing for the support of such persons by certain relatives and for the recovery of public moneys expended for care and assistance from the property and estates of such persons providing for guardians of the person and property of such persons providing for the arrest and seizure and sale of the property of deserters and providing procedure" by abolishing the liability of grandchildren and grandparents of indigent persons to care for maintain or financially assist such persons.

BILL ON FIRST READING

Mr. FLEMING asked and obtained unanimous consent for House Bill No. 705, to be read for the first time.

Agreeably to order,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 671, as follows:

An Act to amend section six hundred eight of the act approved the twenty-eighth day of April one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 417) entitled "An act relating to milk and the products thereof creating a Milk Control Commission establishing its jurisdiction powers and duties regulating the production transportation manufacturing processing storage distribution delivery and sale of milk and certain products thereof providing for the licensing of milk dealers and the payment of fees therefor requiring milk dealers to file bonds to secure payment for milk to producers and certain milk dealers authorizing the holding of hearings and the issuance of subpoenas by the commission conferring jurisdiction upon courts to punish contempts and to prohibit violations of this act and of rules regulations and orders of the commission authorizing the commission to adopt rules regulations and orders and to enter into interstate and Federal compacts requiring persons who weigh measure sample or test milk to procure permits or certificates to take examinations to pay fees therefor to furnish certain notices records and statements and to use certain methods of weighing measuring sampling and testing authorizing the commission to examine the business papers and premises of milk dealers and producers requiring the keeping of records and the filing of reports by milk dealers and permitting with limitations the use of information obtained thereby authorizing the commission to fix prices for milk and certain milk products subject to the approval of the Governor and conferring certain powers upon the Governor with respect thereto providing for appeals to the courts from decisions of the commission and for the burden of proof upon such appeals prescribing penalties fines and imprisonment for violations of this act and rules regulations and orders of the commission defining perjury defining remedies repealing legislation supplied and superseded by this act and saving rights duties and proceedings thereunder and making appropriations" by requiring milk dealers to give daily reports of milk delivered by milk producers

Section 1 Section six hundred eight of the act approved the twenty-eighth day of April one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 417) entitled "An act relating to milk and the products thereof creating a Milk Control Commission establishing its jurisdiction powers and duties regulating the production transportation manufacturing processing storage distribution delivery and sale of milk and certain products thereof providing for the licensing of milk dealers and the payment of fees therefor requiring milk dealers to file bonds to secure payment for milk to producers and certain milk dealers authorizing the holding of hearings and the issuance of subpoenas by the commission conferring jurisdiction upon courts to punish contempts and to prohibit violations of this act and of rules regulations and orders of the commission authorizing the commission to adopt rules regulations and orders and to enter into interstate and Federal compacts requiring persons who weigh measure sample or test milk to procure permits or certificates to take examinations to pay fees therefor to furnish certain notices records and statements and to use certain methods of weighing measuring sampling and testing authorizing the commission to examine the business papers and premises of milk dealers and producers requiring the keeping of records and the filing of reports by milk dealers and permitting with limitations the use of information obtained thereby authorizing the commission to fix prices for milk and certain milk products subject to the approval of the Governor and conferring certain powers upon the Governor with respect thereto providing for appeals to the courts from decisions of the commission and for the burden of proof upon such appeals prescribing penalties fines and imprisonment for violations of this act and rules regulations and orders of the commission defining perjury defining remedies repealing legislation supplied and superseded by this act and saving rights duties and proceedings thereunder and making appropriations" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 608 Payment for Milk Statement Milk dealers shall determine weight measure and butterfat content of milk as provided in this act or in rules regulations or orders of the commission pertaining thereto and consistent with this act Payment for milk shall be made either upon the basis of weight measure or butterfat content or any combination thereof as the rules regulations or orders of the commission may require

Milk dealers buying or receiving milk from producers shall furnish to each producer or his agent a written statement showing the amount of milk delivered daily during the period for which payment is made and unless the commission otherwise provides the average butterfat test of the milk delivered for such period Such statement shall set forth such information as may be required by the commission shall be furnished periodically at the time of payment prescribed by the commission and in no event less often than monthly Provided however That a written statement of weights [may] shall be given daily to the producer or his agent upon written request of a majority of the producers who deliver milk to any one dealer each receiving station to be petitioned separately in lieu of such periodic statement of the amount of milk delivered unless the commission otherwise provides.

It shall be unlawful to use as the basis of payment for milk any amount or percentage of butterfat therein which has been ascertained from a sample containing milk that has been so treated as to cause it to test lower or higher than the milk from which it was taken

It shall be unlawful for any person including any milk dealer to knowingly fraudulently or negligently weigh measure sample or test milk or cause milk to be weighed measured sampled or tested in such manner as to cause or tend to cause loss or injury to milk producers stores or milk consumers or to make any false or misleading statement with respect to the weight measurement sampling or testing of milk

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Erb, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ERB. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MAHANY. What report, Mr. Speaker, would be required by this bill to be given to milk producers which are not now required by law to be given?

Mr. ERB. Mr. Speaker, this bill is to send daily milk bills back to the farmers or to the producers from the buyers.

Mr. MAHANY. Would these reports be easily made up by the milk buyer.

Mr. ERB. They must weigh the milk each day as it comes in, and therefore they can send their report back daily to the farmer in the milk game; send it back to his farm.

Mr. MAHANY. Would it require a man to be stationed right at the weighing station, that is an extra man to make out this report so that it could be sent back to the farmer on that day?

Mr. ERB. No, Mr. Speaker, but the man who weighs the milk must take the weight of it as he weighs it, therefore, it is to be presumed that he could put a tag on the can and put on the actual weight of the milk as he weighs it. It does not involve any clerical work or any red tape. The only thing is, it would give the farmer a daily record of the weight of the milk instead of monthly whereby the farmer has in the past been cheated of many thousands of pounds of milk in a month.

Mr. MAHANY. Is there any direct evidence that people have been cheated under the present law?

Mr. ERB. There is Mr. Speaker. One farmer alone in my locality has lost in the month of March by a shortage about three hundred pounds of milk.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

BILLS PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 715, Printer's No. 495 and

House Bill No. 806, Printer's No. 493

were passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 872, as follows:

An Act to provide revenue for State purpose by imposing an excise tax on the net income of co-operative agricultural associations having capital stock in lieu of all other taxes except tax on real estate providing for the assessment collection settlement and resettlement of tax and reviews and appeal therefrom conferring powers and imposing duties on certain persons cooperative agricultural associations having capital stock State and county officers boards and departments and providing penalties

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 This act shall be known and may be cited as the "Co-operative Agricultural Association Corporate Net Income Tax Act"

Section 2 Definitions The following words terms and phrases when used in this act shall have the meaning ascribed to them in this section except where the context clearly indicates a different meaning

"Co-operative Agricultural Association" An incorporated co-operative agricultural association composed of persons engaged in agriculture and instituted for the purposes of mutual help having capital stock either organized under the laws of this Commonwealth the United States or any state territory or foreign country or dependency and doing business in this Commonwealth or having capital or property employed or used in this Commonwealth by or in the name of itself or any person partnership or association

"Association" Means any co-operative agricultural association as hereinbefore defined

"Department" The Department of Revenue of this Commonwealth

"Net Income" In case the entire business transacted by the association is transacted within this Commonwealth net income for the calendar year or fiscal year shall be only an amount equal to the sum of the dividends declared or declared and paid on the shares of common and preferred stock during the year

In case the entire business is not transacted by the association within this Commonwealth the tax imposed by this act shall be based upon such portion of the net income for the calendar or fiscal year as defined herein as shall be attributed to business transacted in this Commonwealth by multiplying such net income by a fraction of which the numerator is the gross receipts received from business transacted within the Commonwealth and of which the denominator is the amount of the gross receipts received from all the business

Section 3 Imposition of Tax Every association shall be subject to and shall pay for the privilege of doing business in this Commonwealth or having capital or property employed or used in the Commonwealth by or in the name of itself or any other person partnership or association a State excise tax at the rate of four per centum (4%) per annum upon each dollar of the net income which tax shall be collected in lieu of any other excise tax including corporate net income tax or property tax The property shall be free from any county tax excepting tax on real estate

Section 4 Report and Payment of Tax For the purpose of ascertaining the amount of tax payable under this act it shall be the duty of every association liable to pay tax under this act on or before the fifteenth day of April of each year to transmit to the department upon a form prescribed prepared and furnished by the department a report under oath or affirmation of its president vice-president or other principal officer and of its treasurer or assistant treasurer of net income taxable under the provisions of this act

The failure of any association liable to pay tax under this act to procure or receive any report form shall not excuse it from making a report Every association upon the date its report is required herein to be made shall pay to the department the tax due to the Commonwealth by it for the preceding year

The amount of the tax imposed under this act not paid on or before the time as above provided shall bear interest at the rate of six per centum (6%) per annum from the date it is due and payable until paid Provided however That any association may pay the full amount of such tax or any part thereof together with interest due to the date of payment without prejudice to its right to present and prosecute a petition for resettlement a petition for review or an appeal to court If it be thereafter determined that such taxes were overpaid the department shall enter a credit to the amount of such association which may be used by it in the manner prescribed by law

If the officers of any association shall neglect or refuse to make any report as herein required or shall knowingly make any false report an additional ten per centum (10%) of the amount of the tax shall be added by the department to the tax determined to be due

If any association closes its fiscal year not upon the thirty-first day of December but upon some other date such association shall certify such fact to the Department of Revenue and shall make the report herein required on or before the fifteenth day of the fourth month after the close of its fiscal year

Section 5 Extension of Time to File Reports The department may upon application made to it in such form as it shall prescribe on or prior to the last day for filing any report and upon proper cause shown grant to the association required to file such report an extension of not more than sixty (60) days within which such report may be filed but the amount of tax due shall in such cases nevertheless be subject to interest from the due date and at the rate fixed by this act

Section 6 Settlement and Resettlement (a) All tax due under this act shall be settled by the department and such settlement shall be subject to audit and approval by the Department of the Auditor General and shall so far as possible be made so that notice thereof may reach the taxpayer before the end of a year after the tax report was required to be made

(b) Promptly after the date of any such settlement the department shall send by mail or otherwise a copy thereof to such association The tax imposed by this act shall be settled resettled and otherwise imposed and adjusted in the same manner within the same periods of time and right of resettlement review appeal and refund as provided by law in the case of capital stock and franchise taxes imposed upon business corporations

(c) If within a period of two (2) years after the date of any settlement the department is not satisfied with such settlement the department is hereby authorized and empowered to make a resettlement of the tax due by such association based upon the facts contained in the report or upon any information within its possession or that shall come into its possession.

Whenever a resettlement shall have been made hereunder the department shall resettle the account according to law and shall credit or charge as the case may be the amount resulting from such resettlement upon the current accounts of the association with which it is made

The resettlement shall be subject to audit and approval by the Department of the Auditor General as in the case of original settlement and in case of the failure of the two departments to agree the resettlement shall be submitted to the Board of Finance and Revenue as in the case of original settlements

(d) If any association shall neglect or refuse to make any report and payment of tax required by this act the department shall estimate the tax due by such association and subject to audit and approval by the Department of Auditor General settle the amount due by it for tax penalties and interest thereon as prescribed herein from which settlement there shall be no right of review or appeal but the department with the approval of the Department of Auditor General may require a report to be filed and thereupon make a settlement based upon such report and cancel the estimated settlement

Section 7 Enforcement Rules and Regulations Inquisitorial Powers of the Department (a) The department is hereby charged with the enforcement of the provisions of this act and is hereby authorized and empowered to prescribe adopt promulgate and enforce rules and regulations not inconsistent with this act relating to any matter or thing pertaining to the administration and enforcement of the provisions of this act and the collection of tax penalties and interest imposed by this act The department is hereby required to have such rules and regulations promulgated and adopted printed and shall distribute the same to any person upon request

(b) The department or any agent authorized in writing by it is hereby authorized to examine the books papers and records and to investigate the character of the business transacted by any association in order to verify the accuracy of any report made or if no report was made by such association to ascertain and settle the tax imposed by this act Every such association is hereby directed and required to give to the department or its duly authorized agent the means facilities and opportunity for such examinations and investigations as are hereby provided and authorized Any information gained by the department as a result of any returns investigations or verifications required to be made by this act shall be confidential except for official purposes and any person divulging such information shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than one hundred dollars ($100) or more than one thousand dollars ($1,000) and costs of prosecution or to undergo imprisonment for not more than six (6) months or both in the discretion of the court

(c) Whenever any person acting for or on behalf of the department shall in good faith institute legal proceedings for any violations of the provisions of this act and for any reason shall fail to recover costs of record such costs shall be a charge upon the proper county as shall such costs in the event defendant is imprisoned for failure to pay fine or costs or both and shall be audited and paid as are costs of like character in said county

(d) The powers conferred by this act upon the department relating to the administration or enforcement of this act shall be in addition to but not exclusive of any other powers heretofore or hereafter conferred upon the department by law

Section 8 Retention of Records by Associations Penalty Each association shall maintain and keep for a period of three (3) years after any report is filed under this act such record or records of business transacted by it within this Commonwealth for the period covered by such report and other pertinent papers as may be required by the department

Any person violating any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall upon conviction thereof be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars ($1,000) and costs of prosecution or to undergo imprisonment for not more than six (6) months or both in the discretion of the court

Section 9 Penalties (a) Any person who shall wilfully make a false and fraudulent return of net income made taxable by this act shall be guilty of willful and corrupt perjury and upon conviction thereof shall be subject to punishment as provided by law Such penalty shall be in addition to any other penalties imposed by this act

(b) Any person who wilfully fails neglects or refuses to make a report or to pay the tax as herein prescribed or who shall refuse to permit the department to examine the books papers and records of any association liable to pay tax under this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars ($1,000) and costs of prosecution or to undergo imprisonment not exceeding six (6) months or both in the discretion of the court Such penalty shall be in addition to any other penalties imposed by this act

Section 10 Constitutional Construction The provisions of this act are severable and if any of its provisions shall be held unconstitutional the decision of the court shall not affect or impair any of the remaining provisions of this act It is hereby declared to be the legislative intent that this act would have been adopted had such unconstitutional provisions not been included herein

Section 11 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment and its provisions shall be applicable to settlements of tax for the calendar year ending the thirty-first day of December one thousand nine hundred forty-four or fiscal year ending in the calendar year one thousand nine hundred forty-five and every year thereafter

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

NOT VOTING—4

Bentley,	Brothers,	Herman,	Hoopes,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House of Representatives has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which Senate Bill No. 45, Printer's No. 329, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act approved the twenty-fifth day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 849) entitled "An act to provide for the permanent personal registration of electors in cities of the third class as a condition of their right to vote at elections and primaries, and their enrollment as members of political parties as a further condition of their right to vote at primaries; prescribing certain procedure for the conduct of elections and primaries and the challenge and proof of qualifications of electors; and prescribing the powers and duties of citizens, parties, political bodies, registration commissions, commissioners, registrars, inspectors of registration and other appointees of registration commissions, county election boards, election officers, municipal officers, departments and bureaus, police officers, courts, judges, prothonotaries, sheriffs, county commissioners, peace officers, county treasurers, county controllers, registrars of vital statistics, certain public utility corporations, real estate brokers, rental agents, and boards of school directors; imposing penalties; and repealing existing legislation", by further regulating and changing the provisions of the act relating to suspension of registration upon the failure to vote within two years and providing for the reinstatement of electors' registrations after failing to vote during two calendar years on page 20 of today's calendar, bills on third reading, passed finally be reconsidered.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Elk Mr. Sorg vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Philadelphia Mr. Cohen vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring.

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend sec. 2 (sec. 39), page 3, line 21, by inserting a lightface bracket before and after the word "With" and inserting thereafter "Within".

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendment at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

With the information that the Senate has passed the same without amendment.

AMENDED HOUSE BILL RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE

HOUSE BILL No. 1.

An Act to amend the title and certain sections, and to add certain new sections to the act approved the twenty-second day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven, (P. L. 1987), entitled "An act to preserve and improve the purity of the water of the Commonwealth for the protection of the public health, animal and aquatic life, and for industrial consumption, and recreation; empowering and directing the creation of indebtedness or the issuing of non-debt revenue bonds by political subdivisions to provide works to abate pollution; providing protection of water supply; providing for the jurisdiction of courts, magistrates, aldermen and justices of the peace in the enforcement thereof; and providing additional remedies for abating pollution of waters; imposing certain penalties; and repealing certain acts", by changing the definitions of "establishment" and "industrial waste", by changing requirement of notice to discontinue discharges of industrial waste by changing penalties for violations and requiring prosecutions to be instituted or approved by the Attorney General by prohibiting the discharge of silt into any waters of the Commonwealth and regulating the discharge of acid mine drainage into waters thereof authorizing the Sanitary Water Board to establish standards of purity and to determine the time for compliance with the provisions of the act in certain cases and requiring the Board's approval of plans for opening reopening or extending coal mines, by authorizing the acquisition by purchase or condemnation or otherwise by the Sanitary Water Board of easements or right of ways and the acquisition or construction of pipes conduits drains or tunnels and providing for the payment of a portion of the costs thereof by the Commonwealth in certain cases

With the information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the amendments.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend title, page 2, by striking out in lines 2 and 3 the following: "changing requirement of notice to discontinue discharges of industrial waste by"; also in line 17, by inserting after the word "tunnels" the words "and pumps and pumping equipment"; also in line 18, by striking out after the word "of" the words "a portion of"; also in line 19, by striking out after the word "Commonwealth" the words "in certain cases".

Amend Section 2, page 5, line 25, by striking out after the word "to" the word "'includue" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "include".

Amend Section 3, page 6, line 14, by striking out the light faced bracket before the word "on"; also in line 17, by striking out after the word "or" the word "injuries" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "injurious"; also in line 23, by striking out the light faced bracket after the word "nevertheless" and the following "and such discharge shall"; also by striking out the light faced bracket before the word "whether" in line 24, and after the word "not" in line 25.

Amend Section 6, page 10, line 23, by inserting after the word "Commonwealth" the following: "until the Commonwealth after the Sanitary Water Board has approved plans of drainage pursuant to section three hundred thirteen hereof and has set a reasonable time not to exceed one year within which such pipes conduits drains or tunnels as may be necessary to receive such acid mine drainage at the point or points where such acid mine drainage is delivered as provided in section three hundred twelve hereof shall be constructed and put into operation by the Commonwealth and the Commonwealth has failed to construct and put into operation the same within such time."

Amend Section 7, page 11, line 16, by inserting after the word "tunnels" the words "and such pumps and pumping equipment"; also in line 20, by inserting after the word "thereof" the words "including such pumping of the drainage as may be necessary"; also on page 15, line 9, by inserting after the word "Mines" the following: "and the person or persons operating the mine"; also on same page by striking out lines 10 to 18 inclusive and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"Section 313 Approval of Plans of Drainage Before any existing or new coal mine may be opened or reopened and before any existing coal mine may be continued in operation a plan of the proposed drainage and disposal of industrial wastes and acid mine drainage of such mine shall be submitted to the Sanitary Water Board and it shall be unlawful to open or reopen any such mine or to continue the operation of any mine or to change or alter any already approved plan of drainage and disposal of industrial wastes and acid mine drainage from such mine unless and until the Board after consultation with the Department of Mines has approved such plan or change of plan provided however that this section shall not apply to the continuation of the operation of an existing mine until sixty (60) days after the effective date of this act."

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. Has the Chair put the question yet?

The SPEAKER. The amendments have been read. The Chair now recognizes the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Brunner.

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 1 has been returned to this House with some Senate amendments. I do not wish to attack any or all of these amendments, but due to the far reaching effect of this bill and these amendments, it warrants the use of extreme caution. There may be no defects in the measure, but I am certain that all of the Members of the General Assembly want to be assured of that fact. To feel otherwise would denote a lack of sincerity in these objectives. For these reasons we feel that a Conference Committee should consider this bill thoroughly and check it carefully.

I therefore move that the House do non-concur in the amendments of the Senate.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Brunner.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Montgomery permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I should like to ask the gentleman, "Does your bill taste different lately?"

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. Mr. Speaker, may I inquire of the gentleman whether he wants me to sing, "Is you is or is you ain't my baby?"

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, if I were the gentleman from Montgomery I would disown it.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

SENATE MESSAGES

AMENDED HOUSE BILLS RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being intoduced, returned bill from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows:

HOUSE BILL No. 548.

An Act providing that when the contract of a fiduciary is made by him or approved by court inadequacy of price or an offer to deal on other terms shall not relieve the fiduciary of his obligation or constitute ground for any court to set aside the contract or to refuse to enforce it

With the infomation that the Senate has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the amendments.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Section 1, page 1, line 6, by inserting after the word "shall" the words "except as otherwise agreed by the parties"; also in line 9, by inserting after the word "otherwise" the following: "Provided that this act shall not affect or change the inherent right of a court to set aside a contract for fraud accident or mistake or for gross inadequacy of price."

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House do non-concur in the amendments made by the Senate.

The motion was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

HOUSE BILL No. 223.

An Act to further amend the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 343), entitled "An act relating to the finances of the State government; providing for the settlement, assessment, collection and lien of taxes, bonus, and all other accounts due the Commonwealth, the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale, the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth, and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth, the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts, refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commonwealth, auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof, of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth and imposing penalties; affecting every department, board, commission, and officer of the State government, every political subdivision of the State, and certain officers of such subdivisions, every person, association, and corporation required to pay, assess, or collect taxes, or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes, or to pay license fees or other moneys to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth," and known as The Fiscal Code, by authorizing the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to petition for a resettlement of claims against the Commonwealth by the Auditor General and State Treasurer, and to petition for a review of settlements by the Board of Finance and Revenue and to appeal from the decisions of the Board of Finance and Revenue to the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County.

With the information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the amendments.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Section 4, page 8, line 13, by inserting after the word "appealing" the words "other than the Commonwealth".

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. BAKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, one of the most outstanding happenings of recent years is the tremendous kicking around that the solid old city of Pittsburgh is taking from some of its own citizens.

This criticism may be well meant and intended for progress.

But the general effect has been a lessening of confidence on the part of the public in the future of the city, in its own civic leadership, its institutions and its municipal government.

According to remarks we have heard, editorials we have read, speeches we have listened to, Pittsburgh is in a desperate condition and on the verge of financial and economic ruin.

Such a dark, gloomy picture has been painted that people turn away to look for something that appears brighter, painted up in gayer colors. Some neighboring city, perhaps, that people wouldn't leave Pittsburgh to live in under any circumstances, anyway, given the choice.

Can this pessimistic, negative view really be true of a city that is the heart of a great industrial district, the Workshop of the World? Then where is our pride, our energy, our patriotism?

Let us dip our brush into a pot of bright paint and put this on the canvas. Pittsburgh is not broke. Nor has it ever been in financial distress. At the time when many other cities were paying off in script Pittsburgh was meeting its obligations in good United States currency.

While the revenues and expenditures of other cities are steadily increasing, the revenues of Pittsburgh have decreased over a 12 year period.

Services have been maintained, nevertheless, and in many respects were extended, not only to residents within the city limits but also to those of adjoining communities.

The local tax rate is lower, perhaps, in the neighboring towns and boroughs, but they consist mainly of residential areas, whence journey daily many workers and business men to enjoy the privileges and prestige of a great city.

Those non-residents have no participation in the cost and maintenance of the numerous free institutions, art galleries, museums, zoological gardens and conservatories, concert and lecture halls, and other cultural auditoriums where admission is free. In many other cities children and adults pay admission, if they attend, to similar institutions, but in Pittsburgh the doors are open to rich and poor alike.

These free beneficial advantages are taken by the public too much for granted.

Aspirants for public office often declare (and a candidate for Republican nomination for the office of Mayor has recently stated) that if elected they will increase public service and reduce taxes.

That is an easy thing to say but how often is the thought developed in fact when the candidate is elected and takes office?

But in Pittsburgh this very thing has happened!

In the early nineteen thirties taxes in Pittsburgh were reduced to such an extent that revenue fell off some four to five million dollars annually.

Due to tremendous pressure from real estate groups assessed valuations were reduced year after year until they have resulted in a total reduction of over two hundred million dollars; 130 million dollars in land and 70 million dollars in buildings, within the past twelve years.

Bonded indebtedness has also been reduced during this period more than five million dollars.

That is an accomplishment that any city administration may justly point to with pride.

But in Pittsburgh we hear more about what other cities have done than we do about local achievements.

The real estate men declare that their business is poor.

If this is true it is not the fault of anyone but themselves.

If the business of the motion picture operators would decline their theatre managers would demand more attractive pictures for the public view. But few real estate owners or agents make much effort to attract buyers because the old and worn out buildings and dwellings they offer have no appeal.

Properties have been allowed to deteriorate out of all proportion to their income. There are many locations in the triangle where the rent income was six or seven times greater than the total annual tax.

If proper accounting routine had been applied on commercial property, depreciation reserves would have provided the funds for replacing or repairing buildings that have been allowed to go to seed, resulting in obsolete and blighted areas.

Poor management, through neglect and lack of attention to the properties themselves, has brought about the situation now mourned by the real estate fraternity.

The property owner has a high stake in a city. Therefore, he should combine with his fellow citizens in working out problems for the general betterment of the city, to help make it more attractive and liveable.

Pittsburgh is a great metropolis and will continue to flourish if the citizens will indicate their love and faith by helping to further its interests for the public good in every way possible.

Let us meet our obligations to our city and again see it rise and shine in newfound pride and glory.

ADDITIONAL SPONSORS TO RESOLUTION

Mr. HAUDENSHIELD asked and obtained unanimous consent to add two additional sponsors to a resolution.

CONDOLENCE RESOLUTIONS

Messrs. HAUDENSHIELD, COOPER, LAUGHNER and EWING offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 11, 1945.

The Honorable William Harry Prosser, a former Member of this House, died at the Mercy Hospital, Pittsburgh, on Saturday, March 17th.

He was born in Mercer County on November 17, 1876, and moved to Carnegie with his parents when only six years old.

He engaged in the general contracting and hauling business for fifty-five years, and was active in a number of organizations and societies of the Chartiers Valley.

In 1924 he was elected a Member of this House and served during the regular Session of 1925 and the special Session of 1926. Among the clubs and associations of which he was a member, were the 4-H Club, Washington County Fair Board, Lafayette Lodge F. & A. M., Cyrus Chapter R. A. 280, Chartiers Commandery 78, Syria Temple, Veterans of Foreign Wars, IOOF and Jr. O.U.A.M. At the time of his death he was serving as superintendent of the Sunday School of Gladden U. P. Church, and was an elder in that church.

He is survived by his wife, Ada Christy Prosser; one daughter, Mrs. Fred Bader; one brother, A. E. Prosser of Carnegie, and a sister, Mrs. O. A. Wardell; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House of Representatives hereby extends its most sincere sympathy to the widow of the Honorable William Harry Prosser on the great loss she has suffered and directs the Chief Clerk of the House to forward to her a copy of this resolution.

Messrs. REIDENBACH and O'NEILL offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 11, 1945.

Word has been received of the death of Mrs. Sara Trucker Goodman, wife of M. L. Goodman, co-publisher of The Scrantonian and The Scranton Tribune.

Mrs. Goodman, who was sixty-one years of age, had been in ill health for several months, but the news of her death came as a severe shock to her wide circle of friends throughout Scranton and Lackawanna Counties

Mrs. Goodman took a prominent part in the activities of the congregation of Temple Israel and was active in the affairs of numerous local charities; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives hereby extends its sympathy to the husband and family of the deceased and directs the chief clerk of the House to transmit a copy of this resolution to Mr. M. L. Goodman of Scranton, Pennsylvania.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. KURTZ. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Thursday, April 12, 1945, at 11 a. m.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 4:15 p. m.) the House adjourned.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1945. 136th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 29. HARRISBURG, PA., THURSDAY, APRIL 12, 1945. No. 44.

SENATE

THURSDAY, April 12, 1945.

The Senate met at 11:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern War Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

PRAYER

In the absence of the Chaplain prayer was offered by the Senator from Berks, Mr. RUTH.

Almighty God, to whom all hearts are open, all desires known, and from whom no secrets are hidden, we submit ourselves unto Thee today for guidance and direction. May our work be so done as to compensate those who place their trust in us and bring great honor and glory to Thy Holy Name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. HEYBURN and Mr. CARR, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

Mr. Wade asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. TYLER.

He also asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. SNOWDEN.

He also asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. CRIDER.

He also asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. EDMONDS.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cumberland.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Cumberland permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. I ask the gentleman from Cumberland to tell me why he asked leaves of absence for the gentlemen he mentioned awhile ago; for what purpose were the leaves of absence requested.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I should have limited my consent to be interrogated and since the question is of the nature it is I will ask permission of the Chair for a ten minute recess.

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will be at ease. Such requests are granted when requested.

(The Senate was at ease.)

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I desire to ask the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade, what reasons he might have had for asking for leaves of absence for the members that he mentioned.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I have gathered what information I could with regard to the reasons for the requests for leaves of absence and I find in most cases it is because of ill health. I submit to the Chair the question is improper, since the leaves of absence have already been granted.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, there has been a lot of commotion here this morning over my brief remarks, or my request. I had nothing in mind, I did not intend to poll the Senate or anything like that; I only wanted information because members on this side of the Senate are absent, as well as members on the other side.

Mr. President, I find that every Thursday we only have sufficient men here to carry on. We are all busy. If a man is sick and has a definite reason to ask to be absent, that is one thing, but I find practically the same crew of men are absent every Thursday and a few of us are left to carry on. If we are going to have four day sessions it is the duty of every man to be in this Chamber to carry on the work. I want to get back home and I am sure we all do. But I am not going to stay here every Thursday and look at the same faces, when others go home Wednesday night.

I had nothing in mind today, but next Thursday, Mr. President, I shall poll the house and I shall object to any leave of absence unless the man can definitely prove that he might be sick or because of pressing needs at home. If we are going to finish this session it is time that we get down to work, not a few of us, but all of us.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced presented communication in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which was read as follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg.

MESSAGE TO THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF PENNSYLVANIA BY MAJOR GENERAL EDWARD MARTIN, GOVERNOR OF PENNSYLVANIA, THURSDAY, APRIL 12, 1945

Members of the General Assembly:

Supplementing my Budget Message of January 2, 1945, in addition to the amounts recommended at that time, I am herewith making additional recommendations as follows:

More funds are necessary for construction at mental and penal institutions, and I am recommending that $4,250,000 be added for that purpose.

For medical examination of school children, I am recommending an additional amount of $1,500,000.

For matching funds contributed by local governments or by the Federal Government for the planning and building of airports, I am recommending an appropriation of $3,725,000.

For the establishment of a permanent Pennsylvania Maritime Academy, I am recommending an appropriation of $2,000,000.

For stream clearance, I am recommending an additional appropriation of $1,500,000.

Some smaller amounts recommended are $220,000 additional for the Department of Revenue; $75,000 additional for forest fire control, and $50,000 for mine rescue apparatus. I also recommend $110,000 for the payment of local vital statistics registrars, a cost now borne by the counties.

At this time I am making no additional recommendation for school subsidies. A bill increasing teachers' salaries and subsidies has been reported from the House Committee on Education, which goes far beyond our available funds. This bill, in addition to the $27,000,000 for cost of living adjustments, would require about $36,000,000 for the 1945-1947 biennium, and the cost would increase considerably above $36,000,000 for several bienniums thereafter.

In a few years the additional cost would be about $95,000,000 for a two-year period, assuming that the pupil attendance stays at the present level. If pupil attendance regains the prewar level the increased cost would be about $126,000,000.

Moreover, the above mentioned bill, while imposing this great additional cost on the Commonwealth would at the same time bring about greatly increased costs to local districts. This bill cannot be financed by anticipated revenue from existing measures.

It is, therefore, apparent that it will be necessary to accompany this proposed legislation by a new tax bill to supply the funds required to finance it.

The amounts I am now recommending above the original Budget total $13,430,000. The additional revenue to cover this amount would be derived from a revised estimate of receipts from State liquor store profits, the corporate net income tax, inheritance taxes, and institutional collections.

EDWARD MARTIN.

HOUSE MESSAGE

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE SENATE

Mr. WALKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I have a series of bills here that are the result of some studies in an attempt to streamline the state government and I would like to read in place and present to the Chair these bills at this time.

Mr. President, I do not look for these bills to be passed at this session because, frankly, I think they come under that type of legislation that has to be approached very gradually, yet I earnestly recommend a careful study by the members of the Senate of these bills during the interim, so that they will be fully advised as to the contents of these bills when they are re-introduced by some fortunate Senator in 1947.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND COMMITTED

Mr. WALKER read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 707, entitled:

An Act to amend the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 177), entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers thereof, including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools, or Teachers Colleges; abolishing, creating, reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments, boards, and commissions; defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers, and of the several administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers;; fixing the salaries of the Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, and certain other executive and administrative officers; providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers, and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments, boards, and commissions; and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments, boards and commissions shall be determined," by further reorganizing the administrative departments of the Commonwealth and their boards, commissions, and officers; creating the Department of Assistance and Welfare, the Department of Mental Health and the Department of Corrections; prescribing their functions, powers, and duties, and fixing the salaries of certain officers, abolishing the Department of Public Assistance, and the Department of Welfare, and transferring certain powers and duties to the Department of Health; placing the Pennsylvania Board of Parole as a departmental administrative board within the Department of Corrections and changing its membership, powers and duties.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 708, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the sixth day of August, one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 861) entitled "An act to create a uniform and exclusive system for the administration of parole in this Commonwealth; establishing the 'Pennsylvania Board of Parole'; conferring and defining its jurisdiction, duties, powers and functions, including the supervision of persons placed upon probation in certain designated cases; providing for the method of appointment of its members; regulating the appointment, removal and discharge of its officers, clerks and employes; dividing the Commonwealth into administrative districts for purposes of parole; fixing the salaries of members of the board and of certain other officers and employes thereof; making violations of certain provisions of this act misdemeanors; providing penalties therefor; and for other cognate purposes, and making an appropriation," by making the Pennsylvania Board of Parole a departmental administrative board within the Department of Corrections, transferring certain powers, duties and property of the board to the said departments, and further prescribing the powers and duties thereof.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 709, entitled:

An Act to amend clause (c) of section three of, and to add section six hundred eight to the act, approved the fifth day of August, one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WOODWARD asked and obtained unamious consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I have received my orders from authority to ask that this bill go over in its order—or disorder—I do not like to do it very much, and so I think I had better tell a little story connected with this bill.

As far as I can discover there is only one member of this Senate who is opposed to this bill, a Senator from Philadelphia, and he wants to be recorded as voting "no". He is not present, and so I am asked to put this bill over so that the Senator from Philadelphia can be present on Monday and be recorded as voting "no".

Therefore, reluctantly, against my wishes, and bowing to senatorial courtesy, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 132 go over in its order.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 132, on third reading, entitled:

HOUSE MESSAGE

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced informed the Senate that the House has concurred in resolution from the Senate as follows:

GOVERNOR URGED TO ISSUE PROCLAMATION SETTING MAY FIRST AS AMERICANISM DAY

In the Senate, March 14, 1945.

For many years this country and the world-at-large has observed May first as May Day, and at different places the observance has been marked by various kinds of celebrations.

At times these celebrations have resulted in demonstrations against organized government.

In 1932 the American Legion in Fayette County inaugurated a new kind of observance of the day by staging a parade of Americanism which has grown each year into an event of first importance.

The participation in the celebration of this day by patriotic societies, veterans' organizations, and other organizations, cannot help but make it throughout the Commonwealth a day to awaken new pride in our American institutions; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania urges the setting aside of May first as Americanism Day, and urges upon all patriotic veteran, fraternal and civic organizations the planning of its celebration in such a manner as will bring to the people of the Commonwealth a full realization of the benefits and privileges and blessings that come to them through the continuance of our American form of government; and be it further

Resolved, That the Governor of the Commonwealth is hereby urged to issue his proclamation further urging the people of the Commonwealth to join in a real American celebration of Americanism Day.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Monday, April 16, 1945, at 4:00 o'clock p. m., Eastern War Time.

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned tat 12:53 o'clock p. m., Eastern War Time until Monday, April 16, 1945, at 4:00 o'clock p. m., Eastern War Time.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

THURSDAY, April 12, 1945

The House met at 11 a. m.

The SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Lester C. Updegrove, offered the following prayer:

We thank Thee, our God, for a Master who is not indifferent to human need.

We thank Thee for His words and example which even today minister to the deepest needs of all mankind.

May His grace strengthen us that we may learn to do justly, love kindness, and walk in quiet fellowship with Thee. We ask all in the name of Him whose greatest joy was to do Thy holy will, even Christ Jesus our Lord. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of Wednesday, April 11, 1945.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of Wednesday, April 11, 1945, when, on motion of Mr. ELISH unanimously agreed to, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Westmoreland will state it.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the Chair what means the House has of ascertaining the names of the Members who are absent from the hall of the House without leave?

The SPEAKER. The Chair can furnish the gentleman with a list of all the Members who have asked for leave of absence and to whom leave of absence was granted by the House for today's session.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, is that all the information that the Chair can give? Is there any other means by which we can find out the absentees in this House who are away without leave?

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inform the gentleman that there is no other recourse than to call the roll of members.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I now yield to the Minority Floor Leader in order that he may ascertain the information that I have asked for.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that the House has granted its permission to several Committees to meet, it would be inopportune and unfair to call the roll in any way for the purpose of ascertaining who is here and who is not, and so until the Committees come back and we have reached the first reading calendar, we will delay our effort to ascertain those who are absent without leave.

SENATE MESSAGES

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 472

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 11, 1945.

To the Honorable the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 472. Printer's No. 422, entitled "An act prohibiting the sale of drugs, chemicals and preparations thereof without a label bearing certain information and prescribing a penalty."

This bill prohibits the sale, at retail, of any drug, chemical or preparation thereof without affixing to the bottle, box, vessel or package a label containing the name of the article and the name and place of business of the compounder or manufacturer. It is provided that such label shall have only one address upon it and shall not conflict with any laws regulating the manufacture, sale or distribution of poisons or narcotics.

The bill as originally drafted was intended to apply only to the field of pharmacy, but the effect of this bill would be to change the practice and method of distribution to those who supply spray materials, fertilizers, lime, and other compounds to the agricultural industries of Pennsylvania. Inasmuch as other laws of this Commonwealth provide for the misbranding of drugs there appears to be no necessity for this bill and there would be an unwarranted interference and disturbance of normal business practices.

For these reasons this bill is not approved.

EDWARD MARTIN.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the objections of His Excellency the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the bill together with the communication from the Governor be laid on the table.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMITTEE REPORT

Mr. COHEN from the Committee on State Government report as committed Senate Concurrent Resolution Serial No. 119.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

SENATE MESSAGE

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION SERIAL No. 119

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, March 14, 1945.

For many years this country and the world at large has observed May first as May Day, and at different places the observance has been marked by various kinds of celebrations.

At times these celebrations have resulted in demonstrations against organized government.

In 1932 the American Legion in Fayette County inaugurated a new kind of observance of the day by staging a parade of Americanism which has grown each year into an event of first importance.

The participation in the celebration of this day by patriotic societies, veterans' organizations, and other organizations cannot help but make it throughout the Commonwealth a day to awaken new pride in our American institutions; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concurs) That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania urges the setting aside of May first as Americanism Day, and urges upon all patriotic veteran, fraternal and civic organizations the planning of its celebration in such a manner as will bring to the people of the Commonwealth a full realization of the benefits and privileges and blessings that come to them through the continuance of our American form of government; and be it further

Resolved, That the Governor of the Commonwealth is hereby urged to issue his proclamation further urging the people of the Commonwealth to join in a real American celebration of Americanism Day.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, are we now under the order of leave of absence?

The SPEAKKER. We are not under the order of leave of absence. We are clearing the desk of communications. When we return to leave of absence, the Chair will inform the gentleman.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask permission of the Chair for leave of absence for two members—one on account of sickness and the other on account of a death in the family.

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection the Chair will return to leave of absence. The Chair hears no objection.

Mr. ANDREWS. I would like to ask for leave of absence for the gentleman from Fayette, Mr. Brothers, on account of illness and also for the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. Regan, on account of death in the family.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

By consent of the House leave of absence was granted as follows:

The Speaker for Mr. HOOPES because of illness.

Mr. Andrews for Mr. BROTHERS because of illness and Mr. REGAN because of death in the family.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

SUPPLEMENT TO BUDGET MESSAGE

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg.

MESSAGE TO THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF PENNSYLVANIA BY GOVERNOR OF PENNSYLVANIA, THURSDAY, APRIL 12, 1945

Members of the General Assembly:

Supplementing my Budget Message of January 2, 1945, in addition to the amounts recommended at that time, I am herewith making additional recommendations as follows:

More funds are necessary for construction at mental and penal institutions, and I am recommending that $4,250,000 be added for that purpose.

For medical examination of school children, I am recommending an additional amount of $1,500,000.

For matching funds contributed by local governments or by the Federal Government for the planning and building of airports, I am recommending an appropriation of $3,725,000.

For the establishment of a permanent Pennsylvania Maritime Academy, I am recommending an appropriation of $2,000,000.

For stream clearance, I am recommending an additional appropriation of $1,500,000.

Some smaller amounts recommended are $220,000 additional for the Department of Revenue; $75,000 additional for forest fire control, and $50,000 for mine rescue apparatus. I also recommend $110,000 for the payment of local vital statistics registrars, a cost now borne by the counties.

At this time I am making no additional recommendation for school subsidies. A bill increasing teachers' salaries and subsidies has been reported from the House Committee on Education, which goes far beyond our available funds. This bill, in addition to the $27,000,000 for cost of living adjustments, would require about $36,000,000 for the 1945-1947 biennium, and the cost would increase considerably above $36,000,000 for several bienniums thereafter.

In a few years the additional cost would be about $95,000,000 for a two-year period, assuming that the pupil attendance stays at the present level. If pupil attendance regains the prewar level the increased cost would be about $126,000,000.

Moreover, the above mentioned bill, while imposing this great additional cost on the Commonwealth would at the same time bring about greatly increased costs to local districts. This bill cannot be financed by anticipated revenue from existing measures.

It is, therefore, apparent that it will be necessary to accompany this proposed legislation by a new tax bill to supply the funds required to finance it.

The amounts I am now recommending above the original Budget total $13,430,000. The additional revenue to cover this amount would be derived from a revised estimate of receipts from State liquor store profits, the corporate net income tax, inheritance taxes, and institutional collections.

EDWARD MARTIN.

The SPEAKER. The message will be noted in full in the Journals of the House, and copies distributed to the Members.

INTERROGATION

Mr. TURNER asked and obtained unanimous consent to interrogate the Chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise first to ask the chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Wood, whether he would consent to interrogation, to be followed by a request for unanimous consent to make a brief statement pertaining to the matter that is now before the House, the message of the Governor.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Montgomery permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state it.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, the House finds itself in a rather peculiar situation, and I was wondering whether we could not have a wider microphone for the two gentlemen to use at the same time.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, when there is harmony among us there need be no wide space between gentlemen.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee whether there have been any hearings or any investigations or any attempt to arrive at the amount of revenue which we may expect during the coming biennium other than the information which has been given in the budget by the Governor.

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. There has not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. I would like to further ask the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee whether his Committee has made any effort to determine the amount —perhaps I should not use the word effort—whether they have determined the amount of the surplus which we will have at the end of this biennium by reason of the present tax system, and whether in the 1945 to 1947 biennium there will be, because of the reenactment of our emergency taxes, a surplus over and above the amount which the Governor has set up for the ordinary operation and for extraordinary operation of the State government in the next biennium.

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, if I comprehend the question, which is rather of a compound nature, I should say that the information possessed by the committee is the general information that is in the possession of all the Members of the House.

There has been some question as to the accuracy of the amounts suggested by the Governor's budget message but we have not undertaken to go into an exhaustive study to ascertain to the penny just how much the yield will be.

Mr. TURNER. I thank the gentleman.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TURNER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I listened with interest to the proposal of the Governor that the budget figures in certain respects be increased and that other items be added to the budget, and also his statement in reference to the amount of money that might be available for teachers and the amount of money that would be required under some other legislation. But Mr. Speaker, it seems to me that we are putting the cart before the horse.

What we ought to know is, first, how much money are we going to have in the surplus fund at the end of this biennium. The original figures were probably computed last September or October. That was necessary in order to prepare the budget and have it ready for the opening of this session, but we all know from experience that figures that might appear in September or October might have changed very radically, and we also know that if the war continues over any period of time into the next biennium, whether it be the European and the Japanese, or the Japanese war alone, that the purchases of the Federal Government and the war effort may add very materially, or if that is cut down, it may decrease very materially the income of many of our corporations and of much business in Pennsylvania. Therefore, it seems to me, and I do not say this by way of criticism, I merely say it by way of arriving at an orderly and an intelligent way of approaching a legislative process—that this House ought to determine for itself from information which it could secure what it thinks is going to be the amount of surplus at the end of this biennium.

Now, Mr. Speaker, that is not something unusual in this House. I can remember back as far as 1931, 1932, 1933 and other bienniums, when the Legislature went out to ascertain for itself the amount of money which we might have in our estimates, as compared with the administrative estimates. That is no reflection upon the administration, the administrative branch has bookkeeping, I don't know very much about it, I confess, but the matter can be worked out and arrived at in a number of different ways, you can arrive at a number of different things and conclusions depending upon the way you want to look at it.

The way I figure it, Mr. Speaker, is this, that we have sort of been confused between the appropriations for the ordinary operations of the government and the appropriations for a post war program. In that post war program are appropriations for institutions for what I might call capital expenditures by the Commonwealth. Therefore, there ought to be some segregation in a statement before the Legislature that would be comprehensive, not something that you would have to dig out of the budget, but a comprehensive statement before the Legislature, first as to the ordinary operating expenses of the government extended into the next biennium, as compared with the last three bienniums, which is the usual practice.

Then, Mr. Speaker, it seems to me, as I said, there ought to be in some sort of form that is readily understandable by the Members of the House, first, the operating expenses of the government extended into the next biennium as compared with the last biennium. I realize that that cannot always be a parallel because functions change and services which the state renders change.

Then it seems to me that we ought to know what are the new services which are contemplated in the next biennium and the amounts which they will require, and in that category I would also think perhaps the school question would come between the ordinary operation as we have experienced it, and what is now, since the studies made by the commission and by the evident public feelnig upon the part of Members that there must be increased appropriations, perhaps in both categories.

Then we are talking about the post war program, and that post war program has to my mind two phases. One part of that goes to capital expenditures which are mainly institutional expenditures, which to some extent are occasioned by the failure in the past to keep our plant at standard and by failure to expand our plant to meet growing requirements.

We now have the money, Mr. Speaker, and it is a good time to plan, but I sat in the Appropriations Committee from time to time. I have not heard all the Departments but I have failed to find a sufficient blueprinting of the institutional program. It is in somewhat a sketchy position, and during the next biennium unless blueprints are pretty well in shape at the present time, it is hardly likely that they are going to expend a great amount of money in institutional building because it takes a lot of time to prepare blueprints.

I understand that the penal program is just coming into the House or has just been introduced in the House, and while I have not had much of a chance either of reading it or making much inquiry about it, I am rather inclined to think that that program is somewhat tied into the question of expenditures you are going to make in the next biennium.

Are we going to appropriate a lot of money in a sort of blank check idea for certain purposes about which there are sugegstions but nothing in the way of a blueprint, or are we going to have some kind of a definite program? I realize that it cannot be placed in the ultimate blueprint stage, that you cannot get down to shop drawings. That cannot be expected, but at least we ought to have some breakdown of this post war program.

Therefore, we have, as I look at it, "A" projects which would be those things which should be done immediately; things which we all agree ought to be done. Then we might have "B" projects. "B" projects are the things that are needful and things we would like to do but which are not quite so urgent as those under "A" projects, but to be determined somewhat on what may happen in the next couple years. And we might have a 'C" program or things that are in the long range field of things we want to do.

Mr. Speaker, as I view it, we are supposed to have a surplus ranging somewhere from one hundred and ten to one hundred and sixty million dollars and I have heard some people say one hundred and seventy million.

We have a nice lot of items on the budget, which mentions four or five different objectives, and in the outside column is ten or twelve million dollars. I do not think it is intelligent, nor do I think it is sound legislation, and I think the Legislature is abrogating its prerogatives when it hands money in large chunks for possible programs which we all know we may not be able to accomplish in the next two years, and we are going to leave the determination of whether or not those post-war projects shall proceed in the hands of the Post-War Planning Commission, on which there isn't, if my understanding is correct—and I would like to be corrected if I am wrong—there isn't one member of the Legislature on that committee. Am I right?

Now Mr. Speaker are we going to turn over our powers and our duties? True, the Governor has to be consulted in the last analysis. His approval would have to be had because it would have to go through the budget office, but the Governor is human. All of us have our pet ideas, many of us become enthusiastic along certain lines, and more or less, and I should think, the determination that would weigh with the Governor would be the Post-War Planning Commission. He appointed them and he must have confidence in them and he is going to take their advice, but there isn't a member of the Legislature in that group and you are going to walk out of here at the end of the session without any real knowledge of how the moneys are going to be expended; you are going to hand them over in large chunks more or less for the determination by an agency that is neither a legislative agency nor to a great extent an administrative agency because it is mainly made up of people on the outside in civilian life.

I think it is time, Mr. Speaker, that this Legislature, instead of worrying about whether you are going to get your bills out of committee or whether we are going to be here on Thursday or whether we should work ten hours or twelve hours a day or whether we have a St. Patrick's Day celebration or some other kind, or whether we have resolutions to eulogize people or something else, that we get down to something that has real meat in it; let us get down to something that is vitally important, and I think it is important to this Legislature and to the people of Pennsylvania. May I again say I have no criticism in this of the administrative or executive branch of the government. It is not meant for that purpose. I believe that the executive branch of the government has a right to function in its own way, but I have always maintained that the legislative branch is set up under the Constitution as a co-ordinate branch of the government, it is not a subservient branch of the government, it is not meant to be just a committee to meet here and to take what is handed to it and pass on it, but it is a coordinate and a co-equal branch of the government. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I believe that the Legislature ought to perform its functions in an intellifent way first, in the best interests of the people, let the chips fall where the may. We want to cooperate, Mr. Speaker, yes, we want to take advantage of the technical skill of the administrative branch. We recognize that the administrative branch is doing a job, we recognize all that but we need not take it all the way and swallow it all the way, simply because it is handed down from the south corner of the capitol, think that it comes with all of the powers and blessings and enshrined with every bit of fine attitude and honesty and integrity and exactness. We ought to be men with brains of our own to approach our problems for ourselves, and I say to my good friend, the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, he might think that I should have talked to him privately, but this is a public matter and I think we ought to state it here frankly and openly. I think that the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee should get his committee together and he ought to determine it from this end. I think the administrative branch of the government should submit to the members of the Appropriations Committee a plan which will show, "What can we do in the next biennium?" "What are the things we can actually accomplish?" Then, "How much money are we going to have left over, and how are we going to protect that money?"

Mr. Speaker, I would like to see the Legislature have some hand in the determination of how the surplus is going to be spent instead of passing over the sort of blank check that you have here.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, first I would ask the Members of the House to remain in their seats at least until we reach the calendar.

The communication which we have received this morning from his Excellency The Governor indicates that his executive budget is apparently as elastic as his legislative program. The Chairman of the Ways and Means Committss knows or can ascertain, the Budget Office knows or can ascertain that at this moment it is safe to state that the receipts during this biennium are at least thirty million dollars more than the Governor's estimate and that is a very, very moderate estimate. I presume, being in the inner council, the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee has at least a suspicion that our program, so far as it has been received, is driving in the direction of an accumulation of a surplus during the next biennium in excess of two hundred million dollars. That figure includes the surplus now in hand and is a conservative figure. These are things to think about. At the beginning of this session the Executive Budget was the outside limit of the funds available for appropriation. Now, as an answer, as a counter-move, as a counter-attack upon House Bill 568, we have presented these figures, and it is well that we recognize what the strategy is.

Since the beginning of the year it has been recognized in the office of the executive that there is at least twenty million dollars available for increased state subsidies, but at the beginning of the session it was roundly asserted that there was not a single dollar over and above the executive budget available for state subsidies. It is very well, Members of the House, that we recognize the realities of the situation that we face, and Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen. I hope the Chair will indulge him, and the House will indulge him as they have indulged me.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I can well understand the concern of the gentleman from Delaware concerning his suspicion that our entire post war planning for Pennsylvania is at the best a very loose collection of paper, indicating some directions in which we can go.

I would say to the gentleman that I have in my files the result of several months of very careful examination and investigation of the activities of the Postwar Planning Commission, and if he only knew the half of what I know the gentleman would have been more emphatic in his statement than we as Members on the Legislature ought to do something about the Postwar Planning Commission. I do not intend to attack that Commission now, but I think that if we take the words of the gentleman from Delaware and think of them very carefully and seriously, that we ought here now pulbically say to the Postwar Planning Commission, and if they won't listen, that we should say to the Governor that he should tell them they ought to trot out their plan and trot out their blue prints for us to examine, because up to this point all we have had is a snatch here and snatch there. They put a bill out on the calendar and snatch it back in again. There are other proposals which have come up, not with their blessings, but they merely come out to see what we think about them. I think we ought to demand today, assuming that they have been diligently working, that between today, Thursday's session and say next Monday or Tuesday we ought to demand that they place before the Members of this House a statement telling the taxpayers what they intend doing, and how they are going to do it. I have always been somewhat, well—I sort of like to find out what makes this government go. If you examine it carefully you have a whole collection of mysterious agencies that nobody knows about who continually in an advisory capacity to our state government form our policy. Maybe a great deal of good or maybe a great deal of bad has come from the Pennsylvania Economy League, and there are other outside agencies who are always offering advice, not to us but to those who make the wheels go around, and eventually we are called upon without too much knowledge of who or what is behind a given matter, to do a lot of things that we ought to take more time in doing. It seems to me that the most mysterious of these mysterious agencies is the Postwar Planning Commission. In the bill which was passed last session we offered amendments at that time to prevent the make up of the Commission as it was, to ask for minority representation, but we were turned down flatly and since we on this side have no representation we have taken it upon ourselves to find out anyway. I don't know whether I can pat myself on the shoulder or not, but I am ready to say now that I have more information on the Postwar Planning Commission than any members of the commission has, because they have been doing their work piecemeal. They don't let the left hand know what the right hand is doing, or whether the end man knows what the interlocutor is doing because it is never discussed between the end man and the interlocutor.

Mr. Speaker, I want to say in regard to the Postwar Planning Commission, we on this side want to know next week, and if we don't know we are going to unfold the whole sorry mess.

The Governor has taken the initiative again. He said to us in the early part of the session that he had no "must" bills and he also said to us that it was up to us as an independent branch of the government to determine what we want to do, but he broke the precedent when he came out about a week ago with a so called labor program and a workmens compensation program saying to us that now was the time to take executive action.

He comes to us today in another direction and if we want to examine it in passing, not in too much great detail I can understand why the Governor is trying to tell us that he now finds some additional funds in his estimates with which he may provide for mental and penal institutions, to the extent of four and one quarter million dollars. But the Postwar Planning Commission has not told the Governor yet what they have in their postwar plans, they haven't told him that the one hundred and ten million dollars or one hundred and sixty million dollars that they have left now in the bank without any more receipts is already provided for, so why not spend the money that you already have in the bank and not rob the school teachers of the money provided under House Bill 568. The same thing goes for the stream pollution proposition. There is a program which the Postwar Planning Commission has for the cleaning up of our streams which they say will amount to possibly eleven million dollars. The Commission will have one hundred and sixty million dollars to work on, so why don't they dig into that money and recommend that something be done there? Why don't they take some of this long range eleven million dollars and put it to immediate use? Whether they did not tell the Governor or the Governor has not asked them, nobody knows, but I think I know a little about it because I have asked, I have figured it out and I agree with the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, that it was a mistake not for us to have representation on that commission, that it would be a good thing if we did, and that we ought to know next week, because, Mr. Speaker, before the week is out I am afraid that the Governor is going to exercise his leadership again. I am afraid that he is going to tell us that it is about time to adjourn without day. I am anticipating that he might suggest to us that we ought to adjourn in about two or three weeks. For my money, we have accomplished so little up to now that if we were to adjourn today the Commonwealth would not be any worse off. We could get our appropriations bills and our tax bills through and we would be through, if the Governor wants us to sit longer, I am ready to do so, but if he is going to tell us to close up shop in two or three weeks he ought to get the most important agency in Pennsylvania, the Postwar Planning Commission by their collective necks and shake them hard and let them tell us what they intend to do. Let them stand the examination and scrutiny of this House and the taxpayers of Pennsylvania as to what they propose to do because, if you do not know it, they contemplate the expenditure of over one billion dollars over the next ten years and I think if we are going to give them the blueprint legislatively, we ought to know what they are going to do.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I infer from what has been said by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen, the Minority Floor Leader and my friend and neighbor from Delaware, that it is perhaps now time for somebody to offer a defense.

I cannot see from the facts as I understand them, where it is necessary for me to stand up here to defend the Governor because I do not think he has committed any offense. On the other hand, if it is time for the Chairman of Ways and Means Committee to defend himself I would like to say a few words on my own behalf. I just learned with interest and pleasure that I have a much more important position than I imagined I had, and I feel slighted that I have been denied this information until the waning hours of this session.

As I understand the situation, Mr. Speaker, it is the function of the Chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee to preside over the committee which has as its business to determine whether or not certain bills should be presented on the floor of the House, to determine whether or not they are proper and sensible revenue raising measures. Now, Mr. Speaker, we had a protracted debate here if I recall correctly, in the early weeks of the session on House Bills 39, 64, 80 and 83. I did not hear any of these debates at that time. Why did not somebody bring some of these questions out when we were deliberating over those bills?

The Appropriations Committee is going to spend this money, however much it may be. Now the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, suggested that the Legislature avail itself of accurate information as to how much we will have on hand at the end of this biennium and what it is going to be expended for. I think he referred to class A, B and C projects. Well, Mr. Speaker, isn't it the experience of the Members of the House over a period of years that we rely upon the administrative experts to advise us as to what the yeld will be on these tax measures from one session to another, as to how much the estimated surplus will be at the end of the succeeding biennium? It seems to me that if the Members of the House are not satisfied with the information that is available to them then somebody ought to get up and introduce a resolution and submit it to the House for consideration to make a change, so that we can get our own group of experts. I know when I am seeking data of importance connected with the operation of the government of the Commonwealth I do what I imagine other Members of the House do, generally speaking, I go to the source that has charge and has had charge thru the years of obtaining, preserving and recording that information.

On the other hand the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen complains about the Postwar Planning Commission. Now, it seems to me, with all due respect to him that if we follow the line of his argument and adopt what he at least seems to imply by suggestion, that we recommend to the Governor that he fire his present Postwar Planning Commission and move in a band of stooges. I don't know anything about these men except what I have heard from other people and from what I have read in the papers. The gentleman from Delaware and the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen, are both familiar with the fact that it is a time honored practice, when the character of individuals is in question that you always bring witnesses in to testify as to what other people think about them. I think Mr. Speaker there is minority representation, if I have not misread the roster and have not misidentified the former Lieutenant Governor and others as to their political affiliations. I think it is a bit late to stand up at this time and criticize those fine men who bear excellent reputations, each one of whom, so far as I am concerned, I am perfectly satisfied are outstanding men in their field. We have geographic location and geographic representation that I think is about as perfect as you can get it, and you have representatives of almost every important field of activity in the everyday life of the citizens of this Commonwealth.

Mr. Speaker, I say in conclusion, if it has come to a point now that we do not want to adjourn, that we want a longer session, it is O. K. with me, I am in no hurry.

I listened to the debate here yesterday as to who ought to be in their seats, who had been excused and who ought to be excused and so forth. That is no concern of mine, I am just interested in doing what I think the people of the Third District want me to do, because after all that is the crowd whom I have to answer to. If somebody else wants to come here and stay four days that is O. K. with me. If I want to stay four days I think it is more or less my own business, as long as it does not interfere with the orderly operation of the business of this House.

So, Mr. Speaker, if the Governor has made an indirect attack on salaries for teachers which I do not infer from the language that he used in this mimeographed sheet that has been placed on our desks, when he said, "At this time I am making no additional recommendation for school subsidies." Does that close the door? I do not think it does. The Governor started out by stating that he proposed to be Governor and he invited us to be Members of the House of Representatives, and I cannot infer from anything that he has done, that he has tried to disrupt the power of the Members of this House.

Now, Mr. Speaker, if there is something that we should do, I am waiting, like the gentleman from Missouri, to be cited, and if it looks good to me, I will go along.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, in view of the lateness of the hour and the fact that there are so many Members in their seats, I will not at this time endeavor to ascrtain the names of the Members who are absent without leave, but I desire to assure the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee that in the future he will not be able to wash his hands and say that he is not responsible for attendence in this House, because I imagine that he will be required to vote as to whether those who ask for leaves be granted leaves and will therefore be placed in the position where he will be required to function and perform his proper duties, as far as the attendance in this House is concerned.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. MORAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, two weeks ago I threatened to poll this House because of absenteeism, and my intention was to do just that today. However, Mr. Andrews is carrying the ball today, so I think he said enough that the people understand what is going to happen in the future if we have the Members of this House away without being granted leave by this House. With that, Mr. Speaker, I am not going to poll this House today, but the same thing will happen next week if we have absenteeism.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 806, Printer's No. 493,

was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 62, as follows:

An Act to further amend sections four and ten of the act approved the twenty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 149) entitled "An Act imposing a State tax payable by those herein defined as distributors on liquid fuels used or sold and delivered within the Commonwealth which are ordinarily practically and commecially usable in internal combustion engines for the generation of power providing for the collection and lien of the tax and the distribution and use of the proceeds thereof requiring such distributors to secure permits to file corporate surety bonds and reports and to retain certain records imposing duties on retail dealers common carriers county commissioners and such distributors providing for rewards imposing certain costs on counties conferring powers and imposing duties on certain State officers and departments providing for refunds imposing penalties and making an appropriation" as last amended by imposing an additional tax on liquid fuels providing for the payment thereof into the Motor License Fund and providing for the distribution to certain political subdivisions of this Commonwealth with certain conditions

Section 1 Section four and section ten of the act approved the twenty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 149) entitled "An act imposing a State tax payable by those herein defined as distributors on liquid fuels used or sold and delivered within the Commonwealth which are ordinarily practically and commercially usuable in internal combustion engines for the generation of power providing for the collection and lien of the tax and the distribution and use of the proceeds thereof requiring such distributors to secure permits to file corporate surety bonds and reports and to retain certain records imposing duties on retail dealers common carriers county commissioners and such distributors providing for rewards imposing certain costs on counties conferring powers and imposing duties on certain State officers and departments providing for refunds imposing penalties and making an appropriation" by amending section four as last amended by the act approved the twenty-sixth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 616) and section ten as last amended by the act approved the twenty-first day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 634) to read as follows

Section 4 Imposition of Tax Exemptions and Deductions A permanent State tax of three cents a gallon or fractional part thereof is hereby imposed and assessed upon all liquid fuels used or sold and delivered by distributors within this Commonwealth excepting liquid fuels delivered to the United States Government on presentation of a duly authorized United States Government exemption certificate or other evidence satisfactory to the department and such liquid fuels used or sold and delivered as are not within the taxing power of this Commonwealth under the Commerce Clause of the Constitution of the United States provided that the tax herein imposed and assessed shall be collected by and paid to the Commonwealth but once in respect to any liquid fuels

In addition to such tax an additional [emergency] State tax of one cent a gallon or fractional part thereof is hereby imposed and assessed upon all liquid fuels used or sold and delivered by distributors within this Commonwealth for the period [for the period] beginning on the day this act becomes effective June first nineteen hundred forty-five [and ending on the thirty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred and forty-five] and ending on the thirty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred and forty-seven

Distributors shall be liable to the Commonwealth for the collection and payment of the tax imposed by this act The tax imposed by this act shall be collected by the distributor at the time the liquid fuels are used or sold and delivered by the distributor and shall be borne by the consumer

The tax shall be payable upon liquid fuels sold and delivered to or used by the Commonwealth and every political subdivision thereof

The department shall allow such handling and storage losses of liquid as are substantiated to its satisfaction

Section 10 Disposition and Use of Tax (a) One-half cent per gallon of the permanent tax collected under the provisions of this act shall be paid into the Liquid Fuels Tax Fund of the State Treasury and such moneys paid into said fund are hereby specifically appropriated for the purposes hereinafter set forth

The moneys so paid into the Liquid Fuels Tax Fund except those that are refunded as hereinafter provided shall be paid to the respective counties of this Commonwealth on the first day of June and December of each year in the ratio that the average return made during the three (3) preceding years to each county bears to the average amount returned to all counties for the three preceding years Provided That the distribution of tax to the counties from the Liquid Fuels Tax Fund that is payable the first day of August one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one shall be made under the provisions of the acts of Assembly repealed by this act

All moneys received by the counties hereunder shall be used only for the purpose of construction reconstruction maintenance and repair of roads highways and bridges including the payment of property damage now due or hereafter to become due occasioned by or the relocation or construction of highways and bridges and for the payment of interest and sinking fund charges on bonds issued or used for highways and bridge purposes or on so much of any bonds as have been used for such purposes and all such payments heretofore made are hereby validated The county commissioners of each county shall make to the department on or before the first day of May and November of each year on forms prescribed prepared and furnished by the department a report showing the receipts and expenditures of such moneys received during the preceding six months by the county from the Commonwealth under the provisions of this section Such reports shall be transmitted to the Department of the Auditor General for audit Upon the failure of the county commissioners to file any such report the department shall withhold further payments to the county out of the Liquid Fuels Tax Fund until the delinquent report is filed

(b) The remaining two and one-half cents per gallon of the permanent tax collected under the provisions of this act all penalties and interests and all interest earned on deposits of the Liquid Fuels Tax Fund shall be paid into the Motor License Fund and are hereby specifically appropriated for the same purposes for which moneys in the Motor License Fund are appropriated by law

(c) The entire amount of the additional [emergency] tax of one cent per gallon or fractional part thereof collected under the provisions of this act [before June first one thousand nine hundred thirty-six] shall be paid into the Motor License Fund and from such fund the following specific appropriations are hereby made for the purposes hereinafter set forth One cent per gallon of the tax collected under the provisions of this act shall be paid into the Motor License Fun of the State Treasury and such moneys paid into said fund are hereby specifically appropriated to the cities boroughs towns and townships of the Commonwealth for the purpose hereinafter set forth

Fifty per cent of the money shall be allocated on the basis of population and the other fifty per cent shall be allocated on the basis of road and street mileage Each city borough town and township shall receive its proportionate share of the moneys allocated on a population basis as their population bears to the total population of all the political subdivisions of the Commonwealth and each city borough town and township will receive an allocation based upon the number of miles of local roads and streets under its jurisdiction in relation to the total number of miles of roads and streets in all of the cities boroughs towns and townships of the Commonwealth

The calculation of mileages shall be determined annually by the Department of Highways of the Commonwealth from reports submitted annually by the cities boroughs towns and townships and the populations shall be those shown in the latest United States Decennial Census The terms "roads and streets" is defined to mean public roads and streets used for travel by horse drawn and motor vehicles and to exclude ways courts and alleys

Section 1 Clause (a) of section five hundred three of the act approved the ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 343) enttiled "An act relating to the finances of the State government providing for the settlement assessment collection and lien of taxes bonus and all other accounts due the Commonwealth the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commonwealth auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth and imposing penalties affecting every department board commission and officer of the State government every political subdivision of the State and certain officers of such subdivisions every person association and corporation required to pay assess or collect taxes or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes or to pay license fees for other moneys to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth" as last amended by the act approved the seventh day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 229) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 503 Refunds of State Taxes License Fees Et Cetera The Board of Finance and Revenue shall have the power and its duty shall be

(a) To hear and determine any petition for the refund of taxes license fees penalties fines bonus or other moneys paid to the Commonwealth and to which the Commonwealth is not rightfully or equitably entitled and upon the allowance of any such petition to refund such taxes license fees penalties fines bonus or other moneys out of any appropriation or appropriations made for the purpose or to credit the account of the person association corporation body politic or public officer entitled to the refund The jurisdiction of the Board of Finance and Revenue to hear and determine a petition for refund as aforesaid shall not be affected or limited by the fact that proceedings under sections 1102 1103 or 1104 of this act involving the same tax or bonus and period for which a refund is sought are pending or have been closed provided such proceedings relate to other objections than those raised in the petition for refund All such petitions must be filed with the board within two years of the payment of which refund is requested or within two years of the settlement in the case of taxes or bonus whichever period last expires except

(1) Where a petition for refund filed by a domestic or foreign corporation involves the valuation of its capital stock or in case of a foreign corporation the valuation of its tangible property for bonus purposes or where a petition for refund filed by a bank title insurance or trust company involves the valuation of its shares of stock such petition must be filed with the board within one year of the payment of which refund is requested or within one year of the settlement of such taxes or bonus whichever period last expires

(2) When the estate upon which any transfer inheritance tax has been paid shall have consisted in whole or in part of a partnership or other interest of uncertain value or shall have been involved in litigation by reason whereof there shall have been an overvaluation of that portion of the estate on which the tax has been assessed and paid which overvaluation could not have been ascertained within said period of two years In such case the application for repayment shall be made to the Board of Finance and Revenue within one year from the termination of such litigation or ascertainment of such overvaluation

(3) When a court of record has adjudged a person to be legally dead and thereafter in the settlement of his or her estate a transfer inheritance tax shall have been paid on such estate and after such payment has been made such person shall reappear and the court shall rescind its order and adjudication In such case the petition to the board shall be filed within six months after the court shall have rescinded its order and adjudication

(4) When any tax or other money has been paid to the Commonwealth under a provision of an act of Assembly subsequently held by final judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction to be unconstitutional or under an interpretation of such provision subsequently held by such court to be erroneous In such case the pettiion to the board shall be filed within five years of the payment of which a refund is requested or within five years of the settlement of such taxes bonus or other moneys due the Commonwealth whichever period last expires But the limitation of five years herein prescribed shall not be deemed to apply in the case of applications for refunds of taxes paid on liquid fuels by political subdivisions prior to the effective date of this amendment where by court decision it has been held that the collection of such tax was erroneous and without authority of law if application for such refunds shall be made within two years after the effective date of this amendment The aforesaid limitation of five years shall likewise not be deemed to apply in the case of applications for refunds of taxes paid on certain alcohol usable for beverage purposes under the provisions of the act approved the twenty-second day of November one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 5 (1933-34) entitled "An act imposing a State floor tax on alcohol usable for beverage purposes and certain alcoholic liquors in the Commonwealth between the date this act becomes effective and the date the Twenty-first Amendment to the Constitution of the United States is ratified describing the method and manner of collection of such tax conferring powers and imposing duties on certain State officers and departments and certain individuals firms and corporations and imposing penalties" where by court decision it has been held that the imposition or collection of such tax was erroneous and without authority of law if application for such refunds shall be made within two years after the effective date of this amendment

Section 2 Section seven hundred ten of the said act as amended by the act approved the second day of February one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 3) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 710 Gross Receipts Tax Returns and Payment of Tax Every corporation or association and every individual liable by law to pay to the Commonwealth a tax upon the gross receipts derived from any transportation traffic or other business done wholly within this Commonwealth shall transmit to the Department of Revenue on or before the first [days] day of February [and August] of each year a statement of the amount of such corporation's association's or individual's gross receipts from all sources and gross receipts from business done wholly within the State during the period of [six] twelve months immediately preceding the first [days] day of January [and July] of each year with such other relevant information as the Department of Revenue may require Every such corporation association and individual at the time of making every report required by this section shall compute and pay to the department the tax due the Commonwealth upon its gross receipts for the period for which such report is made

Section 3 Section eleven hundred three of the said act as last amended by the act approved the seventh day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 229) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 1103 Petition to Board of Finance and Revenue for Review Within sixty days after the date of mailing of notice by the Department of Revenue or of the Auditor General of the act taken on any petition for a resettlement filed with it the party with whom the settlement was made may by petition request the Board of Finance and Revenue to review such action

Every petition for review filed hereunder either shall state specifically therein the reasons upon which the petitioner relies or shall incorporate by reference the petition for resettlement in which such reasons shall have been stated The petition shall be supported by affidavit that it is not made for the purpose of delay and that the facts therein set forth are true If the petitioner be a corporation joint-stock association or limited partnership the affidavit must be made by one of the principal officers thereof A petition for review may be amended by the petitioner at any time prior to the hearing thereon as hereinafter provided

[The Board of Finance and Revenue shall dispose of such petitions filed with it within ninety (90) days after they have been received] The Board of Finance and Revenue shall list and hear such petitions within three months after they have been received and shall act finally in disposition of such petitions within six months after they have been received and in the event of the failure of the Board of Finance and Revenue to dispose of any such petition within [ninety (90) days] six months the action taken upon the petition for resettlement shall be deemed sustained

The Board of Finance and Revenue may sustain the action taken on the petition for resettlement or it may resettle the account upon such basis as it shall deem according to law and equity

Notice of the action of the Board of Finance and Revenue shall be given by mail or otherwise to all departments involved and to the petitioner

Section 4 Section eleven hundred four of the said act as amended by the act approved the seventh day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 229) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 1104 Appeal to Courts Any person association corporation public officer or other debtor aggrieved by the decision of the Board of Finance and Revenue or by the board's failure to act upon his or its petition for review within [ninety (90) days] six months may within sixty (60) days appeal to the court of common pleas of Dauphin County from the decision of the Board of Finance and Revenue or from the decision of the Department of Revenue or of the Department of the Auditor General as the case may be The said sixty (60) day period shall begin to run (a) From the end of the [ninety (90) day] six months period where the board fails to act or (b) from the date of mailing of notice of the refusal of the petition for review or (c) from the date of mailing by the Department of Revenue of the certification of a resettlement where the board has made a resettlement Such appeal shall be in such form as shall be prescribed by the rules of the court of common pleas of Dauphin County All such appeals shall be lodged with the prothonotary of the court of common pleas of Dauphin County and a conformed copy thereof indicating the date on which it was filed shall be forwarded immediately to the Department of Justice

Every such appeal shall be accompanied with a specification of objections to the settlement resettlement or other decision as the case may be and the party appealing shall enter sufficient security before one of the judges of the court of common pleas of Dauphin County within sixty (60) days next after the filing of the appeal with the clerk to prosecute the appeal with effect to pay all costs and charges which the court shall award and any sum of money which shall appear by the judgment of the court to be done by such party to the Commonwealth

The party appealing shall file with every such appeal and [an affidavit containing] the specification of objections an affidavit [and] stating that the appeal is not taken for delay but because appellant believes injustice has been done by the settlement or resettlement or other decision appealed from and that the facts set forth therein are true to the best of affiant's knowledge and belief If a corporation limited partnership or joint-stock association is the party appellant such affidavit shall be taken by one of its chief officers

Appeals taken hereunder shall be hearings de novo [but no facts shall be admitted in evidence and] no questions shall be raised by the appellant that were not brought to the attention of the department making the settlemen or in the application for resettlement or petition for review prior to the appeal and set forth in the specification of objections contained in the affidavit accompanying the appeal unless the court shall be satisfied that the appellant was unable by the exercise of reasonable diligence to have [laid such evidence] raised such questions before the department making the settlement and the Board of Finance and Revenue and no questions shall be raised which are not included in the specification of objections filed as hereinbefore provided

The Commonwealth may raise any question on appeal although no appeal has been filed by it and may introduce any facts in support of its settlement or in correction thereof provided notice of thirty (30) days is given the appellant of the intention of raising such new questions or presenting new facts

From the judgment of the court of common pleas of Dauphin County an appeal may be taken by either party as in other cases

Section 5 Section eleven hundred five of the said act as last amended by the act approved the second day of February one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 3) is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1105 Authorization of Resettlement Upon Petition of the Department which made the Settlement Within two years after the date of any settlement or resettlement made subsequent to June first one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine except such as have been appealed from [the department which made the settlement may by petition request the Board of Finance and Revenue to authorize a resettlement thereof and the Board of Finance and Revenue may grant the prayer of such petition and permit a resettlement to be made] the Department of Revenue with the approval of the Department of the Auditor General may make a resettlement

[With respect to any settlement or resettlement made prior to June first one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine the department which made it or the department which has succeeded to its functions may at any time prior to June first one thousand nine hundred and thirty-two request permission of the Board of Finance and Revenue under like circumstances to make a resettlement and the board may in its discretion grant such permission]

Whenever a resettlement shall have been [authorized] made hereunder [the department which made the settlement] the Department of Revenue shall resettle the account according to law and shall credit or charge as the case may be the amount resulting from such resettlement upon the current accounts of the party with whom or with which it is made

In the case of settlements made by the Department of Revenue the resettlement shall be subject to approval by the Department of the Auditor General as in the case of original settlements and in case of the failure of the two departments to agree the resettle shall be submitted to the Board of Finance and Revenue as in the case of original settlements

In the case of settlements made jointly by the Department of the Auditor General and by the Treasury Department either of said departments may request authority from the Board of Finance and Revenue to make a resettlement hereunder and if such authority be granted the resettlement shall be made by joint action of said departments as in the case of original settlements

If a resettlement shall not be made or authorized hereunder within the time above prescribed an account upon which a final discharge has been granted shall not be opened but shall be quieted and finally closed

Section 6 Section eleven hundred eight of the said act as last amended by the act approved the second day of February one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 3) is hereby further amended to read as follows
